Never-Never Land Pirates Are Fun In Child's Drama

The magic of one of the all-time children's favorites comes to the TV screen in color Thursday night, Dec. 8, as Mary Martin stars in Sir James Barrie's Peter Pan.

Presented on Channel 4 at 7:30 p.m., the show will co-star Cyril Ritchard, and will be narrated by Lynn Fontanne. This is a brand-new show and will feature most of the original cast from the Broadway show, and the previous NBC telecast.

One of the first popular stories on the theme of a boy and a pirate gang Sir James Barrie's play is skillfully blended into a background of the desire of children to avoid growing up.

Margalo Gillmore, Sondra Lee, Maureen Bailey, and Norman Shelley are other important members of the cast.

For adults who feel that Tony Randall is one of the leading young personalities in the light acting field, "Strictly Solo" on the General Electric Theatre and Channel 10, Sunday, Dec. 11, at 9 p.m., should be worth seeing.

Randall stars with Sally Forrest in a comedy concerning a well-bred and resoundingly "square" Park Avenue yacht salesman who finds love but loses his livelihood on a path that leads into a realm of beatniks and students of modern dance.

A children's program of note, and one that has been a perennial favorite, is the Wizard of Oz. The Wizard will be working his magic again at 6 p.m. on Channel 10, Sunday, Dec. 11.

Richard Boone and his seven year old son will be co-hosts of the film classic which stars Judy Garland, the late Frank Morgan, Ray Bolger, Bert Lahr, Jack Haley and Billie Burke.

Local basketball fans who couldn't get tickets to the OSU home basketball games will have their second chance this season to see the defending National Champions in action, as their game with Army will be covered by Channel 4's cameras, Saturday, Dec. 10 at 8:30 p.m.

Whitehall-Yearling RAM-blings

By Sue Barnhill

Holiday Program Aired On School 'PA' System

Whitehall had another first last month. The Thanksgiving program was given over the public address system. The program, given by Student Council, was narrated by President Bill Gornall. Invocation was given by Ingo Williams.

With the end of the Thanksgiving holiday, Whitehall students reached the end of the second six weeks grading period. On Nov. 30, students left school with feelings of trepidation or joy, according to the contents of the brown envelopes which they carried with them.

Whitehall opened its home basketball season Nov. 25 by defeating Lancaster in a "sudden-death" overtime and a final score of 61-59. The winning points were made by Kenny Merriman, who racked up 21 in all.

Students in the eighth, ninth, tenth, and eleventh grades received their class pictures during the past week.

All students interested in Kinder Key caroling should contact Bob Leonard. The caroling, sponsored by Student Council, will be held Dec. 13 and 14.

On Dec. 10 Whitehall will play host to a cheerleading clinic. All varsity and reserve cheerleaders, and their advisers, representing 15 Central Ohio schools, will attend. Margaret Love of Bexley will give a talk. In four discussion groups each school will be represented by at least one person.

Lionel Representative

William F. Gaston, of the Lionel Corporation, will be at the Boston Store's Town and Country Shopping Center Store Saturday, Dec. 10 from 3 to 5 p.m.

Gaston will be on hand to discuss any train layout problems and also will suggest additions and revisions of your present train layouts.

Want something? You'll find it advertised in the Want Ads.

NEW DeMOLAY CHAPTER

An organizational meeting for a new DeMolay chapter, sponsored by Ralph R. Rickly, Reynoldsburg, and the Whitehall Masonic Lodges will be held at 2 p. m. Saturday, Dec. 10 at the Main and Federal Savings and Loan Co., 891 S. James-rd.

Qualified boys, ages 14 to 21 who are interested in DeMolay work are welcome to attend. For further information call Jack French, AM 7-3063 or Max Graf BE 1-7124.

Eastmoor High School's Warriors' Spear-It

By Donna Swaney

Eastmoor Student Council Schedules Mistletoe Ball

In answer to the many questions of Eastmoor students, the Warrior Spear-It column will be published only every two weeks as requested by the Hartley Press instead of every week.

The annual Mistletoe Ball, sponsored by the Student Council, will be held on Dec. 10 from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. The dance is semi-formal, and the price of tickets is $1.50 if bought in advance, and $1.75 at the door. Entertainment will be furnished by a local group called the Classmen.

"Broadway USA" was the title of the pop concert presented Sunday, Dec. 4, by the Eastmoor music department. There were selections from "Music Man," "The King and I," "Guys and Dolls," "Flower Drum Song," and "Carousel."

Varsity and reserve football teams and cheerleaders will be honored tonight at the 1960 Football Banquet being held at Capital University. The special event of the evening will be the election of next year's co-captains.

Letters will also be awarded. Eastmoor will be playing host to South tomorrow night for Eastmoor's second basketball game of the season. Game time is 6:30 p.m. for the reserves, with the varsity contest beginning at 8 p.m.

Eastmoor was defeated last week at Central by he narrow margin of 67-65.

The FTA members are busy planning their annual Christmas party to be given in an orphanage or hospital. The party will be held during the week of Dec. 10.

The program will consist of a talent show, games, stories, and refreshments. Each of the children or patients will receive a Christmas present from the FTA members. Chairmen for this program are Bonnie Venook and Irene Zelko.

A group of girls from the Ohio State University YWCA presented a skit at Eastmoor's Y-Teen meeting on Wednesday. The skit was to promote a conference being held at OSU in February. All Y-Teens are welcome to go to the conference.

Chimes and bells have been added to Eastmoor's band. These instruments were bought with the money received from the annual candy sale sponsored by the band members.

Eastmoor students enjoyed their annual Thanksgiving dinner on Tuesday, Nov. 22, the student body consumed 184½ pounds of turkey, 250 pounds of potatoes, 48 large cans of green beans, 25 gallons of gravy, 81 dozen rolls, 42 pies, 3 cakes, and 85 loaves of bread. A total of 985 people were served. A vote of thanks is offered to Mrs. Jay and her staff for a job well done!

Edward Dolan of St. Louis, Mo., told police that a man forced him into his car, robbed him of six dollars, then asked Dolan where he lived and drove him home.

Christmas Shopping In High Gear At Town And Country

The Christmas shopping season at Town and Country, 3600-4000 E. Broad-st, was inaugurated the Saturday after Thanksgiving, when hundreds of happy youngsters watched Santa's Helicopter zoom out of the North and Santa alight at Town and Country.

After being paraded around the Center, Santa went to his "Headquarters" at the Union and began to meet and greet his little friends.

There he will receive the small fry from 12:30-5 p.m. and 6-8:30 each day until Christmas Eve.

With only 15 more Shopping Days until Christmas the pace of Christmas Shopping is rapidly gaining momentum.

But, anticipating a record Christmas, the merchants of the 85-store Town and Country have huge stocks of everything imaginable in the way of Christmas Gifts for everybody.

Gaily dressed in holiday raiment, with Christmas trees, brilliant pole wrappings, lighted red bells and a 60-foot beautifully lighted Christmas tree atop the J. C. Penney Store, Town and Country is a veritable "Christmas City."

MANY PARKING FACILITIES ARE AVAILABLE AT TOWN AND COUNTRY SHOPPING CENTER

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Heart Association Best Defense Against Our Number One Enemy

If "Hurricane Donna" were at this moment a threat to you, your family, or your company, I am certain you would take immediate action to cope with the situation to the best of your ability.

"Hurricane Donna" is something which might occur again a week from today; it may happen once again during this century or perhaps it may never strike again in an area directly affecting you, your family or your company. Therefore, it may be unwise to be concerned about so remote a possibility.

But, in 1959, a much more potent threat than "Hurricane Donna" claimed more than 900,000 lives in the United States; more than all other causes of death combined. In addition more than 69,000,000 man production days were lost to industry during the same period from the same cause, at a cost exceeding one billion dollars.

In Ohio, in the vital age group 25-44, one of every three male deaths was attributed to this monster. In Franklin County this demon killed three times as many of our citizens as the next leading cause of death.

Unlike "Hurricane Donna" it is not seasonal, but always threatening us; it does not strike in one area alone, it surrounds us; it does not discriminate because of race, creed or color; in brief, heart disease is America's Number One Enemy.

However, in the last decade more progress has been made in the conquest of cardiovascular diseases than in the past ten centuries; three out of four heart victims return to work; new drugs and surgery can control high blood pressure; rheumatic fever can be prevented; strokes are no longer hopeless, individualism can often be reduced or prevented; through surgery heart valves can be repaired, inborn defects corrected, and diseased arteries replaced.

While such progress is most encouraging, the death rate indicates a very real need for continued research. No one can afford to wait until he is directly affected; from your standpoint supplying part of the fund to meet this need is the only insurance you can purchase in the fight against your Number One Enemy. The Heart Association is your Number One Defense; the only voluntary health agency dedicated exclusively to the conquest of heart disease. Please help your Heart Fund to help your heart!

Bible Comment:

Each Of Us Judge God In Our Heart

When Jesus expressed His authority in "I say unto you" it was because of the truth He had to declare, and not because of an ordinary relationship of a disciple to a master.

The disciples, though they were slow to grasp the meaning of what Jesus taught, were deeply attached to Jesus as a person because of the beauty of His Life.

But Jesus did not want mere personal attachment. He said "Why call ye Me Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say"

That raises a very vital question about our relationship to Jesus. If we profess to be Christians, where is our life and allegiance centered? Is it loyalty to a church or organization? Is it loyalty to some doctrine or teaching about Jesus? Is it loyalty to Him as a great figure of religion and history?

Or is it supreme loyalty to the truth that He declared, and to the example that He gave? Are we among those who say, "Lord, Lord," but whose lives do not express the reality of all that He said?

It is a great challenge, and the Christ is ever on trail before the judgement seat of our hearts and lives.

We may not reject and crucify Him as those did of old, but by neglecting His teaching, or by a lack of Christian faith and living, we judge Him none the less, and put ourselves among those of whom He said: "Ye will not come unto me that ye might have life" (John 5:40).

Uses Muskies For Panfish Gain

The use of muskies in a pan fish improvement program for Acton Lake, Butler and Preble Counties, and Indian Lake, Logan County, has been announced by William Zarbock, assistant fish management supervisor, Wildlife District 6.

The program resulted from test net findings in the two lakes which revealed a high population of small bluegills and crappies. It was decided that stocking of predator fish, in this case muskies, was a desirable form of control.

About 6,000 muskie fry were stocked in Acton Lake and 10,000 in Indian Lake. More muskies will be added when available.

"A reduction of the number of bluegills and crappies in these two lakes should result in larger fish of these two species for Ohio anglers."

Eastern Charity Newsies Hawk Papers On Saturday

"Please help us," say the Charity Newsies, "so that we may help them" — the word "them" meaning the needy boys and girls of Franklin County.

Last winter the Newsies provided clothing for 6321 children of school age. Appeals to the Newsies are more numerous this year than before.

So be generous when the Newsies sell charity newspapers Saturday, Dec. 10. The eastern area of the city has many Newsies. Check the list, and mail a check to the one you favor, if you wish.

TWO OSU COEDS STRUCK BY AUTO

Two Ohio State University students were struck by an auto as they were walking on E. Broad-st near Noe-Bixby-rd last Friday evening. One of the coeds was killed, the other was in fair condition at St. Anthony's Hospital Monday.

Both girls, whose homes are in Cleveland, were students in the OSU College of Education.

The dead girl is Cherie Joy Suid, 18, a sophomore. Injured was Judy Cogen, also 18, a freshman. They resided in Patterson Hall at OSU.

Aides at St. Anthony Hospital, where Miss Cogen was admitted, said she suffered multifple fractures of the left leg, fracture of the right leg and severe facial injuries.

The dead girl suffered multiple fractures and internal injuries. She was dead on arrival at St. Anthony's.

Miss Cogen told officers she and her companion had gotten off a bus at Broad-st and Hamilton-rd and were walking out E. Broad-st on the divider strip. About a mile east of Hamilton-rd, the road narrows and the divider stops.

The girls, en route to Temple Israel, were almost to their destination when struck.

Driver of the car, a Ford convertible, was Francis Henry Harvey, 40, of 7299 Roshonrd, Reynoldsburg. With Harvey was his wife, who collapsed at the scene and was treated by emergency squadment.

Harvey told officers he was driving east and was passing a car when he hit the girls. He said the girls were in the middle of the lane and he was unable to stop in time.

Mrs. Dorothy Yassenoff, the Temple Israel administrator, said this week that she does not know why the girls were walking along the highway. She stated that the Temple provides shuttle service up until 8 p.m.

Soak Method Is Developed For Washing Dirty Blankets

Bertha B. Everhart

Does the memory of a blanket which shrank or became matted and harsh when washed make you hesitate to wash another? This condition was once attributed to hot water.

Recent studies show that agitation or tumbling in the washer is the main cause of shrinkage and felting of wool blankets. Therefore, a "soak" method of washing blankets has been developed.

Preparation For Washing

Measure blanket and record measurements so that it may be returned to original shape after laundering.

Inspect the blanket for stains and treat soiled spots with a vegetable brush dipped in warm detergent solution.

Fill washing machine with water, adjusting it to 110 F., using a thermometer, or until it feels a little more than lukewarm to your hands.

Use the same amount of a mild soap or an all-purpose synthetic detergent you would for a load of white clothes. Allow the machine to operate two minutes to dissolve the soap or detergent.

Washing Process

Immerse the blanket in the sudsy solution and allow it to soak 15 to 20 minutes — no longer. Extract sudsy Water by spinning in an automatic washer or by wringer on a conventional washer.

To rinse a blanket soak 5 minutes in lukewarm water the same temperature as the wash water. Turn blanket by hand once or twice during this soak period. Wring or spin and repeat with a second soak period in clear, warm water.

If you have very hard water, use a powdered water softener in the wash water and the first rinse.

To Dry A Blanket

After spinning or wringing, stretch or block the blanket to its original size. To line dry, place the blanket across two parallel lines to distribute the weight. Turn blanket several times during drying process.

If dried in an automatic dryer, preheat the dryer five minutes with five or six bath towels. Place hot towels in folds of blanket and allow it to dry 10 to 15 minutes at high heat.

Remove blaket from dryer while slightly damp and restretch to original size and shape.

To raise the nap and make it look like new, brush the blanket vigorously on both sides with a nylon brush or a pet brush. This increases the number and size of air pockets, hence increasing the blanket's warmth. Press ribbon binding with a warm iron.

TWO COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION AIRED

By John Poeppelmeyer

A recent meeting called to discuss the possibility of consolidating three high schools from two counties has so far turned out to be just that — a discussion.

No site locations were discussed and no future meetings are planned at this time on a move to consolidate Bloom-Carroll and Pickerington High Schools, of Fairfield County, and Canal-Winchester High School, of Franklin County.

The issue, commented Franklin County Superintendent Tom Quick, centered around the respective areas' educational needs and problems and "how to round out the school situation."

In attendance at the meeting were D. O. Davis, Fairfield County superintendent; Quick; the Fairfield County school board; Rex Purcell, assistant superintendent of Fairfield County; M. A. Hanna, executive head of the Pickerington schools; the Pickerington school board; Marvin Brandeau, Canal Winchester head; the Canal Winchester school board; Carl Fell, Carroll schools executive head; and the Carroll school board.

The meeting was held in response to an invitation issued by the Fairfield County board of education. The educators and administrators head, Byron Morton, of the State Department of Education, relate the advantages of a possible "merger" of the three high schools.

The move toward a possible consolidation, according to Quick, has been talked of informally since September, 1959, after an Ohio State University survey team compiled research data on the Fairfield County schools situation. At that time the three high schools consisted of more than 2200 students.

One of the main advantages to be gained, Quick related, was that, by combining of three districts, such a move would allow more expanded curriculum opportunities. On the other hand, he explained, people tend to have loyalties to their own districts and there would also be a county organization problem.

Three possibilities as to whose jurisdiction a consolidation would be under were outlined:

Having either Fairfield County or Franklin County in charge or putting the matter into the hands of state board of education officials and let them decide.

Relocation Of Rt. 62 By State Of Ohio Means Expressway

Relocation of 62 and its construction as a four lane expressway will be started next year, according to the Ohio Department of Highways.

The road, which will be relocated between Nelson-rd and Gahanna will be four miles in length, and will cost approximately $5 million. Included in the project will be new bridges over Alum Creek at the eastern Columbus Corporation and over Big Walnut Creek at Gahanna.

Bypassing Gahanna would depend on an increase of northeast-bound traffic over the route, W. J. Cremean, Ohio Department of Highways engineer, stated.

He said that the department originally planned the project as a Gahanna bypass. He stated that this idea was revised when a traffic study showed that less than two-thirds of the vehicles on the road would have traveled a bypass.

An average of 6000 cars were checked, according to Cremean, who stated that most of the traffic came from or was headed east or southeast.

Two streets in Gahanna will also be improved at an estimated cost of $200,000. Included in the state's plans are Mill-st, which is part of Rt. 62, and Granville-st, part of Rt. 317.

Gahanna will still retain its "T" intersection, but it will be widened and the highway improved at the east end of the bridge.

The engineering firm of Burgess and Niple of Columbus is drawing plans for the project, and has set interchanges at Cassady and 17th Avenues and at Stelzer-rd.

If the projected Columbus outerbelt should be located west of Gahanna the new Rt. 62 will pass over or under it. An interchange is planned on the outerbelt at Stelzer-rd, north of the interchange with Rt. 62.

Plans are under way for widening Stelzer-rd to four lanes from Agler-rd south to Fifth or Seventh Avenues. This will be undertaken next year.

The U.S. Bureau of Public Roads is studying the line and grade plans for Rt. 62. If the plans are approved, federal funds will be available for half the construction cost.

The present highway will revert to the county after the new road is completed. High cost of taking residential and commercial properties along the present Rt. 62 has led the Highway Department to relocate the route.

Columbus City Council recently approved taking part in the project which will cost the city about $30,000, according to Service Director Ernest H. Stork, who stated that this would be the city's share of the project from Alum Creek Bridge to Nelson-rd.

Consumer Report

Food Market This Week

by ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits—Grapefruit, oranges, cranberries, Emperor grapes, nuts.

Vegetables—Cauliflower, celery, head lettuce, potatoes, squash, parsnips.

Meats and Poultry—Fryers, turkey, Boston butts, smoked picnics, ground beef, round steak.

BUY NUTS FOR CRACKING, MUNCHING

December is the month when most families like a bowl of nuts around the house for cracking and munching. When you add nuts atound the house for cracking and munching, to your shopping list at Christmas time — or any time—to your food list, you add flavor, looks, crisp texture, as well as calories to meals and snacks.

This year you can use walnuts and pecans generously for we have substantially more of both than last year. In fact, this year's pecan crop is estimated to be 30 per cent larger than last year, and nearly 25 per cent above average. So, pecan prices will likely be down. Almond and filbert prices will be higher because of small crops this year.

We import about half our total nut supply—mostly Cashews from India and Brazil nuts from Brazil. Cashew supplies may be down because of a smaller crop, but you'll probably see more Brazil nuts.

When you buy, remember nuts in the shell; often but not always, cost less than shelled nuts. By knowing how many nut meats you get from a pound helps you decide whether or not to use the "nut cracker." To have one pound of shelled nut meats you would need the following amounts of unshelled nuts:

Almonds	2 pounds
Brazil nuts	3 pounds
Filberts	2½ pounds
Walnuts (English)	2¼ pounds
Pecans	2 pounds
Walnuts (Black)	4½ pounds

In general, one pound of shelled nut meats is about 3 to 3½ cups.

TIPS FOR KEEPING NUTS FRESH

Recently much progress has been made in keeping nut kernels fresh, attractive, and convenient for food shoppers. You will find nuts displayed in many types of containers and especially treated to preserve freshness. Vacuum-packed cans, cellophane, and plastic containers may contain nut meats, nut halves, mixed nuts, nuts shelled or in the shell, salted or unsalted, and nuts roasted or unroasted.

Here are storage tips to help you keep the fine flavor, crispness and freshness of nuts:

- Nuts keep better in the shell than shelled.
- Shelled nuts keep well in tight containers for a year in the home freezer.
- Nuts contain fat which may become rancid when stored at room temperature or in the light.

TOYS FOR TOTS BEGINS SATURDAY

"T" DAY SLATED—Scouts will be collecting "Toys for Tots" on "T" Day, next Saturday, Dec. 10. Approximately 8000 Scouts will call at homes in Franklin County to collect toys for the Marine Corps Reserve Campaign. Last year, the Boy Scouts collected over 215,000 usable toys that the local Marine Reservists distributed to approximately 40,000 less fortunate youngsters in the area. Shown above, giving her favorite toy to Cub Scout Terry Mathews of 1708 Pickering-dr and Scout Robert Burnett, 1687 Rose Hill, Reynoldsburg, is little Jennette Throop of 733 Vernon in Bexley. Looking on is Pfc. Roger Brown, 522 Southwood-av, of the local Marine Corps Reserve Unit. In the event that your home is missed, you may deliver the toys to your nearest fire house or call CA. 8-1501 and arrangements will be made to pick them up.

Jaycees To Honor 25 Football Stars

The 23rd Columbus Jaycee All Ohio High School Football Banquet, will be held Saturday Dec. 10, in the Arts and Crafts Building, Ohio State Fairgrounds, reports Frank Tolbard, 1717 E. Whittier-st, the chairman.

Speaker will be Dr. John W. Wilce, former Ohio State head football coach. Toastmaster will be Bert Charles, WVKO radio general manager.

The banquet will honor 25 outstanding Ohio high school senior football players, their fathers and their coaches. This affair, since its inception in 1934, has been dedicated as a lifetime memorial to Chic Harley, famous Ohio State football star. It also serves to encourage high ideals in athletics, yet emphasizes the importance of scholastic attainments. Another purpose is to encourage enrollment of these high school footballers in Ohio colleges.

The players are selected by a committee of about 100 leadby Lou Berliner of the Coing Ohio sportswriters, headed lumbus Dispatch. In addition to the votes cast by these men additional votes are awarded if the player has been named to a wire service all-star team on the basis of two additional votes for a first team berth and one vote for being on a second team. Scholastic requirements are that the player be in the upper two-thirds of his class.

The all-Ohio project is sponsored by the Columbus Junior Chamber of Commerce, with the co-operation of Columbus businesses and individuals.

Choir Concerts Slated Sunday

Crowds are expected for both of the Capital University Chapel Choir concerts to be presented Sunday in Veteran's Memorial Auditorium, according to business manager, Walter Huffman.

"All seats have been reserved," said Huffman. "However, we expect to have tickets at the box office as not all the reserve ticket holders will show up for the concerts."

The Columbus Auto Club reminds drivers leaving on vacation trips to give their cars a thorough servicing by reliable mechanics. A pre-vacation check on your car will go a long way toward insuring a pleasant holiday.

Employment of white-collar workers has grown faster in the postwar period than the labor force as a whole. From 1947 to 1959 the total number of civilians employed increased 13.6 per cent, while white-collar employment rose 38 per cent.

Woman Sues For Injuries In Fall

Mrs. May B. Myers, 1503 Vilardon, filed a damage suit for $27,768.73 Friday against Clarence G. Issenmann, Roman Catholic Bishop of Columbus, for injuries she alleges that she sustained last December.

Mrs. Myers fell on the steps of Holy Rosary, 1651 E. Main st while going to a public party. She maintains that the church was negligent since it did not provide handrails on the steps and did not clear snow which had accumulated in the doorway.

Cadet Teachers At St. Mary's Found A Home On Campus

A home has been found for the cadet teachers at the College of St. Mary's, thanks to the Ohio Foundation of Independent Colleges.

With the aid of funds from the OFIC, a tidy little house, situated near the edge of the campus, has blossomed forth to house nearly a dozen future teachers.

The girls attend school two years on scholarships, with a concentrated effort on education courses. Before the move to the house, the cadets roomed in a dormitory.

About the only advantage they have over the other girls, in the way of living conveniences, is that of a private extension phone. Otherwise, they are expected to immerse themselves in studies for two hours each night.

According to Sister M. Angelita, dean of the college, OFIC funds have made it possible to increase faculty salaries from 25 to 30 per cent and to make needed additions to the staff. Teaching aids have been improved and a language laboratory has been added, she stated.

The OFIC was organized nine years ago in November, 1951, by non-tax supported colleges in Ohio as they united in an appeal for corporate gifts to operating funds.

Hawks Play Two; Warriors Host South

One of these nights, in the cool of the evening, the basketball situation in the eastern area is sure to start getting sizzling hot.

Such a case may be presented Friday night at Whitehall when Bexley's Lions dribble onto the Ram hardwood.

Both are sporting disappointing, thus far, 1-2 won-loss records, and it is obvious that one quintet is bound to pull its average up while the other will plunge further down the Central Buckeye ladder.

Other tilts find Eastmoor sparring with South at the Warrior court and Bishop Hartley engaging in a pair of week-end encounters:

Friday night at home against Academy and Saturday the Hawks will raid Holy Family High.

Bexley coach Dana Swinehart is sending in a crew against the Rams that are averaging only 38 points per game.

Whitehall, meanwhile, although not having the necessary guns to ward off defeat, find it a little easier to string the nets and have averaged 59 markers a tilt.

Top point-getter for the Lions has been Frank Eiferman who has managed to shove 29 points through the nets. The Rams have been led by Ken Merriman with 45 markers.

Eastmoor found the going a little rough last week at Central but lost only by a respectful two points. A little extra effort Friday night against the Bulldogs should find the Warriors holding the fort against another defeat.

Dean Lampros sank 18 points last week and as soon as footballers Frank Stavroff and Bob Benjamin unwind, the Eastmoor cagers should be ready to roll.

Bishop Hartley will probably find the going toughest this week having to face two foes on two consecutives evenings.

The potential for the Hawks is there but has yet to be found.

Bob Burman appears to have found the shooting range to his liking in recent games and center Steve Warren is bound to come into his own at any time.

Could be the Hawks will really start clicking now and tuck away the Academy and Holy Family scalps.

AREA TEAMS DROP LOOP OPENERS; HARTLEY CAGERS SPLIT A PAIR

Area teams ran into heavy going over the weekend with league openers providing losses for Bexley, Eastmoor and Whitehall.

Bishop Hartley split two games; Eastmoor, opening its season with a league game dropped it to Central; and Bexley and Whitehall, after pre-league warmups, lost their openers.

Bishop Hartley saw an early lead fade Friday night, as New Albany came on quickly to win, going away, 62-48. On Saturday, Hartley came back to lead all the way to down Scioto Township, 65-53.

Eastmoor dropped its league and season opener to a strong Central aggregation whose sharpshooting fast break proved the margin of victory, 67-85.

Whitehall dropped a heartbreaker to Grandview after leading into the fourth quarter. Grandview came on strong to win 53-52.

Bexley, ahead at the half, was unable to stave off an Upper Arlington second half rally and dropped its first league game, 44-40.

Hartley Hawks found New Albany too tough to handle as the Hawks entertained them Friday night. An early Hartley lead faded, and New Albany remained in control, building up its lead with a fourth quarter spurt, and won 62-48.

Bob Burman led the Hartley attack with 20 points, and Jim Harkless chipped in 10.

On Saturday night, Hartley entertained Scioto Township and took the visitors' measure with a steady attack. Bob Burman was high point man again for the Hawks with Harkless adding 11.

Eastmoor, picked to be one of the contenders for the City League title, saw its early lead go down the drain as Central's fast break put the Pirates into the victory column. Central's fourth quarter attack overcame the Eastmoor lead, as the Pirates outshot the Warriors from the field with 24 field goals to 21.

Dean Lampres came through with 18 points to lead the Eastmoor attack, but three Central players broke into double figures.

Whitehall had the score doubled on Grandview at the end of the first quarter, but couldn't hit from the free-throw line and lost to the Bobcats' brother combination of John and Joe Arganbright who garnered 35 points.

Ken Merriman led the Rams' scoring with 15 points, and Ron Neutzling came through with 14 to assist.

Bexley found the scoring more difficult in the second half against Upper Arlington, as the Golden Bears switched from their first half man-to-man defense to a 2-3 zone.

Bexley's offense was choked off and limited to only 16 points in that second half. Jack Newlon led the Arlington attack, with 15 of his 22 points coming in the second half.

Steve DeVoe led the Lions' scoring with 12 points, and Frank Eiferman contributed 10.

Pup You Give For Christmas Can Be Hunting Pal Next Fall

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors
By ROD COCHRAN

Dogs have been called man's most trusted animal companions, and this is especially true of hunting dogs.

Sportsmen have played an important part in the development of dogs, for virtually every breed of canine was used to hunt at one time or another and most of them are still used in "the chase." The only exceptions to this are several kinds of lap dogs that do not even look like dogs, and it's never been clearly explained to me what they can do better than cats.

Hunting dogs greatly increase your chances of success when afield, but they are more than just insurance for a full game bag. To some of us they are necessary additions to any hunting trip, whether we are after quail, raccoons, rabbits, grouse, pheasants or ducks. They add more to a hunt than human companionship many times, for a fine piece of dog work will be stored in your memory long after everything else about the day has been forgotten.

After you have thrilled to the action of a good pointer or setter making a find, or watching one dog honoring another's point, then you are never again the same. Seeing the bold leap of a Labrador retriever into icy water to get a downed duck, adds immeasurably to the hunt. After hunting with dogs, you will never want to hunt without them. Going it alone seems more like going to the market for a pound of hamburger — most of the zest and companionship is gone.

I know of a man who quit hunting when his treasured bird dog died. He simply put up his gun, for he knew it would be no fun without Smokey along. After a couple of seasons of inactivity, a friend of his gave him a little setter gyp pup. You could tell he appreciated the pup, but he told everyone that the smallish female could never compare with his old Smoke. "At least she's a Llewellyn (a strain of English setter) and I'm going to raise her up to see what she will look like," he said.

Well, by fall she looked all right and she hunted all right. And ever since, the first frosty, crisp morning of fall lights a spark in the old man's eyes. His aged double-barreled gun doesn't get much rest these days.

Why Not Christmas Pup?

Why all this talk about dogs just now? Well, if you hunted this year without a dog and didn't enjoy it too much, now is the time to plan for next year. Buy a pup under the guise of a Christmas present for the family, and you've got a hunting companion for as long as you both shall live.

Christmas shopping is never easy, and in the case of a pup it is doubly difficult. You must decide on a breed, and then a strain or bloodline that you want to own. Don't buy the first cute puppy you pick up—a good pup is just as cuddly as a poor one. Look for boldness and conformation, things you can see long before weaning time. Discard shy and nervous pups.

After your choice is made, the real work begins. The pup must be house broken if he is to live indoors. Yard training is necessary—that is the dog must respond to commands and whistle signals. Field training is perhaps most important, but I never saw a dog that was a real joy to hunt with that was not well disciplined when out of the field.

Excellent books are available on dog training and should be read by beginners. A new hunting dog will cut down on your fishing time next summer, but the dividends from your work will be paid later. Do not, however, get a dog then forget him until next November. Hunting with an untrained dog is worse than no dog at all.

Change will take place whether we wish it or not; especially if there's a new baby in the house.

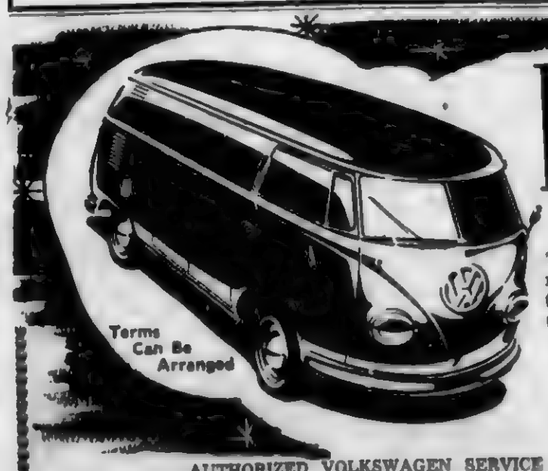
Gee Gee's Top Wednesday Loop

The Gee Gees stayed in first place last Wednesday night by scoring a win over the Falcons, 49 to 22. Top scorer of the game was Bob Axline of the winners, with 18 points.



The second game of the evening saw the Big T's pull into second place with a double overtime victory over the fighting Globetrotters.

The final score was 36 to 31. Larry Border's fine rebounding and Jim Howard's good floor play kept the losers in the game right up to the end. Ted Dickey paced the Big T's with 21 points and a fine all-round game.

Must Be On Guard

Nick Barack, Columbus recreation director, said he wouldn't talk about it before election, but decided to let his hair down last week when members of the Council of South Side Organizations held their Christmas meeting at Schiller park.

Commenting on his recent trip to Rome for the 1960 Olympics, the veteran sports figure said, "There must be something to this talk about the United States losing prestige abroad."

At the Melbourne games in 1956, Barack said the United States seemed to command respect. But in the Rome event, the Stars and Stripes drew the worst kind of boos at times.

He pointed out that the communist countries will take advantage of every opportunity to promote themselves in international competition and we must constantly be on guard.

"If we are not, someday we are going to be in trouble," he warned.

Christmas Thoughts: A lot is said about putting Christ back into Christmas, while little thought is given to the fact that Christ has always been and always will be in Christmas . . . This is the season when we should evaluate how far we have gone technologically and how few steps we have taken forward in learning how to live together in peace throughout the world . . . and we need to determine that all our gains in technology are for naught if we can't advance in the other direction . . . It's that season of the year when happy people are happier and even the Scrooges have their hearts softened a few degrees . . . And the time when the light in a little girl's eyes matches those on the Christmas tree in brilliance . . . Too many times the appreciation of a gift is in reverse proportion to its value because both the giver and the recipient are too far removed from the time when they had less, but appreciated it more . . . When winter lies down and pulls up her white blanket it is comforting to know that old Mother Nature is still alive as evidenced by the freshness of the evergreen . . . The best gift of all is yourself!

Mason Jockeying To Have USTA Trot Off To Whitehall

By John Poappelmeyer

The United States Trotting Association wanderings may end up in Whitehall if councilman Loren Mason's efforts prove successful.

Mason has shot off a letter to the USTA informing association officials that Whitehall would be interested in the group's search for an available office site.

Mason also said that he had contacted the Whitehall Chamber of Commerce urging its support in the matter.

The outcome, of course, depends upon how the City of Bexley views a request by the USTA to relocate its offices in Bexley.

located at E. Broad-st and located along E. Broad-st and Linwood-av. And, according to Attorney John Connor "has outgrown" its present facilities.

The Bexley site is located along E. Broad, between Gould and Merkle-rds. Cost of the building would amount to $450,000 with a possible tax assessible value of $7,700 per year, according to USTA officials.

The new Whitehall tax rate is the same as that of Bexley's, $31 per $1,000 property evaluation.

Where the USTA could take up space in Whitehall is not known. Mason has said that he "has two possible sites in mind," but preferred not to reveal where.

The councilman did state that "we have everything to offer that Bexley has, and a little better."

The Bexley-USTA problem is not due to be resolved until after the first of the year. A recent hearing found some 100 residents opposed to letting the USTA set up its office in the community.

Mason said that the USTA official to whom he talked "showed an interest."

Dale Bordner, assistant treasurer at the USTA, admitted that "one other site besides the one in Bexley" has been under consideration by the association's building committee. He added, however, that "the other one was not in Whitehall."

The official to whom Mason said he had talked was not available for comment nor were any of the members of the building committee.

Bexley solons had apparently looked favorably upon the possibility of the USTA relocating within the city until they were confronted by such a large turn-out of residents at a Nov. 29 zoning hearing who opposed such a move.

Bexley Council is slated to hand over its decision on the matter at its first meeting in January.

Record Budget, New Elementary Planned By Whitehall Board

The likelihood of a record $1,750,000 budget and a start on a new elementary school shape up in the Whitehall School Board's crystal ball for 1961.

Superintendent Robert Crabbs said that he hopes that construction of a new elementary, approximately 16 to 18 rooms, will be able to get under way next summer. He listed a possible completion on date as Autumn, 1962.

In order to provide funds for the building, Crabbs stated that he expects a bond issue to be forthcoming next Spring, but added that the amount has not yet been determined.

To pave the way for an economical building plan, the board this week agreed to participate in the Association for Public Schools Approach to Planning Elementary School Buildings under the direction of Dr. M. J. Conrad, head of the School Plant Division of

200 Tax Violators Due To Be Arrested

Whitehall Income Tax Chief Charles E. Laird, has announced that there are more than 200 tax violators who will be arrested in the month of January.

He stated that affidavits and warrants are being prepared now against all persons who have failed to file returns or to pay the Whitehall income tax which was due Apr. 30, 1960.

Laird indicated that prosecutions must be started within one year of the date of the offense or they are forever barred.

The income tax expert said that even after the criminal action is barred, the city has a right to recover through civil action in which if the City is successful, the tax, the penalty, interest and the court costs must be paid by the tax debtor.

Elaine-Rd Rezoning Opposed

An apartment rezoning duel appears to be in the offing at Columbus City Council next week.

Some 100 signatures have been obtained by an East Columbus man to oppose the construction of four-family residential units on Elaine-rd, south of E. Livingston-av.

Fred Cullens, of 1739 Burlington-rd, notified the Eastern Review this week that the petition would be presented at the next council meeting.

Cullens stated that the people in the area opposed to the rezoning cite "cheaply constructed" apartments and "low rental" that would lower property value in the area as their reasons.

The spokesman said that the residents moved into the area with the feeling that it would remain as a "single-family" type.

A public hearing had been slated this past Monday night in council chambers, but was postponed until next week, Cullens stated.

The petitioner for the rezoning is Everett L. Richie, of 765 Kimball-pl. He has asked that five lots now zoned for single family residences be changed to permit apartment construction.

Cullens said that he has acquired signatures of "87 per cent of all people living in the immediate area," from both sides of Striebel and Elaine-rds.

Capital President Honored

A third honorary degree has been conferred upon Capital University President Dr. Harold L. Yochum.

Awarding a Doctor of Literature degree to Dr. Yochum was Pacific Lutheran University, one of the ten institutions of higher education of The American Lutheran Church.

The occasion was a dinner meeting held in Tacoma, Washington Dec. 7 in honor of "great teaching." In attendance were 200 school administrators representing the public schools, colleges and universities of the state of Washington.

As the main speaker, Dr. Yochum declared "the most important problem of education today is not finances, facilities or staff, but a clear definition of objectives and adequate interpretation of objectives to teachers and students."

Dr. Yochum was awarded the honorary degree for his outstanding contributions to society as a preacher, writer and speaker. He is the author of two books of sermons and contributor to church publications.

GEORGE IS DOING IT—Whitehall's new recreation director, George Chamblin, takes a direct hand in teaching youngsters at Rosemore Junior High School how to cheer. Chamblin has set up a number of after school activities at the various elementary buildings in the city.

YEARLING-RD GETS KIRCHNER ABSTENTION

Whitehall council this week churned into smooth gear, clutched at a few debatable straws, and sped to a speedy conclusion in a little over an hour and a half.

Top most item on the agenda to receive preferable treatment was approval of plans and specifications for the improvement of Yearling-rd.

Solon Loren Mason issued a statement that the service committee has estimated improvement costs to be approximately $285,000 to $300,000. Mason said that the levy to property owner would amount to about $12 to $14 per front foot.

It was at this point that one of the evening's debatable points cropped up. Al Kirchner asked Mason if the committee had "considered the burden placed upon the people who lived along Yearling-rd?" He also inquired if Mason knew that "a majority of the people in the vicinity were opposed to the improvement?"

Mason answered yes to the last question, adding that "we have to consider what is best for the city as a whole." Orton Davis interjected that he had seen "kids walking along the road with snow up to their knees." He added that it was "time something was done."

The improvements extend from Broad to Main-sts and include construction of a paved street, sidewalks and sewers. Kirchner abstained on the final vote.

The debate of whether or not the city's finances were sagging emerged into clearer focus.

Finance chairman Ray Shipley said that he had met over the weekend with auditor Walter Heiber and treasurer John Ramsey and that it was "agreed" that the city will have enough money to operate on the rest of the year.

Shipley also mentioned that the city's income tax law will be revised, but "nothing drastic" is planned. He explained disbursements between the general and capital improvements funds would be altered.

So, since it was apparent that money matters no longer stood in council's way, the legislators okayed the hiring of three additional full-time firemen, bringing the city's fire protective total to an even dozen men.

Solicitor James Maxwell submitted an ordinance to be acted upon in January concerning registration of charitable organizations.

Maxwell included in his statement that the law is "presently under consideration" by the Mayors Council.

He pointed out that all villages and municipalities may agree to the terms of the ordinance, when offered in its final form, thus giving all concerned a uniform law.

Just before the adjournment gavel banged down, Richard Hyatt brought forth a suggestion that "all of the council committees be reshuffled" for next year. Hyatt produced no further revelation concerning his statement.

Engineers' Imagination Cuts Costs at North American

Telephone poles, bicycle spokes and ingenuity are helping to keep missile costs down at North American Aviation's Columbus Division.

A low cost supersonic target missile system is being built for the Army. The missile, a foot in diameter and 19 feet long, will fly at either high or low levels on missions and simulate high performance aircraft and missiles in air defense training. It will be fired from an off-the-shelf Little John rocket launcher.

One phase of NAA's contract calls for launching tests of booster rockets which will start the missile on its way before the ramjet engine takes over. North American engineers have decided to economize by using inexpensive substitutes.

Telephone poles were trimmed to the shape and size of the missile. Fins and a mockup engine were attached, producing dummy missiles that closely simulate actual missiles in appearance, size, weight and inertia.

Bicycles spokes were suggested by a North American engineer to simulate the expensive antennas that are used to transmit and receive electronic signals.

Tests proved the idea sound. Spokes are simply cut off at one end and re-threaded at the other to screw into a tiny base attached to the missile's body. The spokes have the added advantage of being limber enough not to damage the missile upon its recovery, and if bent can be replaced in a matter of seconds.

Cost? About a penny a spoke.

Budget—

the Bureau of Educational Research at Ohio State University.

The move was made possible by a $30,000 grant to the University from the Ford Foundation, Crabbs said. "The value of the program," he explained," is to help districts to plan buildings as economically as possible—and if possible."

The new elementary building will probably be erected across from Rosemore Junior High School, according to Crabbs.

The budget being readied by the board amount to a new record, Crabbs said. "It is approximately $80,000 to $100,000 above last years. As yet, the superintendent said, the $1.75 million figure is but an estimate."

In order to reduce the pupil-teacher ratio in classes, the board hired a full time teacher, Miss Carolyn Harsch. She had formerly been employed on a part time basis.

Crabbs also announced that the Saturday morning basketball program for boys is due to begin this week-end at Whitehall-Yearling.. The program is open to all boys, grades six to eight, who are not members of teams in either public or parochial schools.

The program will continue until Feb. 25, from 9:30 to noon each Saturday. Some 125 boys are expected to compete, Crabbs related, under the direction of Julian Moreland, Phil Allen and Dick Kane.

Activity fund receipts from this year's football program showed a slight margin to the good enabling the Athletic Association to reduce its debt to less than $2000, Crabbs reported.

Receipts totaled $6700 and expenditures $5597.

Ted Georgeff was authorized to attend an NCAA conference at Pittsburgh Jan. 8 to 11. Part of the time will be spent studying care and prevention of injuries, Crabbs said.

Hits Same Truck Twice; Man Injured

A Reynoldsburg man was in fair condition in St. Anthony Hospital Monday after his car was struck twice by the same truck Wednesday.

Richard Burk, 33, 716 Lancaster-av, was driving his 1954 convertible west on Morse-rd, east of Sunbury when it hit the left rear corner of the truck.

The car then spun around into the front of the truck.

Sheriff's Deputy Allen Fravel said that Burk will be cited for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

Boy Shot By Buddy Recovers

A 13-year old East side boy escaped serious injury Friday night after a playmate fired a bullet into his head.

Children's Hospital reported that William Wilke, 812 Waverly-rd, was in fair condition.

They said that the bullet apparently entered the youth's head near his ear, traveled beneath the skin of his face and came out through his nose.

The victim's father, Walter Wilke, vice-president of the Ohio Packing Co. left the two boys alone in the house while he went to visit a funeral home.

According to police, James LeMaster, 13, 1062 S. James-rd fired the gun.

He explained that the victim brought the gun, a .38 caliber revolver, and a box of shells into the living room where the pair was watching television.

Postmaster Offers Tips On Service

Postmaster Allen M. Rowe today emphasized the need for depositing Christmas greeting cards for out-of-town destinations in the mail immediately and mailing cards for local delivery before Dec. 16 to insure pre-Christmas delivery.

Rowe also cautioned holiday vacationers about letting a stuffed mail box advertise their absence to housebreakers.

The postmaster suggested that holiday vacationers ask a neighbor to empty their mail boxes daily and hold their mail. If this cannot be arranged, your postman may hold your mail for a limited time upon written request.

Rowe said, "If you are planning a winter vacation and want your mail while you're away, file a forwarding order with the post office indicating the exact length of time you will be away — be sure to let your postman know when you get back.

"Be sure that your vacation address is complete and that a neighbor or person caring for your home during your absence knows where you can be reached."

Winter Often Excellent Time To Take Up Birdwatching

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

So you would like to learn something about birds, but don't quite know how to go about it? Well, now is a good time to start.

A feeding station will bring birds within easy inspection. In many cases you will not need field glasses or binoculars, if there are some hedges or shrubby vegetation nearby where birds will feel secure.

By now most birds have adult plumage, and there are few nondescript juveniles and moulting birds around to confuse things. Leaves are off the trees and birds are easier to see. Then too, fewer kinds of birds are here now, and this simplifies the beginner's task considerably. Winter, then, is a fine season to begin bird study.

You will need a good field identification bird book. One of the best is "A Field Guide to the Birds of Eastern U.S." by Roger Tory Peterson, an excellent and well-known ornithologist, who has been with the Audubon Society for years. These books are generally referred to as "field guides" by bird watchers, and the importance of them cannot be stressed too strongly. Books on birds make fine reading and are good additions to any library, but you will need a field guide to enjoy watching birds.

Takes Patience

Patience is also needed in large quantities. But with a little time and your field guide you can learn a half dozen kinds of birds from your living room window. To go further afield, you will need a binocular. This acquisition will run into some money, but by this time your enthusiasm may be high enough for you to spend it. Get a six to eight-power instrument, with a wide field of vision.

Now for some serious study. The general approach to bird watching is not much different to that of identifying different makes of automobiles or airplanes. First note the size of the bird in question. If it is as big as a crow, for instance, you can automatically eliminate from consideration several hundred possibilities such as all the wrens, warblers, sparrows, finches and many others.

Next notice the shape — slim or stout, long legs or short. Color is of prime importance. Look for conspicuous marks. If the crow-sized bird should have a red crest on its head, and some white marks on the sides of its neck, then you can forget about crows, owls, hawks and the many aquatic birds of similar size.

Observe Bird's Habits

Now you would study the bird's habits, traits and personality, and perhaps its call notes or singing. You would note that this crow-sized bird was shy, but mighty noisy and preferred to stay around large trees, particularly dead ones. It clings to the sides of trees instead of perching on limbs. Its flight is wavy and galloping. By this time it would obviously be a woodpecker.

In your field guide you will find that there is only one woodpecker of this size in Ohio, the pileated.

So you have made a rather noteworthy find for central Ohio, although these large birds are common in the hilly wooded sections of the state. You are now primed for bigger and smaller game. The abundant song sparrow never ceases to be an attractive bird for even seasoned watchers, and you can never tell when a really rare migrant may stop at your feeder.

The Christmas season is indeed a good time to take up this outdoor sport, and you might ask Santa for some of the gear you will need.

Western Scout Ranch Reservations Due Jan. 1

Time is growing short for Boy Scouts and Explorers who want to make reservations for camping at rugged, picturesque Philmont Scout Ranch, near Cimmarron, N. M., next summer.

A contingent of 60 to 65 local youths will be permitted to attend the camp late next June. Byron McNeely of the council staff will accompany them.

A reservation fee of $10 must be sent by Jan. 1 to Scout Headquarters, 1428 E. Broad-st. Cost of the entire trip by chartered bus will be about $175. Currently registered Scouts or Explorers who will be at least 14 by Sept. 1, 1961 are eligible. For further details, call CL. 3-5513.

Philmont Ranch includes 127,000 acres of Scouter's paradise in the Rocky Mountains. During their 12-day stay, campers will hike, camp, fish, ride horses, pan gold and enjoy side trips to Pikes Peak, Denver, and on the way will stop at Chicago.

The camp was given by Scouting by Waite Phillips, wealthy oilman.

Snows Cancel Racing Card

Heavy snows Sunday forced the CBS Speedway to cancel its regular racing slate.

A full card of kart racing will be resumed this Sunday weather permitting according to the Speedway.

Automobile Club Gift Membership Solves Problems

Columbus Automobile Club memberships are solving many gift-giving problems this Christmas season.

Food Market This Week

by ESTELLE B. FRANKS

ALL PAPERS—FOOD MARKETS THIS WK di

THIS WEEK LOOK FOR:

Fruits—Grapefruit, apples, chanberries, Emperior grapes, bananas.

Vegetables—Brussels sprouts, cabbage, celery lettuce, onions, potatoes, turnips

Poultry and Meats—Fryers, turkeys, pork loin roasts, ham, chuck roasts, round steak.

FALL PORK SUPPLY AT PEAK IN VOLUME

How about a juicy well-browned pork roast with all the trimmings for Sunday dinner? This is the season for such a treat. Pork production is seasonally in volume now and all meat counters are well filled with a wide selection of cuts. Quality is high.

This being true, perhaps you are wondering why pork prices haven't taken the tumble they did at this season last year. It's because the supply this year will not be as large as in 1959, when an exceptionally large number of hogs was marketed. So, while prices are lower than they were earlier this fall, they will not reach last year's low level.

The pork you see at the meat counter now is coming from hogs born last spring. The spring crop was comparatively small—16 per cent less than 1959's large crop. After six to eight months of concentrated feeding, these pigs are now coming to market in volume—but the supply is 10 to 15 per cent below last fall.

When selecting fresh pork, look for a light, grayish-pink color. The meat should be fine in texture, smooth and velvety, with intermingled flecks of fat. The bones should have red porous centers and the outside fat white and relatively firm. A high proportion of lean meat to fat and bone is desirable.

A suitable quality of smoked or canned pork can be selected by using packer brand names as a guide. Individual meat packers give their cured hams and bacon brand names, depending on the quality. Your grocer will be able to tell you what quality of pork different brand names describe.

Tenderness is usually not a problem in buying pork, since most of our pork products are from relatively young animals.

1960-61 CITRUS SEASON IS UNDER WAY

Citrus displays are more impressive this week. The season is later than usual because of the early unfavorable weather in Florida. Despite some damage, orange and grapefruit crops are about the same size as last year. Texas has a good grapefruit crop, which will offset losses in Florida.

This week you'll find Florida oranges are bigger and of better quality. California navel orange prices have dropped considerably since the first shipments arrived. However, the crop is not large, so prices will stay higher than usual.

Tangelos and tangerines will be in volume for the holiday season. Florida's crop of tangerines is 50 per cent larger than last year.

Prices may be a little higher this year for both fresh and processed citrus. Current prices for oranges, grapefruit, and lemons are higher than a year ago. Carry-over stocks of processed citrus products—frozen, canned, and chilled—are well below year ago levels.

With a late season and with low stocks, processors have been bidding aggressively for fresh oranges. This has raised the price of fresh fruit. Prices for frozen orange juice concentrate are expected to be fairly high for the next few months.

BIBLE COMMENT:

Lets Light Our Hearts This Season

"But it shall come to pass that at evening time it shall be light."

From the Book of Zecharia comes the prophecy that was to change the world. As Christmas approaches once again millions will pause in their journeys to turn their eyes skyward.

What will be there? From the tops of buildings illumninated billboards will urge the viewer to purchase the "ideal" gift this year.

Fifty-foot Santas will wink at shoppers from store fronts. Perhaps snow will fall upon electrified plastic Christmas wreaths in the city square.

Is this the light we are seeking?

Of course, the gift-giving, the hustle of last-minute shopping, the decorations all have their places in the scene enacted annually with a cast of millions. But each of us must sooner or later come to realize that the "light" of which the Bible speaks is not the illumination that the Merchants' Association and the Chamber of Commerce tears down on the first week in January.

The light that must finally come to each of us in this holy time comes from our own hearts. It is the light of Christ's world.

Hartley Hawks, St. Charles Set Out To Bag CCL Lead

RAMS, WARRIORS LINE UP FOR PAIR OF ENCOUNTERS

Mucho hoopla will be rolling around on the hardwood courts this week-end with eight games to be played in the short space of two days.

With the exception of Bexley and St. Charles, all area teams take on two comers sometime between now and Sunday eve.

Bishop Hartley, riding a head of steam with three straight victories behind them, run smack up against Newark Catholic Friday night at home. Saturday, the Hawk contingent is on the road against Dennison.

St. Charles, another Catholic school, tied up with the Hawks for the CCL lead, journeys to Watterson, who also are astride the top rung.

Whitehall meets a pair of Central Buckeye loop opponents, Mt. Vernon, Friday, and return home to greet Delaware Saturday.

The other Eastern area CBL quintet, Bexley, bangs up against Worthington, the Lions only week-end effort.

Eastmoor will try to grind out wins against East, Friday night, and West, Saturday.

The Hartley regiment has blossomed out into a top scoring machine, averaging nearly a point a minute. During its last three games, the Hawks have managed to climb over the 60 point mark.

The team scoring has been pretty well distributed with Bob Burman, Steve Warren, and Jim Markless all around the 50 point tally.

The Newark fray shapes up as a toughy. Last year, Newark was champ, but managed to drop its opening loop encounter last week against Watterson.

The final statement falls right into line with the St. Charles game.

The Cards have played only two games this year, splitting wins and losses. The victory, it is nice to say, came in league play.

But Friday night's tilt with Watterson should tell a lot more about the future of the Cards this year.

St. Charles hasn't proved to be too much of a scoring threat, garnering only 69 points in two games. Yet their defense has been adequate to allow the cagers to chalk up a win.

Bexley has slowly and so far, surely, been coming along. Their point average per game has been rising steadily and Dana Swinehart's boys can now pose a respectable 40 point thrust at unwary opponents.

Worthington, like the Lions, has split a pair of CBL encounters so far this year, but the Lions will have what advantage there is to be gained from playing on their home court.

Bexley has been able to hold their own in recent encounters, mainly because Swinehart has been able to come up with a different boy each game to lead the offense. Last week, it was Bob Kass. A couple of games before that, it was Frank Eiferman who supplied the needed scoring punch.

Whitehall has had far more downs than ups thus far this year.

The Ram contingent presently finds itself without a single CBL win and only one victory all year long.

Yet Shook Moreland has his aggregate scoring at an appreciable rate. Thus far, the Rams have poured 219 points through the hoops in four games just slightly less than defensive tactics have allowed.

Ken Merriman, with 50, and Ron Neutzling, with 46, have carried the brunt of the scoring load, but other mates have been around to help.

Mt. Vernon and Delaware, the Rams week-end adversaries, likewise have yet to win in the CBL. If Mooreland and company are to make their move this year, this would be the most likely time to do it.

Geographically speaking, the "twain" of East and West may never meet, but Eastmoor takes on all city league comers, and travels from one end of town to the other Friday and Saturday.

West finds itself in the same predicament as Eastmoor, with single losses and wins in loop play. East, on the other hand, has an unblemished city record. The Warriors will be out to change that.

Eastmoor has been separated from the two opponents it has played thus far by only three points. They lost to Central by two, beat South by one.

The offense will be forced to open up, if the heart-thumping battles are to be ended.

The Warrior band is beginning to resolve itself into a city league style threat, and if that compares to its football dynasty, enough is said.

Junior Leaguers To Sponsor Film

All proceeds will be given to the Y building fund, according to Mrs. Ruth Spurlock, club president.

College Info Now Available At Center

Representing institutions of all sizes, including every major state university, private universities, and a number of smaller excellently rated colleges, these catalogues present vital material on admission costs, standards, living conditions, ciriculum and scholarships.

Catalogues may be checked out by teen agers for a period of one week by calling Marvin Bienstock, teenage director or by coming directly to him at the Center.

In addition, the Center and TAC are proud to announce the gift of the B'nai B'rith College Finder by the B'nai B'rith Women's Lodge. This material is available for use at the Center.

A knife with a flat grind will be easier to sharpen than one that is hollow grind, say extension home management specialists at OSU. A flat grind can be recognized very easily by looking at the blade from the top. It will have the appearance of a "V."

JUNIOR CHECKER CHAMP

EAST COLUMBUS WINNER—Mary Rhyan, representing East Columbus Recreation Center, played a lot of checkers last week. She won the East Side sectional championship in the junior girls division, but she lost in the finals the next night. She posted a 7-2 record during the two-night session. Mary was a runner up last year too but in the intermediate girls' division.

Humane Pet Good Gift

Thomas C. Justice, general manager of the Humane Society of the City of Columbus, extended a welcome to the general public last week to visit the Animal Shelter, 2770 Groveport-pk.

The Animal Shelter is open every day during the week, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., including Sunday.

"This should give everyone an opportunity to visit the Shelter and select a pet in time for Christmas giving," Justice said.

Many kittens, puppies and older dogs are waiting to be taken into a welcome home. These animals have been thoroughly checked by shelter veterinarians.

Puppies have been given temporary distemper shots and the dogs have been innoculated against rabies.

BEXLEY GAINS NOD OVER WHITEHALL

Eastern Area Quintets Snag Five Wins

WARRIORS TAG SOUTH IN OVERTIME

It was too bad that Whitehall had to play Bexley last week, otherwise an all victorious week-end might have been on tap in the Eastern area.

St. Charles nabbed a win over Springfield Catholic, 35 to 28; Eastmoor downed South, 46-45; Bishop Hartley ran over two opponents, Academy 62 to 54, and Holy Family, 62 to 37.

But since each game has only one winner, in this case Bexley, by a 56 to 53 margin, the Rams ended up with the only loss in the five encounters.

The Lion-Ram fracas was as close as the score indicated.

After opening up a five point first quarter margin, the Lions watched the lead shrivel to three markers at the half. At the start of the last frame, the Lions were on the short end of a 42 to 39 count.

WHITEHALL—Gornall, 1-0-2; Merriman, 1-3-5; Millington, 6-4-16; Neutzling, 2-6-10; Wiley, 5-1-11; Bang, 4-0-8; Leonard, 0-1-1. Totals — 19-16-53.

With the Springfield win notched under their belts, St. Charles found itself riding at the top of the CCL ladder along with Watterson and Bishop Hartley.

The battle opened on a slow note, with the Cards eking out a nine to five first stanza advantage.

They garnered only nine more in the second frame but held their opponents to six. Springfield climbed to within two points during the third canto, but slackened their pace as the Cards piled up an 11-point final quarter effort.

Earl Vermillion's Harley forces finally found themselves after a slow season start and wound up riding into the CCL lead before the week-end was over.

In both games, the Hawks surged to 62 point efforts.

Against Academy, the Hawks had a rougher row to hoe than against loop opponent Holy Family. The two quintets raced to an eight first quarter standoff, but Hartley managed to gain a three point first half edge.

The road got a little smoother in the third stanza, when Hartley exploded for 20 points. They added another 20 in the final period to win going away.

Against Holy Family Saturday night, the Hawks kept right on going. Family managed only two points in the first quarter while the Hawks rang up 13.

By the half, Hartley held a 34 to 11 edge and smoothly shaped the lead into a bigger wedge in the last half when they garnered 38 more tallies.

At Eastmoor, Bob Benjamin stepped up to the free throw line with only seconds remaining and calmly put the game into an overtime sprint by sinking both shots to tie up the game, 41 to 41.

Both the Warriors and South dumped a pair of buckets through in the OT, but a Frank Stavroff foul shot proved to be the winning edge.

The game stayed hot all the way through. At half time the margin was to South by only 19 to 17. At the end of the third frame Eastmoor had rallied enough to tie it up 29 to 29.

Big 'Snowflake Swirl' On Everyone's Mind

The big dance of the winter, the Snowflake Swirl, is the object of much conversation. The dance, to be held in the cafeteria from 8 to 11 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 21, is sponsored annually by the Future Teachers of America. The theme will be "Winter Wonderland." Mr. William Banks is adviser.

The eighth grade's annual Christmas dance, the Jingle Bell Ball, will be held Thursday, Dec. 22 from 7:30 to 10 p.m. on the auditorium stage. Refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

Dec. 6 found 31 senior girls competing in the Betty Crocker Scholarship Test. The winner will receive a pin made specially for her and a chance to go on in the competition. The national winner will receive a $5000 scholarship. A home economics background is not required.

The Girls' Athletic Association is participating in intramural basketball and is forming a varsity basketball team. Players will be announced later.

An awards assembly was held Dec. 9 to honor about 70 members of the varsity, reserve, and ninth grade football teams. No four-year awards will be made this year.

The following seniors are to receive the blanket, given to three-year lettermen: Jerry Millington, Randy Welsch, Larry Drake, Dan Gartner, and Don Justice.

Second-year awards, medals, were given four boys and first year-awards, letters, were given to 11 boys.

Yearling Players, the dramatics club, has elected the following officers: president Carol Smith; vice-president, Rick Adams; secretary, Sherry Hargraves; and treasurer, Pat Quigley. The club expects to give a play for one of the elementary schools and to help in the annual play in the spring.

Jewish Center Teen Agers Discuss College Plans

Over 60 adults and teenagers participated Sunday, Dec. 4, in the Jewish Center Teen Age Council experiment in education, "So You Want to go to College," moderated by Dr. Jerry Weiner.

The four panelists, covering the broad scope of college issues, included Mr. Williams, director of admissions at Ohio University; Dean Schaaf, dean of student counciling, Capital University; Miss Miller, student councellor, Eastmoor High School; Miss Zains, president Women's Student Government Association, Ohio State University.

High lighting the afternoon was a presentation to the Jewish Center and the Teen Age Council by the B'nai B'rith Women's Lodge of the B'nai B'rith College Finder, a complete vocational and educational guide.

Announcement was made of a forthcoming "Work-A-Day" program, to be co-sponsored by the Jewish Center, TAC, and B'nai B'rith. Under this program, a resource unit of 25 adults from a wide span of occupations will take teens on the job for a day. A full presentation of this program plus opportunity for interested teens to sign up will be available in mid-January.

Award Winners Give Address

Joel Ziskind and Barry Kayne, winners of the Herman Schottenstein Memorial Award of a trip to Israel, addressed the Agudas Achim Congregation of the annual Agudas Achim Youth Sabbath Dec. 9.

Joel, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ziskind, and Barry who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kayne, spent the summer touring Israel with a group from the Yeshive University Synagogue Council Youth.

The two young men were chosen as the recipients of the Herman Schottenstein Memorial Award because of their outstanding service to the Agudas Achim Synagogue and because of their participation in all phases of synagogue and youth activity.

Golden Child In Gold Rush Theme Of Christmas Opera

An original Christmas opera, "The Golden Child," will be presented on the "Hall of Fame," Channel 4, Friday, Dec. 16, at 8:30 p.m.

A migrating Iowa family seeking refuge on Christmas Eve, 1849 at Sutters Fort in California, provides the background. The plot concerns the miner's greed for gold, as they fight the family for the supposed wealth they are carrying.

Patricia Neway, Brenda Lewis, Stephen Douglass and special guest, Jerome Hines, will co-star. Miss Neway is a leading soprano of the New York City Center Opera and a star of Broadway musicals.

Jerome Hines will sing the role of Captain John Sutter. Hines has been a distinguished basso star of the Metropolitan for several years.

The coming of Christ and His history from birth to the Sermon on the Mount will be told on Project 20, Wednesday, Dec. 21, at 8:30 on Channel 4.

The Project 20 technique of stop-motion will be used with great religious art and music from all over the world.

The first of the big bowl games will be played in Philadelphia Stadium Saturday, Dec. 17. It will be carried at 12:45 p.m. on Channel 4. Penn State and Oregon will meet in the second game of the series.

Red Skelton will present an all-pantomime show on Tuesday, Dec. 20, at 9:30 p.m. on Channel 10.

Jewish Center Schedules Tween Vacation Program

A new program for Tweenagers of the Columbus Jewish Center has been announced for the winter vacation from Monday, Dec. 25 through Friday, Dec. 30 by Mrs. Julius Margulies, Tweenage Activities Committee Chairman.

The program is called Tween Winterama, and is a package deal of five days of programming for Tweens offering bowling, skin diving and intramural water sports, paper sculptoring and folk dancing.

Also included are a theater party to Walt Disney's Swiss Family Robinson; and the Columbus Symphony Orchestra's concert "Hansel and Gretel" will also be on the agenda, along with the play "Cinderella" presented on the Jewish Center Stage by the Gallery Players.

Mrs. Margulies stated that the program was a group-planned function, similar to the Summer Tween Camp. Coed groups of ten tweens each will be formed under an advisor.

Tweens will have to bring their own lunch but milk and cookies will be furnished during the program. Interested tweens and their parents may call BE. 1-2731 for further information and a free brochure on Tween Winterrama.

Bexley High School LION's ROAR

By Phyllis Schechter

Bexley 'Press' Scores At Local Convention

At the High School Press Club of Central Ohio Convention held at Ohio State University on Dec. 10, Bexley took the awards.

Jack Meyer received the first-place trophy for his story on the interview of Tom Matte and Jim Herbstreit by Woody Hayes, Ohio State Football Coach.

Ellen Drum and Jeri Lazear won a second place certificate for their feature story.

Karen Mercer won a third place certificate for her sports feature.

Orphan's Party, Y-Teens traditional Christmas project, will be held Monday, Dec. 19.

The children will be brought to the party from Hannah Neil Mission.

"Career Day," Nancy Samson, president of Y-Teens, announced, will be Jan. 16. Speakers from various occupations will be featured.

Dramatics Club members will provide Christmas entertainment at Children's Hospital on Dec. 19.

The group will put on a 45-minute skit for the children, starting at 7:15 p.m.

Due to visiting rules at the hospital, only juniors and seniors will take part in the Christmas program, headed by Rozzy Siegel, a junior.

Future Teachers of America at Bexley are initiating a new program of student observation in the grade schools.

During study periods, FTA members will be able to visit classrooms in the Cassingham Elementary and Junior High School next door.

"Besides observing the classes, FTA members will also be authorized to give the teacher any help she may request," said Ellen Drum, FTA president.

Phyllis Schechter is in charge of making arrangements for the new program which will go into effect in the near future.

Bexley High School students are headed for scattered vacation spots over the Christmas holidays.

Among the Bexleyites headed south to Florida are Sherry Shamansky, Harriet Davidori, Carole South, Patty Troyer, Marcia Blue, and Suzy Roth.

New York City beckons Phil Levine. Phil will visit Greenwich Village and Birdland. Gay Gillispie will attend a Sub-Deb party in Bedford, a suburb of New York.

The "Windy City" will greet Betty Harris and Donnie Ruben. Betty will be moving to Chicago at the end of the school year. Donnie will be at a youth convention where Count Basie and Pearl Bailey will entertain. Jeff Brandon will also be in Chicago.

Susan McNaughton will journey west to Winter Park, a ski resort outside Denver, Colorado.

Brian Michailson, Terry Thall, and Jeri Lazear are headed for Indiana. Brian will be in Indianapolis, Terry in Gary, and Jeri in South Bend, Indiana.

Ohio has proven an attraction to Bexleyites. Marilyn Moffatt is going to Cambridge, Barb Tennebaum to Toledo, Andy Tsitouris to Newark, and Judy Rogers to Chillicothe.

A NEED FOR THESE

The Whitehall Fire Department has announced that a need exists for a little girl's clothing, size 4, and for shoes for a 4-year old girl.

Response to last week's "Need For These" resulted in three carloads of clothing being made available to a "burned out" family.

Shoe clerk's law: The size of the shoe is in indirect proportion to the size of a lady's foot.

New Houses At Blacklick

Two shelter houses, costing an estimated $8400, will be constructed at Blacklick Woods to relieve present overtaxing of existing shelters.

The shelters are to include metered electric service for cooking appliances.

An additional service building for storage of maintenance is included in the plans.

Extensive improvements are also contemplated in the underground drainage system to take care of excess storm and surface drainage in the picnic area.

Capital University Gets Gift Grant Totaling $200,000

The announcement of two gifts of $100,000 each toward the construction of new campus buildings highlighted the recent Capital University Board of Regents meeting.

Other action included accepting preliminary drawings for two buildings; upping the ceilings for professors' salaries by $500; increasing tuition, board and room rates; and increasing scholarships and other financial aids.

A 91-year-old retired farmer, Julius Schaaf, of Berea, made a gift of $100,000 toward the construction of a men's residence hall. The new residence, to house 100 men, was one of two buildings which got the green light from the board for construction next year.

The residence hall will be started in June, with completion scheduled by the fall of 1962. Total construction cost was estimated at $425,000. The building will be named in honor of Schaaf and his deceased wife.

The other $100,000 was a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Saylor, also of Berea. Saylor is head of the Bagley Road Lumber Company. The $100,000 will go toward the construction of a new administration building to be named in honor of Dr. Harold L. Yochum, College President.

Construction of the new administration building is expected in 1963 following the building of a new girls' gymnasium.

The other building projects approved by the board for next year are the construction of a new President's home and the conversion of the present President's home into a clinic. The two projects are expected to cost a total of $60,000. Both are scheduled for completion by the end of 1961.

The salary ceiling for full professors was raised to $8,000. Associate professors' pay ceiling was upped to $7,500 and assistant professors, $7,000.

Dr. Yochum announced that the $500 was an interim adjustment effective Jan. 1, 1961. A further increase in ceilings is planned as of July 1, according to the President.

At the same time, the Board of Regents, in line with other Ohio colleges, approved increases in tuition, room and board for the school year. Tuition increased $100, from $800 to $900; room for men residence halls $30, from $190 to $220; room for women residence halls $50, from $190, to $240; and board $15, from $385 to $400.

Starting Jan. 1, the Seminary will have its own seven-member Board of Regents. Elected chairman of the blue ribbon board was the Rev. Charles Lange, pastor of Christ Lutheran Church in Columbus.

Dr. Irvin F. Young, assistant superintendent of Columbus schools in charge of personnel, was elected chairman of the Capital University Board of Regents. He replaces Dr. Leo F. Reinarts, of Middletown, who retired after serving on the board for 24 years. Dr. Young was chairman of the board in 1955-57.

'No Park' Signs Set At Bexley

New "there'll be no parking between the hours of" signs are due to be seen soon in Bexley.

For the present, the signs will exist along the south side of E. Main-st, between Alum Creek and College-av. But, said Mayor William Schneider, council has taken under consideration a need for the signs up and down the length of E. Main.

Council, Monday night, authorized the signs to be designated for "no parking" between the hours of 4 to 6 p.m. If more signs are to be included, Schneider said, those along the south side of Main will read the same, designate the same hours, while those installed along the north side of Main would disallow parking from 7 to 9 a.m.

In other action, solons gave approval for the purchase of a cruiser and heard that a suit for $11,000 against the city by resident William Schumacher, had been dropped.

Schumacher, Schneider said, had slipped and fell on ice in January of 1957.

The Spectator
By C.C. Hartley

As I Remember Christmas . . .

My thoughts go back to the earliest Christmas I can remember . . . down in Jackson County, W. Va., a couple miles back in the hills from the Ohio River . . . where I later discovered that the old gent known as Santa, who came in with his jovial "Haw, haw, haw," and wearing a flour sack over his head, and true to tradition had his middle overstuffed with pillows, was none other than Grandpa.

From a feed sack thrown over his shoulder he dispensed the gifts . . . only to the youngsters because he had nothing for anyone else . . . but what a wonderful thing it was . . . so little was appreciated so much . . . a stick of peppermint candy . . . a couple oranges and a small bag of English walnuts and filberts . . . a small gyroscope that mystified me no end . . . These were his gifts. But Christmas has never been happier!

Other Christmases a few years later have an important place in memory too . . . The ones when the family took its semi-annual trip to Huntington, nine miles south, and when mother purchased some of the goodies for the really fine old-time Christmas.

This was when we bought fireworks from the corner fruit stand . . . yes, fireworks at Christmas, not the Fourth of July. And on Christmas eve in our front yard we shot off Roman candles, squibs, sparklers and giant crackers and launched our sky rockets from a snow bank in typical Cape Canaveral style.

Came Christmas Day and the event that warms the heart to even think of it . . . Christmas dinner at another Grandpa's . . . in the big house filled with lots of kids and adults, lots of the sounds that go with the season and aromas from the kitchen that have never since been matched.

After Grandpa had returned thanks came the piece de resistance . . . always the first course was oyster stew in whatever proportions you could consume, loaded with those small salty oyster crackers whose goodness would top even the delicacy of the French pastries from Henrici's . . . then big portions of roast chicken, sage dressing and gravy, exceeded only by the mound of snowy white mashed potatoes . . . and another delicacy, celery—so crunchy that the symphony coming from the table drowned out the sounds of small Christmas bells hung round the house.

This was Christmas. Today it is slightly different . . . different sounds, a lot more varieties of food, many, too many gifts . . . but the spirit is the thing!

Thank God for the good things of Christmas, old or new, and pause to reflect that it starts within one's self. All that you receive in joy will be in direct proportion to what is in the heart. May the bells ring out with happiness for you and yours!

NO SESQUI PLANNED AT TRURO TOWNSHIP

No celebration of Truro Township's sesquicentennial will be held this year, according to Holmes Hummell, Brice, one of the township trustees.

Citing the difficulties of setting up a program at this late season of the year, Hummell did not close the door on the possibility of setting up a celebration for next year.

Discovery of the anniversary late in the year meant that the date of any possible anniversary program would have to be held in the holiday season and face the prospect of bad weather holding down the crowds, he stated.

CCL Lead Up For Grabs In Hawks, Cards Duel

RAMS ON ROAD FOR TWO

A light agenda faces Eastern sector cage squads this week as the holiday season approaches, but it figures to be heavy going in the Central Catholic League, where two surprisingly stalwart legions will slub it out toe to toe.

It may be too early in the infant cage season to term the Bishop Hartley-St. Charles fray Friday night a "croocial" one, but it may be just the added incentive the winner of the duel will need to "go all the way," as the saying goes.

In other encounters throughout the area, Eastmoor dons traveling battle togs to take a week off from City League play for a snap at Athens Bulldogs.

Whitehall figures to have its hands full during the coming week with two upcoming games Friday.

Bexley ended its pre-holiday season last night at Delaware and will not take to the hardwood again until Jan. 14, when the Lions meet Grandview.

How does the Hartley-St. Charles battle shape up?

On the basis of performances turned in so far this year, the Hawks must be regarded as the favorite.

The Earl Vermillion scoring machine averages 56 points a game; they have the added experience of having socked away seven games while St. Charles has played but three.

In Steve Warren, the highly touted Hawk center, Vermillion has the top scorer in the CCL with 37 points. Last week against two opponents, Warren notched 48 points.

But to the Cardinals' credit, it must be pointed out that the Hawks have yet to play against such a devastating defense. In their trio of encounters thus far, the men of Jack Ryan have alloted but 97 points, for a measley average of 32 points per game. On the other hand, the Cards have scored merely enough to win.

In Paul and John Bauman, Ryan has a couple of proven floor players. Paul has garnered 24 points in league play while John has notched 16.

In other scoring respects, the Hawks have not been held to less than 45 points, while the Cards have not scored more than 39.

What Eastmoor will do against Athens is anybody's guess. The Warriors have been running hot and cold. Top scorer, thus far, for the Warriors has proven to be Dean Lampros, but even he didn't unwind until last week when he sent 26 points through the nets against West.

Frank Stavroff has shown to be an agile and adaptable player as well as being a consistent scorer. The Warriors can use this "off from league" night encounter, the first one this year.

Whitehall suddenly found itself in two CBL games last week, and now must use the same potent scoring punch against non-league opponents, Chillicothe and Findlay.

Ken Merriman has found the scoring range with consistent game efforts. Thus far, he has racked up 80 points in six tilts. Close behind is Ron Neutzling with 70 markers.

Whitehall's overall record is is not one to make its followers leap for joy, barely hanging on with a .500 average, but the material for high scoring efforts is there if the Rams can only find the proper key to fit the lock on a regular basis.

RAMS 'SNAP TO' WITH PAIR OF WINS; WARRIORS CLOBBER WEST, 82 TO 62

A couple of eager beaver—or, rather bird—quintets find themselves perching delicately upon the top roost in the Central Catholic League following last week's cage battles. Altogether, Eastern Sector squads managed to down six erstwhile oppoonents while being handed only two setbacks in races to ascend various loop ladders.

Both St. Charles and Bishop Hartley came out of league encounters with perfect marks.

The Cardinals found Watterson pickings to their likings and scooted to a 39 to 30 win. The Hawks fended off Newark Catholic, 59-51, but Saturday night against Dennison St. Mary's they were treated to the short end of a 56 to 45 score.

In the City League, Eastmoor continued its up and down ways with a sterling effort against West, 82 to 62, but stumbled against strong East, 62 to 56.

In the fight for Central Buckeye laurels, Bexley found itself just a game shy of first place with a neat 45 to 39 win over Worthington. While Whitehall surged into contention with two fine efforts, blistering Mt. Verson 63 to 53, and swamping Delaware 67 to 38.

Slow charging St. Charles still had enough to ward off Watterson Friday night. The score, in the usual tradition that the Cards have followed so far this season, was a low scoring effort.

The Cards grabbed a 10 to 7 first quarter lead, but Watterson fashioned enough points to send both teams to half-time scores of 14-all.

But, the Bauman brothers, John and Paul, reeled off enough points, 24 between them, to pull out the hard earned verdict.

The Cards played it cool again in the third quarter, in fact almost too cool. Watterson sneaked to a one point edge.

But the Cards proved they had a scoring machine when it was needed and reeled off 19 final quarter markers to sew up the game.

ST. CHARLES—John Bauman, 3-4-10; Paul Bauman, 5-4-14; Rohenbeck, 1-1-3; Gugle, 1-6-8; Morris 1-0-2; Blackburn, 1-0-2. Totals — 12-15-39.

WATTERSON — Dennis, 0-1-1; Doon, 1-2-4; Colonel, 4-0-8; Gary, 2-6-10; Roback, 1-1-3; Watson, 1-2-4. Totals — 9-12-30.

Steve Warren came into his own over the weekend for Bishop Hartley.

He canned 48 points in two night's work, even though the Dennison game was a loser.

Against Newark, the Hawks found themselves leading most of the way but by narrow margins. Newark reeled off five straight points at the start of the final quarter to tie up the tilt, 41-41, when Earl Vermillion's forces shook off their lethergy to win going away.

NEWARK CATHOLIC—Rogers, 5-1-11; Fitzpatrick, 1-3-5; Moats, 1-0-2; Brown, 7-2-16; Shafer, 5-2-12; Killeen, 0-2-2; Haycock, 1-1-3. Totals — 20-11-51.

HARTLEY — Harkless, 2-0-4; Mattick, 5-1-11; Warren, 8-8-24; Mackin, 4-3-11; Burman, 3-1-7; Gantner, 1-0-2; Hanf, 0-0-0. Totals — 23-13-59.

Newark Catholic	13	24	36	51

Hartley just couldn't get started against Dennison, although Warren managed to equal his previous night's efforts. The Hawks trailed all the way after failing to penetrate Dennison's nimble defense.

"Shook" Mooreland finally got his Whitehall Rams to find the range and they did so in a big way sweeping past two opponents, notching better than 60 points in both encounters.

Ken Merriman and Ron Neutzling led the way past Mt. Vernon with 15 and 11 point efforts, respectively.

The Yellow Jackets caused a few discomforting moments among Ram followers before the Whitehall contingent managed to pull the game out.

The Rams squeezed to a 12 to 10 first quarter edge then watched it dwindle away as the Jackets swarmed through 16 markers in a fast scoring second quarter.

By the end of the third frame, the score stood at 43-all. The Rams put on a blazing finish, notching 20 points through the hoops while holding Mt. Vernon to ten.

WHITEHALL — Bang, 8-5-21; Gornall, 2-2-6; Leonard, 1-0-2; Merriman, 6-3-15; Millington, 0-2-2; Sompres, 1-0-2; Neutzling, 4-3-11; Wiley, 2-0-4. Totals — 24-15-63.

The following night, against lowly Delaware, the Rams had a breeze. They opened up a seven point first quarter edge, widened it to 27 to 19 at half time, then coasted the rest of the way en route to a 67 to 38 verdict.

Delaware could do nothing right in the final half, and the Rams could do nothing wrong. Fire power for the Rams was ignited by Merriman with 18 points.

Agains West the following night, Eastmoor did a complete turnabout, notching 50 per cent of their shots.

Lamprose proved to be the big gun with 26 tallies. Stavroff came through with 10.

The game was fairly tight until the second half. The Warriors sant a 25-point barrage through the nets in the third quarter and added 19 more in the final stanza.

Christmas Season Glows With Music And Worship

By Charles Rampp

Christmas Eve Services and music will highlight TV's coverage of the holiday celebration. A candlelight musical festival from the Washington Episcopal Cathedral will be the earliest on the screen, at 9:30 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 24 on Channel 4.

At 11:15 p.m. Russian Orthodox Christmas hymns sung by the choir of Three Saints Church, Garfield, N.J., will be telecast by Channel 10, with a Christmas Eve Service from the Dutch Reform Church of Flatlands Long Island, presented at 11:30, on Channel 10.

Midnight Mass from St. Patrick's Cathedral will be narrated for TV by Monsignor Timothy White, on Channel 4 at midnight. The Cathedral College Choir will sing.

At 12:30 a.m. Christmas morning, Channel 10 has scheduled "The West Is Bright," a crib and carol service from the San Diego Franciscan Mission, California.

Christmas Startime, with Leonard Bernstein as host, will feature the New York Philharmonic, Marian Anderson, the St. Paul's Cathedral Boy's Choir of London and Schola Cantorum of New York. Presented by Channel 10, Sunday, Dec. 25 at 5 p.m., the show will be in color.

Mrs. Charles Black, better known as Shirley Temple, will join her three children, Linda, Lori and Charles as they narrate the musical, "Babes In Toyland," on Channel 4, 7 p.m. Christmas Day.

Shirley will play a starring role as Fioretta, a beloved gypsy witch. Victor Herbert was the author and composer.

Dinah Shore will present "Christmas Around the World" on her Christmas Program, seen at 9 p.m. on Channel 4.

Amahal and the Night Visitors will receive its tenth annual Christmas telecast, 4 p.m. on Channel 4. Authored by Gian Carlo Menotti, the opera will star Rosemary Kuhlman and Kirk Jordan.

The story tells of Amahl, a crippled shepherd and his poverty stricken mother, When the three kings stop at their rude hut for a night's lodging, and tell the boy and his mother of the birth of Christ, Amahl offers his only valuable possession, his crutch, as a gift to the Christ Child.

The Telephone Hour, also seen on Channel 4 presents "The Night Before Christmas" on Friday, Dec. 23, at 9 p.m. Maureen O'Hara as the hostess will present Rise Stevens, John Raitt and the dancers of the American Ballet Theatre, along with the Columbus Boy Choir.

Traditional Yuletide carols and dances will be featured, as Miss O'Hara sings several carols of her native Ireland, and Miss Stevens and John Raitt sing the familiar Christmas songs.

Ed Sullivan's annual Christmas Show will feature singer Alfred Drake, opera star Roberta Peters, the Bill and Cora Baird Puppets and the Robert Shaw Carole. Sullivan will appear at his usual time, 8 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 25, on Channel 10.

The Other Wise Man, a classic Christmas tale, written by Henry Van Dyke and newly adapted to TV will be seen on the General Electric Theatre, 9 p.m., Sunday, Dec. 25, on Channel 10.

POSTING CARDS AT HARTLEY

PRETTY POSTMEN—Members of the Catholic Student Mission Crusade at Bishop Hartley High School have come up with a neat innovation in distributing Christmas cards among students. The money collected will be donated to a church.

Air Disaster Claims Four Local People

Three Bexley residents and an east side man were among the 20 Ohioans who lost their lives in the New York air disaster last Friday.

They were:

Augustine Ferrar, 25, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ferrar, 314 N. Stanberry-rd. Miss Ferrar was a hostess on United Airlines plane.

Alex E. Gringold, 45, 356 S. Hampton.

Robert S. Connell, 24, 115 N. Cassingham-rd., a graduate student at Ohio State University and a former Bexley and Ohio State swimming star.

Dr. Robert N. Watman, 41, 253 N. Remington-rd, associate professor of surgery at Ohio State and a staff member at University Hospital.

The body of Gingold is the only one among these to be released to date. It was shipped to Detroit for funeral services there Tuesday.

He was a member of the Jewish Center, Tifereth Israel and co-chairman of the Columbus Market Committee of the Men's Apparel Club of Ohio.

Arrangements have not yet been completed for the other victims.

United Needs Study Picks Chairman

The appointment of J. Lawrence McNealey as chairman of the Capital Needs Study for social agencies was announced Dec. 20 by Dean Phillips, president of United Community Council.

McNealey, 950 Fairway, who is vice-president of operations for the Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co., is a trustee and a member of the budget and admissions committee of U.C.C.

The purpose of the study is to find out the needs of local health, welfare and recreation agencies for building repair or replacement.

Check These Steps For Safe Christmas

A reminder from the Whitehall Fire Department: be careful this Christmas if you want to see the New Year in.

And here's how to do it:

Stand the tree in water or snow outdoors until you're ready to use it indoors.

Bring the tree indoors just before Christmas and take it out as soon afterwards as possible. (December 26 is recommended.)

Just before setting up the tree, saw off the trunk at an angle at least one inch above the original cut.

Place the freshly cut tree trunk in water and keep level of water above the cut the entire time the tree is indoors. (Check the water level at least once a day for absorption and evaporation.)

Support the tree well. Don't put it near sources of heat (fireplaces, radiators, etc.) or where, standing or fallen, it could block the way out of the room and out of the house in case of fire.

Do not use candles on the tree or nearby where there is any chance for an open flame to contact the tree or combustibles piled beneath the tree.

East Columbus Rec Center Slates Party

East Columbus Recreation Center will present its annual Christmas program Friday, Dec. 23, at 2:30 p.m.

The program (a Christmas prelude) will include a visit from Santa Claus. Friends, parents and the general public are invited.

Whitehall-Yearling RAM-blings

By Sue Barnhill

STRANGE THINGS HAPPEN TO RINGS

On Dec. 12 the jubilant sounds of juniors proudly showing off their rings were heard throughout the school. Of course, strange things soon happened to many of the rings.

They began to appear on neck chains or on hands too small or too large for them.

Many a girl found her gaze wandering from textbook or blackboard to an angora wrapped ring on her left hand, and many a boy sat in class admiring a ring pushed halfway onto a little finger.

The sound of happy juniors hadn't quite died away when the familiar cry of "Anyone want to buy a Ramble?" resounded through the school.

The Ramble, the school newspaper, was sold during homeroom period on Dec. 13. A proud staff reported the sale of 600 copies.

Forty of Whitehall's more hardy students braved the near-zero cold on the evening of Dec. 13 to take part in the Kinder Key caroling sponsored by the Student Council. The money collected by this group will go to help support the heart research clinic at Children's Hospital.

The council wishes to express its appreciation to the community for the donations amounting to $54.

During the past week the Tri-Hi-Y has been collecting Christmas gifts for the patients in the state mental hospital. Candy, soap, cigarettes, costume jewelry, and other items for personal use made up the collection.

On Dec. 14 French students organized the third language club for WYHS.

Officers are as follows: president, Phyllis Levine; vice-president, Carol Levy; secretary, Will Finch; and treasurer, Patty Middleton.

The Christmas assembly, held on the morning of Dec. 22 was comprised of music provided by the choir, the Girls' Glee Club, the Girls' Vocal Ensemble and the ninth grade chorus. Religious and secular songs, made up the program, which ended with "The Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah.

All groups were under the direction of Mr. Richard T. Neikirk.

A Look Fore And Aft Of The New Year

PROGRESS IN '60 LEADS INTO '61

WHAT HAS BEEN —

"How went the year 1960, old timer?"

The tired and wan eyes gazed from wrinkled sockets as the, now, slightly hunched-back figure shifted his weight in the sands, and the mouth that 12 short months ago evoked magnanimous cries for the new year, spoke in halting, slightly stuttering phrases.

"It would be the understatement of the year," the voice smiled, "to say that 1960 was an eventful one."

"Progress was made out here in Columbus' East Side and in Whitehall and in Bexley."

"Yes, old timer, streets got fixed, building increased, a water line started flowing forth."

"And too," the old one said, "don't forget the number of churches going up in the area, and the new schools that emerged from promises to the drawing board.

"Bexley came in for its share of accolades. Of course, rezoning problems got a bit sticky at times. In fact, there's still one going on, if I recollect right.

"But that mayor of theirs, he just keeps going on and on. Seems I remember that he was named 'Best Citizen' in the area."

"Yes, old one, and he also was honored for his 25 years devoted to public service."

"You seem to know a lot about things for such a young one," the figure addressed as the "old one" replied.

"Guess I have to. Some of your problems will be my problems too.

"What about that Courtright School fuss between Columbus and Whitehall?" "Oh, that's still due to come before the courts. But that Yearling-Whitehall did come through with a master plan that should serve them well until 1980."

"Well, old timer, what would you say turned out to be the most newsworthy story of the year?"

The almost spent figure wasted not a minute in hesitation as he replied, "It would have to be that continuing Whitehall feature.

"You see, back in January, the Democrats entered council chambers with a five to two majority in addition to controlling the president's chair.

"Right now, the council status is four to three in favor of the Democrats and the council president's chair is filled by a Republican.

"Two Democrats bowed out and so did the Democratic council president and after a month or so of legal machinations, the present members took over.

"Well, that's about it youngster, I have to be shoving along. Only have a few more hours to go."

"All right, old timer, take it easy—and a Happy New Year."

WHAT WILL BE —

By JOHN POEPPELMEYER

For some reason or the other around this time of the year, everyone likes to join in making resolutions and prognasticiating on what's ahead.

Those in the top echelon of city government and schools are not immune from this "let's take a look into the future" idea.

So lets take a look with them into what is likely to occur in Whitehall and in Bexley during the year 1961.

WHITEHALL'S MOLING:

'WE'LL BE STREET BUSY'

Mayor Walter Moling, of Whitehall, foresees more progress for his city.

Moling stressed that "we will be street busy next year." Already on the agenda are improvements for Hamilton and Yearling-rds. Other improvements include Bernhard, Ross, McCallister, Amelia, Pierce and Rumyon-sts.

Moling also said that he would like to see petitions forthcoming from residents requesting improvements along Maplewood, Collingwood and Robinwood.

"During the forthcoming year," he stated, "the city should see a new municipal building started. In additon," he continued, "Washburn-st bridge will be completed."

The mayor also mentioned that there was a "possibility" that the master plan would be completed.

Along the recreation front, Moling foresees a constantly expanding program. He said that he "couldn't see it slowing down." One of the specifics for the recreation plan, the mayor commented, would be the need for the city to acquire more ground for play areas. At the present time, he related, 700 youngsters take part in the program.

He pointed out that the Little League play area will have to be relocated when the city's new elementary school is erected.

Among other items, the mayor noted that free garbage collection begins Jan. 1 (he explained that residents should place refuse at the curb) if residents want to take advantage of the free pickup. The police force is at its full strength of 24 men the criminal code should go into effect, and, of course, elections.

To round out "the look ahead," Moling exclaimed that he was "already campaigning."

'KEEP THINGS MOVING'

As for Bexley's future within the next immediate 365 days, Mayor William Schneider proclaimed that "we will take them as they come." "The object is," he stressed, "to keep things going."

Probably one of the first items that will entail the city's attention will be a settlement on the United States Trotting Association request to move its offices into the city. The action has been pending for over a month and solons are due to make a decision in January.

Schneider also pointed out that he expects Capital University's expansion plan "to keep moving right along."

The mayor mentioned that the city will probably be voting on $250,000 worth of bonds next fall for the Cassady-av grade crossing. Both Bexley and Columbus are to supply funds for the project.

E. Broad-st, within the city's environs, is due for a face-lifting, Schneider said.

And next fall means elections for auditor Ralph Linscott, councilmen Doyt Bell, W. O. Schoedinger and president Charles Kurtz, Jr.

'MAINTAIN -- IMPROVE'

Whitehall Schools Superintendent Robert Crabbs looks forward to the "continued growth of the city." He bases his conclusions and his prognostications on the fact that a little over 4800 students had been expected in Whitehall schools this past year. "Instead, we have an enrollment of over 5000."

Crabbs said that "to maintain existing standards, along with slight improvements, it will probably be necessary to add a total of approximately 20 rooms by 1963."

Among possible facilities to be expanded, the superintendent said would be the Etna Road School play area or the cafeteria area. 1963 may be the last year that eighth grade classes will be included in the high school, "maybe by as early as 1962."

By that time, he said, all junior high facilities will be located at Rosemore.

With the inclusion of an added elementary and the elimination of the eighth grade from Whitehall-Yearling, rearranging and redistricting plans will have to be made, Crabbs said.

Expansion, too, is designated for the district's curriculum. "We expect to broaden the speech department, home economics and shop courses along with the music program."

To meet the increasing population needs of the area, Crabbs said, "we must be able to hold the line by necessary expansion for children already here in school."

The high school, he said, was designed for a student capacity of 1250. "We already have 1270 here." By the end of 1961, more than 1000 students are expected in grades nine through twelve. "Including the eighth grade, over 1500 will be in the high school. And more by the following year."

Crabbs also expects more stress on language-type laboratories, including an increase in the use of teaching machines. Such items, he stressed, will be attempted on an experimental basis.

"This has not been a hasty decision. We have been studying it for over a year."

He sees a boosting in use of television instruction at Rosemore, both closed and outside circuits. The teachers' in-service training program will get greater emphasis, so that they will be "able to continue to improve their professional training and to acquire experience."

Crabbs also outlined the need for an expanded summer school program at the high school level, and inclusion of a variety of courses in the district's adult education program.

"With the present rate of increase of population and with the facilities we now have available, both quality and quantity are limited," Crabbs said. "It is our duty to maintain the same quality program and to improve some of the educational program."

BEXLEY'S JARVIS:

'PUSH FOR QUALITY'

A "concentration of quality along all fronts," is seen by Bexley School Superintendent E. D. Jarvis.

Jarvis said that he feels that more and more a "laboratory approach to learning" will be taking place.

One thing that Bexley residents can look forward to, or rather, do not have to look forward to, is that the need for more bond issues is over. "Our building program is completed," Dr. Jarvis said.

Along with the language-laboratory approach, Jarvis sees more use being made of teaching machines to supplement instruction, and investigation is being made along the lines of a "master teacher" program.

In such a program, "assistant" teachers are assigned to a particular job such as grading, testing and clerical work. These assistants, Jarvis explained, "would do everything a teacher would except for conducting the learning process."

"It is a case of experts [illegible] ing less expert people for a more proficient overall job. The master teacher [illegible] the others much in the same manner as a captain leads a platoon."

Jarvis also stated that under study at the present time is

What's Ahead In The Next Decade?

Someone has predicted that the world will advance technologically in the next ten years farther than we have advanced in the past 2000 years.

This can be good or it can be tragic.

If there can be some similar advance in our spiritual and human relations we will have little to worry about.

Let's hope, above all else, that we will have the time and will be able to relax and enjoy the beauty of the wonderful music of Christmas when December rolls around each year.

Sound Off in '61

As we enter a new year you perhaps have some frustrations over the fact that you, like a lot of citizens, are getting somewhat disgusted with a lot of things that are happening in our local and national governments, yet all the while you say, I'm just one of 180,000,000."

When the votes were counted in the last election it was brought out very vividly that the country is pretty evenly divided over the role our federal government should play in many domestic issues. The pendulum continues to swing on the local scene, too.

This means that '61 should be a time to "sound off" when you have opinions on matters of government. But when you sound off be sure that the word gets to the proper party. Don't just mumble it under your beard or over your brew. Write or wire your congressman, your senator, your state representative, your councilman, your mayor or county commissioner.

This should be a year of strong development of "Let's Do Something About It." Good government is vital to your welfare. Speak your peace. Sound off in '61!

Get Slick Results!

Things like sleds and ice skates are in demand this time of year. If you have some around the house that are seeing little use, why not turn them into cash? Mrs. James Hartman, 1320 E. Deshler-av, advertised skates in the Hartley Newspapers Classifieds — sold them the day the paper came out. For results call BR. 4-1155.

Kirchner Quiet On Mayor Role

The future mayoralty candidacy of Whitehall Councilman A. C. Kirchner remains doubtful, apparently even to Kirchner himself.

The Third Ward Democratic solon, who has registered his intentions to withdraw from the legislative body, issued a "no comment" statement on whether or not he is still available as a potential front runner this fall.

Kirchner has stated that he would not attend any more council meetings, except as a "spectator." "I may just walk in and publicly announce my decision, and if necessary, I would submit a written resignation."

His reason for resigning, he said, is that "things are too vicious." He did not amplify on the statement.

According to council rules, a member of the body may be expelled if absent from three consecutive regular meetings

CARDS BUMP HAWKS FOR LEAD IN CCL; RAMS LOSE, 87-52

The weather outside was frightful, but the fire that ignited against an aggressive Bishop Hartley five was delightful to St. Charles followers as the Cards raced to first place in the Central Catholic League with a hard won 51 to 43 bombarding of the Hawks.

But the weather outlook and the snows outside proved to be more than eastern sector cage teams could cope with as a meager agenda was the only turnout over the weekend.

Bexley and Eastmoor failed to hit the floor, and only Whitehall ventured to journey to Chillicothe. As it turned out, the Rams "should have stayed home." Chillicothe cagers proved to be poor hosts by subjecting the Rams to an 87 to 52 beating.

Jack Ryan's Cardinals cashed in at the free throw line to throw a snag into Hartley's ambitions for a fifth straight win and top slot in the CCL.

The men of St. Charles found the foul line diet to their liking, and it was here that they "licked" the Hawks.

Thirty-seven times, the Cards had a chance for one-pointers, and they responded with 25 good tries. Larry Rohrenbeck connected on eight foul line attempts and took scoring honors with 16 tallies.

Paul, of the Baumann brothers, netted 13 markers.

Top scorers for the Hawks were Bob Burman with 10 and Steve Warren with 14.

Hartley, too, had its chance at the free throw line, but sank only nine of 21 tries. From the field, the Hawks outdueled the Cards, 17 buckets to 13.

St. Charles grabbed an early lead in the first stanza, then raced even with the Hawks during the second period as each team dumped a dozen pointers through the nets.

In the third quarter, Hartley gained a point, but the Cards came back strong in the fourth period, holding Hartley to 10 while sinking 14.

The win left St. Charles in undisputed possession of first place with three wins. The Hawks fell to a second place tie with Watterson, each with 2-1 records.

Against Chillicothe, Whitehall started slow and got progressively slower.

The "really big" period for Chillicothe was the one after the half. The host team dunked 33 counters while the Rams could manage only 10. Chillicothe kept right on going, notching 19 more points in the fourth quarter while Whitehall eschewed at the nets for 14.

Bruce Bang paced the Rams with 16 points.

Chillicothe, like St. Charles, found they could rarely miss at the free throw line by cashing in on 27 of 37 attempts.

ESPORTS Eastern Review

West Meets Bexley

Squads Take Holiday From League Battle

Warriors At Athens

Eastern sector basketball teams get a holiday from league tribal warfares during this interim between Christmas and New Year's. In fact, if it had not been for last week's snows, only two tilts would be on tap.

Rosary takes on St. Charles Friday night at the Cards home floor.

Eastmoor is scheduled to "make-up" its game at Athens. The skirmish had been slated for last week.

West journeys to Bexley for an out-of-league fray for both squads.

Whitehall, too, hit the hardwood trail this week. In another out of town encounter, the Rams met Findlay last night.

Eastmoor's game with Athens should be a welcome "breather" for the Warriors, not from the standpoint of the caliber of opposition, but from city league play.

The Warriors thus far, have been "hanging in there" but their 2-2 record gives its followers not much to cheer about.

West, bunched with the Warriors and South in the city loop standings, picks on CBL entry Bexley. The Lions, have been offering stalwart opposition in their league, having hung up two of three loop victories.

Not known particularly for its scoring punch nor for a race horse style game, the Lions, never the less, have squeaked to wins three times in five outings overall. The Lions have but a 40 point scoring average in all games.

Riding high atop the CCL standard, St. Charles, who last week opened up and showed Bishop Hartley a dazzling scoring attack, take on County League foe and traditionally-tough, Rosary.

The Cards proved they had it last week, and look better in each outing.

WOMEN FOUNDERS ARE HONORED

RECREATION DEPARTMENT LAURELS—Noted officials honored four women who were responsible for starting the Recreation Department in 1910 recently at the Thompson Recreation Center, the last official ceremony of the Department's 50th anniversary celebration. Left to right: Ollie F. Oelgoetz, of 1280 Medford-rd, president of the Recreation Commission; Margaret McCarty, 3074 Reynoldsburg-New Albany-rd; Harry E. Richter, member of the Recreation Commission; Mrs. A. J. Pembroke, 2381 Fair-av; William Judkins, treasurer of the Anniversary Celebration; Hulda Theobald, 1011 Euclaire-av; Helen E. Roberts, 899 Francis-av; N. J. Barack, superintendent of the Columbus Recreation Department.

Coon Population May Be Smaller

Scott Belt, a veteran Morrow County coon hunter, wonders if other Buckeye hunters share his observations on this year's crop. He reports that most of the 13 animals he has taken this year have been large ones. He deduces that the apparent scarcity of young coons of the year might indicate a poor reproduction season last winter.

CBS To Host New Year's Races

New Year's Kart Championships will be decided this Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the CBS Speedway.

Bexley, Whitehall Junior High Cagers Start League Play

"Basketballitis" has been known to strike almost every age group imaginable.

So, it should come as no surprise that the Junior High Suburban League is hoping for big things as it wends its way into another year.

The loop is divided into two divisions, a la the pros, the Eastern and Western.

In the Eastern section, Bexley and Whitehall will vie with such foes as Gahanna, Hamilton Township, Mifflin and Worthington.

The Western half finds Franklin Heights, Grandview, Grove City, Hilliard, Pleasant View and Upper Arlington chasing laurels.

The teams are composed of eager cagers in grades seven through nine. Games consist of four six-minute quarters with a three-minute overtime and a sudden death overtime in event of ties.

Coaching the Whitehall quintet is Pat McMillin. Mentor for the Bexley squad is Harold Ridenour.

First Round

Jan. 6 — Bexley at Hamilton, Mifflin at Gahanna, Worthington at Whitehall.

Jan. 13 — Bexley at Mifflin, Whitehall at Hamilton, Gahanna at Worthington.

DEVOTES LIFE TO CHARITY

Mollie Rabkin; It Really Is Better To Give Than Receive

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

If this old world ever ran out of spirit of giving, it would only have to knock on the door at 408 E. Fulton-av on Columbus' South Side. It's there in abundance.

Mrs. Mollie Rabkin, 83, sits in the south bedroom of her frame home. She's been paralyzed for the last 10 years and is a victim of sugar diabetes.

Although she is bedridden, her warm smile and reputation for doing good things goes on. And, it'll probably go on for many years to come.

Mrs. Rabkin is a giver. She always has been, according to her son, David, known professionally as Buddy Joyce, a Latin American dancer.

"She's always enjoyed giving," Buddy said, "And she gives everything."

Mrs. Rabkin was placed in a wheel chair some years back after the paralysis set in. One day she called Buddy into her room and said: "Son, there's a lot of unfortunate people at the Franklin County Home. They need this wheel chair. Give it to them."

The Rabkins are, perhaps, the only Jewish family still living in the old Fulton-av district. They've lived there 42 years.

The Rabkins originally came from Russia—more specifically, the small village of Minsk. A newspaper account told the following story of Minsk during World War II:

"Among the Jewish communities most thoroughly 'solved' was Minsk. A doctor writes that of 170,000 Jews there, only nine, including him, survived. He was allowed to live because the German sorting out the cattle trucks had been a former medical student of his."

The going wasn't always easy for the Rabkin family. Mollie's husband, Samuel, scraped together enough money to come over to this country and settled in Columbus.

He later brought the rest of the family over. Besides Buddy, Mrs. Rabkin's other children include Charles, Meyer and Celia.

Charles, a nationally-known entertainer, goes under the name of Charlie Rankin and has appeared on the Ed Sullivan Show doing comedy routines.

While in Russia, Mrs. Rabkin recalled, she saw much suffering. When she came to America she wanted to make people happy and, thus, her charity efforts began.

She is, some believe, the only woman in the world who has ever made two Sefer Torahs. She gave one of them to the Congregation Ahavas Sholom and the other to the Beth Jacob synagogue.

A Sefer Torah is the first five books of the Jewish Bible hand written on parchment. Mrs. Rabkin states that it took approximately two and one-half years to complete one of them.

Presenting a Sefer Torah to a snyagogue is considered one of the highest honors in the Jewish religion.

Mrs. Rabkin became great friends with Rabbi Leopold Z. Greenwald, who passed away some five years ago. Rabbi Greenwald was well known for his 44 books on the Jewish religion and over 500 articles.

It is Mrs. Rabkin's wish to be buried next to the Rabbi, for whom she had so much respect throughout her life.

"I enjoy helping the poor," she murmured in her Russian-Yiddish accent. "It's always been my philosophy that the people of the world, regardless of race, religion or creed, can't help what they're born."

She believes that the world would be a better place if everyone felt this way.

"We have to go now, Mom," Buddy said softly. I'll be back and you and I can dance, okay?"

"Yes," she smiled, her bright eyes twinkling. "We will dance until I'm 90. Until I'm 90. . ."

Solons also have at their discretion the ability to expel a member "with good cause" if actions "within or without" of the council chambers reflects upon the council.

Solicitor James Maxwell stated that he has "not had a chance to examine council rules on the matter, but that he would "reserve an opinion as to whether or not the rules are valid."

Kirchner, this week had charges of assault and battery against him dropped, according to the mayor's office.

Titular Democratic party head Louis Bower, a probable mayor candidate, stated this week that he had "no comment" to make upon Kirchner's decision to quit, adding, "Mr. Kirchner's actions speak louder than anything I could say."

Food costs in 1961 may average no higher than this year, reflecting continued large supplies of food in prospect and continued high consumer income, according to Ohio State University Extension economists.

Resolution

If the Good Lord is willing and will grant me the good health and fortitude to do a few constructive things in 1961 I'll strive to back His kindness up by showing that "I ain't mad at nobody."

Pasadena Rose Parade Leads New Year's Shows

By Charles Rampp

Bigger and better than ever, the Tournament of Roses Parade will be presented Monday, Jan. 2 at 11:30 on Channels 4 and 6.

The pageant—with 60 flowered floats, 20 marching bands, 200 thoroughbred horses, the beautiful Rose Queen and her court of six princesses, a host of Hollywood celebrities and about 1,200 colorfully-clad participants has grown a great deal since its small beginnings in 1890.

Members of the Valley Hunt Club of Pasadena created the pageant and paraded their decorated buggies and surreys before a crowd of 3,000 spectators.

At a conservative estimate 78,600,000 people will see the parade either in person or through TV, magazine and radio coverage.

Dr. Charles Frederick, a famous writer, conceived the idea of the parade and suggested to the Valley Hunt Club that they sponsor it.

Handling commentary for the parade for Channel 6 will be Bob Cummings and Bess Myerson. In addition to the parade, ABC and Channel 6 will have a 20-minute video taped coverage of the previous night's preparations.

The Rose Bowl football game will be seen at 4:45, on Channel 4, Monday, Jan. 2, following the Sugar Bowl Game which is scheduled for 1:30.

Holiday football activity gets underway on Saturday, Dec. 31, as Channel 10 covers the Gator Bowl, at 2 p.m. Florida University will host Baylor.

On Monday, Jan. 2, two bowl games on the docket for Channel 10. At 12:45 p.m. the University of Missouri and Navy will tangle in the Orange Bowl. Both teams have 9-1 records.

Following the Orange Bowl telecast, Channel 10 will pick up the Cotton Bowl, where Arkansas will meet Duke.

Channel 4 will carry the Blue Gray All-Star Game, Sat., Dec. 31 at 1:45 and will follow with the East-West Shrine Game at about 4:45 p.m.

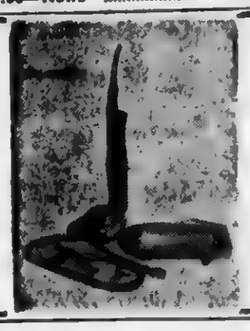
"Play of the Week" will be "The House of Bernarda Alba," by Fredrico Garcia Lorca, one of the most powerful of modern playwrights. This play is the greatest of modern Spanish tragedies and one of the most realistic and lyric of the contemporary stage.

Ann Revere will star, and the play will be seen at 11:30 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 1 on Channel 10.

A new FM station, WRFD-FM will begin broadcast activities Jan. 1. The new station will be the most powerful frequency modulation station in Ohio and one of the largest in the nation. It will broadcast on a full time basis with a 6 a.m. sign on and a 1 a.m. sign-off time.

Herbert E. Evans, president of the People Broadcasting Corporation which owns the station announces that a varied series of programs with some experimental ventures into new types of programming will be presented.

"Years of Crisis," a traditional roundtable report by CBS news correspondents called home from posts abroad will be broadcast Thursday, Dec. 29 at 10 p.m. on Channel 10. Ed Murrow will be moderator.



Summaries of 1960's greatest news stories, domestic and foreign and reports on 1961's possible news events will be made.

ASK THIS FAMILY ABOUT NATURAL GAS

ASK MARTHA, HOUSEWIFE, AT HOME . . .
This family knows about natural gas. Ask Martha, mother and housewife. Gas heats and air conditions her home. She cooks with gas. Her family has a gas refrigerator and a gas incinerator. Gas helps her with her laundry by heating water and drying clothes.
Like hundreds of thousands of other Ohio homemakers, Martha relies on dependable natural gas that is available in this area in abundant quantities — at rates that are among the lowest in the nation.
Gas does it better — for less!

$5000 Fire Destroys Apartment

A fire, which heavily damaged a five-room apartment at 516 S. Yearling-rd, routed an expectant mother and her 18-month-old daughter last Friday.

The Yearling-rd address, in Whitehall, is above the Yearling Market and Carry-Out, owned by Councilman Alfred Kirchner.

Mrs. Rita Cupp, 21, carried her daughter, Ginger Lynn, to safety after notifying the people in the downstairs store. Her husband, Ray, 20, was at work when the blaze broke out.

Plumbers had been working in the basement and smelled smoke. Firemen were called and searched for the flames.

The blaze apparently started in the basement where the plumbers were thawing frozen pipes with a blow-torch, according to Whitehall Fire Chief Arthur T. Reddy.

He said the fire burned up through the walls and broke out in the bathroom of the apartment.

Fire Lt. William Boggess said customers were still shopping in the store while firemen were upstairs putting out the blaze. Loss was estimated at $5000 to the apartment with some water damage to the store, Reddy said.

The family lost most of their belongings except for some Christmas presents for the little girl which were in a closet.

Senior Citizens Apartment Site Eyed In Bexley

By John Poeppelmeyer

The United States Trotting Association office question has not yet been settled by Bexley legislators and another upcoming zoning issue appears to be in the making.

A Senior Citizens apartment project is scheduled to be discussed in council chambers Tuesday night, the same night that solons have agreed to make a final decision on the move to relocate the USTA office.

According to information received by Mayor William Schneider, Hanford Associates are planning to develop a three-floor, 34-apartment building along the west side of Sheridan-av, near Astor.

Schneider said that the contemplated building is expected to be 50 by 165 feet. The mayor said that the building will contain more rooms in addition to the 34, with "a couple" of rooms being used as general living or "get-together" quarters.

Schneider says that he understands the apartments will be available to persons near the age of 65.

The tract eyed by the developer at the present time is zoned for duplexes, Schneider said. In order for the Senior Citizens apartment to be erected, the zoning classification would have to be altered to include multiple family dwellings, according to Schneider.

Starling Hanford, of Hanford Associates, stated that he did not wish to discuss the matter until he had officially presented his plans before council.

Meanwhile, council attention will also be focused on the pending USTA measure.

At a public hearing last November, nearly 100 citizens from the area of Merkle and Gouldrds, where USTA officials are planning to build a $450,000 building, appeared to protest the zoning.

Bexley at that time delayed making any conclusive say-so and were willing to mull the matter over until after the first of the year.

During the interim, a Whitehall councilman, Loren Mason, has made known that he would try to attract the USTA to his city in the event Bexley turned the Trotters down. Mason said Wednesday that he was keeping an eye on developments in Bexley.

But according to a USTA official; two sites were in mind at the time they decided to request the move to Bexley. The USTA is presently located along E. Broad-st, near Linwood-av. However, the official stipulated that "the other site was not in Whitehall."

AND MUCH MORE — See Page 7 as Hartley Newspapers' camera focuses on the winter beauty of snow and tries to answer the question: "What Can We Do With It Now That It's Here."

Can Spring Be Far Behind?

More snow, slush, winter . . . but Saturday's mail brings the brightest ray of hope . . . my annual colorful Burpee seed catalogue.

Out where the snow is now piled two feet high will be transformed with those very brilliant giant zinnias, "all colors in a lovely blend." And what finer tonic than a salad plucked right from the back cover . . . greenhart lettuce, big boy tomatoes, and a nine inch cucumber!

The beauty of a winter wonderland such as we experienced on the first day of the new year is exceeded only by the reawakening of spring.

Organizations Unhappy With State Tax Department

A number of organizations that have collected sales tax stamps for redemption by the state have recently become quite perturbed at the fact that they are notified the state has refused to give them credit for certain stamps.

Local clubs have received a letter stating it something like this: "we find that stamps in the amount of $1105.99 are not redeemable."

Groups receiving such letters have later followed up to ask about the stamps in question only to find that the department claims the stamps have since been destroyed and there is nothing the group can do but accept the word of the department.

This is a pill that's hard to take. If the state is going to reject certain stamps it would appear they should have the decency to retain the rejected stamps as proof that they did not comply with the law.

Be Americans In '61

Somewhere in my rounds I picked up the following, author unknown, but feel it could well serve as a creed for good Americans everywhere as the new year starts:

My Creed

"I do not choose to be a common man or woman. It is my right to be uncommon if I can. I seek opportunity —not security. I do not wish to be a kept citizen, humbled and dulled by having the state look after me. I want to take the calculated risk; to dream and to build, to fail and to succeed. I refuse to barter incentive for ...le; I prefer the challenge ...fe to the guaranteed ex...ce; the thrill of fulfill...t to the stale calm of ...ia. I will not trade freedom for beneficence nor my ...ity for a handout. I never cower before any ...er nor bend to any ...st. It is my heritage to ...d erect, proud and unafraid; to think and act for ...self, enjoying the benefit ...my creations and to face the world boldly and say: ... with God's help, I have ... All this is what it ...s to be an American."

THIRD WARD'S KIRCHNER SITS IN

Whitehall Solons Disagree: To Shovel Or Not To Shovel

Snow, the removal of it, and Al Kirchner, his appearance, proved to be the big surprise as Whitehall solons got together for the first meeting of the year.

Kirchner, who only last week declared that he planned to resign as Third Ward representative and would appear at council sessions only as a spectator, maintained his equanimity and poise even though other solons broke out in heated discussions at times.

As to his future plans, Kirchner remained mum on any speculating questions, issuing only "no comment" statements.

A Richard Hyatt sponsored ordinance was the cause of one of the evening's heated discussions. The bill calls for residents to clear snow and ice from sidewalks before 10 a.m. each day. If walks are unpaved, a four foot swath is to be shoveled. Fines of not more than $50 would be imposed on any violator.

When the measure was put up on a suspension of the rules basis, councilmen Orton Davis, Ken McIntosh, Robert Garnon and Kirchner voted "no with Loren Mason abstaining.

Garnon stated that he opposed the measure since, as Second Ward councilman, he felt that the ordinance was directed at his segment of the city "which has a large part of the sidewalks."

Solicitor James Maxwell intervened to note that this bill was comparable to a "no expectorating on the sidewalk" law, neither of which is generally enforced. Maxwell explained that the purpose of the ordinance was to alleviate the city of any legal responsibility in the event of any mishap

Hyatt exploded verbally that he "went to see Jim on this thing and now you come to council with a lot of rhubarb. This is the kind of stuff that gets us into the newspapers."

Maxwell told Hyatt "You misunderstood what I said and I can't help that."

Maxwell told Hyatt

Solon president Walter Siemer came in with his big gavel and clamped down on any further mention of the matter. The ordinance was referred to the service committee for further study.

Prior to that, Mason had reason to complain over the way the $661,700 appropriation ordinance was handled. He stated that council should have had the long list of money spending factors before "tonight's meeting." Auditor Walter Helber chimed in that "if it were not passed, the policemen would not get paid."

Mason replied that he would like to know how the figures were arrived at. McIntosh countered that "it concerns merely the creating of accounts so that bills may be paid."

Mason recanted a previous "no" vote and moved to reconsider the issue stating as he did, "I do not want to see people going hungry."

Mayor Walter Moling earlier in the evening reported that the general fund balance was nearly $200,000, which included $65,000 earmarked for a new fire truck. The fund balance, Moling said, was up from 1959 total of $120,863.

Other action found council referring an ordinance to proceed with Westphal-av improvements to the service committee, okaying advertising for bids for the Washburn-st bridge and accepting a bid of $69,124 from the Ohio State Bank for improvements of the Main Hamilton subdivision.

Kiwanians Install Hartley

At a formal banquet attended by nearly 400 persons in Youngstown Monday night, C. Carlton Hartley was installed as lieutenant governor of the Kiwanis Tenth Division Hartley is publisher of Hartley Newspapers.

The new lieutenant governor thus became administrative head of the largest Kiwanis division in the state, comprised of 18 Central Ohio service clubs. Twenty-three other division heads also took office.

Representing Hartley's own club at the meeting was Phil Stout, past Ohio District governor.

Eastern Kiwanians who held an inter-club meeting at the event saw one of their members, Evan Williams, take office as Ohio district chairman of boys and girls work. Williams also was named general chairman of the Ohio convention to be held in Columbus next Oct. 1 through 4. Stout was named honorary chairman.

Earl Brooks of Poland, O., is the 1961 Ohio district governor.

THE CHAMP — Little Jacqueline Jean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Gale, 321 N. Virginia Lee-rd, winner of the 1961 Eastern Review Stork Derby, didn't make her debut until 5:19 a.m. Jan. 2 at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Jacqueline Gale Is Declared Winner Of 1961 Stork Derby

The stork flew all around every other section of town New Year's Day but it wasn't until Jan. 2 that the winner of the Eastern Review Stork Derby was born.

Jacqueline Jean Gale's arrival at Mt. Carmel Hospital on Jan. 2 at 5:19 a.m. was the first in the community, eligible to win under Derby rules.

The winner of the Stork Derby started life with a whole list of advantages. Merchants in the area welcomed the year's first new citizen in the community with an impressive array of gifts for baby and her family.

Tipping the scales at six pounds, 14 ounces, and stretching the measuring tape to 20 inches, Jacqueline was expected to be a Christmas baby.

The winner's father is a fifth grade teacher at McGuffy Elementary School and also is employed at Tasty Bird, Town and Country. The couple has lived at the Virginia Lee-rd address since their marriage five years ago.

A brother, 27-month-old Richard Jr., also welcomed the new addition to the family and shared with them the prises offered by area merchants.

Nurses at Mt. Carmel Hospital delightedly counted all three winners of Hartley Newspapers' Stork Derbies among their patients.

Mrs. David Arndt, winner of The Hilltop Record and West Side News Derby, and Mrs. Richard Gale, winner of the one sponsored by the Eastern Review, actually shared the same room.

Mrs. Albert Dennison, mother of the first baby born in the city on New Year's Day, and the winner of South Side Leader Derby, was in a nearby room.

LINE UP FOR WHITEHALL DEMOCRAT SLATE BOOKED

Signals have been called by Whitehall Democratic quarterbacks and probable starting lineup for the spring primary bowl will remain essentially the same for those now holding first team positions.

For mayor, Lewis Bower, former unsuccessful mayoralty candidate, and more recently a loser for a coveted at-large council seat.

For treasurer, John Ramsey, incumbent, who will be seeking his second term.

For auditor, Walter Helber, incumbent, who will be looking for term number four.

For solicitor, Paul Haytcher, who in all likelihood will be vying with the Republicans' Jim Maxwell, present solicitor.

First ward council candidate, Richard Hyatt, incumbent, seeking a second term.

Second Ward, Henry Maxfield, ward committeeman, and husband of a former council lady.

Third Ward, Bower understands that A. C. Kirchner will file again.

Fourth Ward, Gil O'Shaughnessy, presently a ward committeeman.

For at-large seats, Loren Mason, incumbent, and Carl Weiffenbach, a ward committeeman.

Bower said that at the present time the Democrats have not come up with a selection for the council presidency.

Significantly missing from the list is the name of Robert Garnon, present Second Ward councilman. Conjecture has it that he has three choices at his disposal: to run against Henry Maxfield in the primary, to seek the council presidency (at present time he is president pro-tem of council) or to try for one of the unfilled at-large positions.

Bower, the titular head of the Whitehall Democratic party, asserted that the ones named so far do not comprise a so-called "Bower slate." The Democrats, Bower said, will hold an open primary where anyone can run, which means that those named thus far may or may not have competition.

Those named, he stated, will in all likelihood file before the Feb. 1 primary deadline. Bower stated that a slate would not be chosen until after the results of the primary are in.

'Slight' Tax Drop Seen By Crabbs

An increase in tax duplicates and a decreasing amount necessary to retire bonds has resulted in a 'slight' tax decrease for the Whitehall School District, Superintendent Robert Crabbs reported this week.

The decrease, Crabbs said, amounted to forty-hundredths of a mill and was the second drop in two years.

Local taxation will provide $731,595 for the general fund and $269,535 for the bond fund, according to Crabbs.

He stated that the general fund is up some $30,000 over last year because of the increased tax evaluation.

In other business, the board re-elected, unanimously, Mrs. Ruth Kosar, of 3855 E. Broad-st, as the policy-making body president. Lawrence Robison, of 795 Yearling-rd, was re-named vice-president.

Garbage Pick Up Rules Affirmed

Free garbage collection is under way in Whitehall, and Service Director Robert Mickey has reminded residents that refuse will be picked up only at the curb, under the city's contract.

Mickey said that any residents wishing to have garbage collected at different spots than along the curb, an agreement should be made between the property owner and the contractor.

Under the law, Mickey stated, the maximum container is 30 gallons and are to be covered.

Facts Hunted On Civil War

The nation's Civil War Centennial will begin officially at 11 a.m., Jan. 8, as a television and radio broadcast will be made of a proclamation by President Eisenhower.

The war saw many men from this area take part and play roles in the struggle.

Probably more words have been and are still being written about this conflict than any other.

All the history of this war has not been written. Not only the sweep of armies and the work of statesmen were important, but the daily activities of the men in the ranks, the farm and city boys from Franklin County were also a part of that history.

They too played their parts on the stage of the times; but as individuals most of them are remembered only by their relatives.

Hartley Newspapers invite their readers to take part in the fascinating game of history. Now is the time to search the attics and the old and forgotten diaries of Civil War days.

The primary sources of history are the original documents: grandfather's letters, diaries of soldiers, pamphlets and newspapers of the '60's. Many of these have never been published and some are intensely interesting.

We will publish sections of the most interesting original source documents reported by our readers. An open invitation is extended to all our readers to join in the treasure hunt.

About 340,000 Ohio citizens served in the Civil War. Without doubt many valuable historical records of these men, their service, their ambitions, their lives and for some, their deaths.

Not only those in the regular forces left records, but also the militia, the "squirrel hunters" and irregulars, whose stories have not even been touched in the regular histories.

Another area seldom touched in history is that of the Northern opponents of the war. Ohio was one of the leading states in opposition to active war against the "Confederate States." Most of the information concernng the "Copperheads" and their followers has apparently disappeared. Campaign and propaganda literature of this kind would be of wide interest.

Throughout the nation, ceremonies will be held Jan. 8, as the nation remembers the sacrifices and actions of its ancestors in the Civil War.

PREVENT RATHER THAN CURE

In our day-to-day fight against illness we seek to cure. But an even greater victory is to be won on the day when medical science can actually prevent disease.

Every January that day of ultimate victory is brought closer as The National Foundation calls upon us to "Prevent Crippling Diseases by giving to the New March of Dimes.

As a banner for The National Foundation, "Prevent Crippling Diseases" must not be regarded as an empty slogan or vague promise.

Who can ever forget through this, the world's largest voluntary health organization, we have found the means of preventing paralytic polio with the Salk vaccine?

Who can doubt that with the support of the public this same organization will guide the way to a preventive for crippling birth defects and arthritis?

But the support of the public is vital, because The National Foundation derives all its funds and all its volunteer workers from a direct appeal to the American people.

Therefore, all of us help prevent crippling diseases when we say YES to the New March of Dimes.

BEXLEY SCHOOLS TAKE OFF WRAPS

The first phase of an important study is ready to be launched in Bexley educational fields.

Along with Grandview and Upper Arlington, and with the cooperation of the Educational Department at the Ohio State University, Bexley officials are ready to take off the wraps and see what makes a school system tick, and to especially find a way to wind up the educational clock to insure better instruction, learning and testing methods in the future.

Under the research-development study, teachers, students testing, instruction methods and mechanical aids will be delved into under the observant eye of a professional scrutinizer.

The study is not an overnight whim on the part of Bexley and its sister educational systems. It is a well thought out and prepared for plan.

In order to be entirely successful the program will likely take years to complete. The results, whether negative or positive, nonetheless, will give schoolmen a knowledgeable insight into academic standards and what is right or wrong with them.

But from the standpoint of education alone Bexley is not talking about doing something about it, it is going out into the field and doing it.

Services Held Last Friday For Mrs. Lillian Yenkin

She was a member of the Women's Division of the Columbus Symphony Orchestra, a member and secretary of Women's Music Club, and a violinist with the Columbus Philharmonic Orchestra, being a charter member of that group.

A member of Agudas Achim and Temple Israel Sisterhoods, and B'nai B'rith Women, Mrs. Yenkin had served as board member of Senior Hadassah and was a member of the Council of Jewish and Brandeis University Women's Organizations.

In addition to her husband, survivors are daughters, Cynthia, Columbus; and Mrs. Judith Brachman, Cambridge, Mass.; her mother, Mrs. Bertha Newman, Delaware; a sister, Mrs. Joseph Groban; a brother, Alvin Levin, both of San Fernando Valley, Calif.; and her grandfather, Fred Schneider, Columbus.

Southeast Lions Give Machines To Hartley

The donation of office machines to Bishop Hartley High School was just one of the many projects handled by the Southeast Lions to aid schools, settlement houses, the blind and other institutions in the South and Southeast end of Columbus.

A figure of over $100,000 has been spent on various needy projects by the group of businessmen plus many hours of time above their regular working hours.

Every school within the boundry lines of Courtright-rd on the east, Livingston-av on the North, Front-st on the west and Williams-rd on the south have benefited by the Lions.

Gifts which are not normally purchased by a school board, but must be owned for the betterment of the students, are the usual items presented by the Southeast Club.

That bicycle rack your child is using at Corpus Christi School, the radios and tape recorders at Stockbridge, band uniforms for South High School and instruments for Marion-Franklin High School are just part of the projects.

The Southeast Lions also originated the new Rheumatic Research Center at Children's Hospital with a donation of $11,000.

To reimburse their funds on Dec. 2, Friday evening, the Lions and their helpers will be knocking on your door. They'll be selling copies of the Southeast Lions Roar to help your children.

LETTER TO EDITOR:

Christmas Seal Thanks Given

Now that the critical rush of the Christmas seal campaign is over, I am finally finding time to thank those who have done so much to publicize the Tuberculosis Society's 1960 Christmas seal campaign.

We are most appreciative of your generous scheduling of campaign articles and photographs in the Hartley newspapers and for the impressive sponsored ads in Eastern Review and the South Side Leader.

Thanks to good friends like you, we are within striking distance of our $200,000-goal.

We wish you a very happy New Year—and again, many thanks for your important contribution to the Christmas seal campaign for 1960.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Virginia H. Benton,
Public Relations Director

Marilyn Mansfield, Leland Henry Exchange Marriage Vows Saturday

Miss Marilyn Jean Mansfield became the bride Saturday afternoon at 1:30 of Mr. Leland W. Henry.

The double-ring ceremony was read at St. Paul Lutheran Church, New Rome, by Rev. Theodore C. Partridge, before an altar decorated with white roses and greenery.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Mansfield, 4823 Amesbury-wy, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren M. Berry of Dayton.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a white satin ballet-length gown with re-embroidered chantilly lace bodice and three-quarter length sleeves.

Her bouffant, waist-length veil was held by a tiara of seed pearls and crystals. She carried a cascade bouquet of delicate pink sweetheart rosebuds, intertwined with ivy and centered by two pink camelias.

Mrs. William Mansfield, of Manteno, Ill., sister-in-law of the bride, was matron-of-honor, and wore a ballerina-length gown of leaf green velvet, with a princess panel of satin in a lighter tone. She also carried a bouquet of rosebuds, with a bandeau of ivy and rosebuds as the headdress.

Mr. William Sapp of Columbus served as best man and Mr. William Mansfield, of Manteno, Ill., brother of the bride, and Mr. Robert Slatzer of Columbus were ushers.

A reception for the immediate families of the newlyweds and those of the wedding party was held afterward at Lincoln Lodge.

Mrs. Henry's going-away costume was a toast-color two-piece wool sheath dress with mink collar and accessories to match.

The bride is a 1953 graduate of Manteno (Illinois) High School, attended MacMurray College for Women, Jacksonville, Ill., for two years and received a B.A. degree at Ohio University in 1957.

She was a member of the faculty of West Jefferson High School during 1957-58, and for the past two years has been associated with the Columbus Medical Center in connection with a heart research grant.

Mr. Henry attended Morgan Park Military Academy, Chicago; Kentucky Military Academy, Louisville, and was graduated from Ohio State University, where he majored in business administration. He is in the restaurant business in Columbus.

After a honeymoon in Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Henry will be at home at 1465 Mariner-dr, Reynoldsburg.

Paul and Vic Hairdressers say

WOMAN WHO WORKS . . .
If we ever reach a day when we're forced to turn patrons away, I almost believe I'd make it a rule to keep the working women! Oh, not because they're our favorites . . . we love everyone. But women who work live in the public eye — and it can be such a critical eye! The way you look in the working world may determine how far you rise in it. Of course, ability counts! But the working world is still a man's world—and the boss can't help being partial to girls who care how they look. It's more flattering to him.

OUR "BUSY LADY" SETS . . .
Because we feel working women should work for beauty, we do all we can to make our beauty services convenient. Are you a working girl who says, "Oh, I just don't have time for beauty care"? It's time to get acquainted with us. For instance, did you know we don't mind a whit if you bring a sandwich to nibble under the dryer? We make special speed-up arrangements for lunch hour sets and give working girls first chance at appointments at those hours. You go back to work looking wonderful!

COLOR BY THE CLOCK . . .
Even if you wear hair coloring, we can get you back to work on time! Of course, if your hair must be bleached and then "permanently" colored, it's better you schedule the initial session on Saturday. But touch-ups can be "got" in the tick of a time-piece! As for our color rinses, they work faster than ever, each hair-shaft simply absorbs color in seconds. Come in and see!

Increased Individual Interest in Local, State and National Government.

PREVENT RATHER THAN CURE

In our day-to-day fight against illness we seek to cure. But an even greater victory is to be won on the day when medical science can actually prevent disease.

Every January that day of ultimate victory is brought closer as The National Foundation calls upon us to "Prevent Crippling Diseases by giving to the New March of Dimes.

As a banner for The National Foundation, "Prevent Crippling Diseases" must not be regarded as an empty slogan or vague promise.

Who can ever forget through this, the world's largest voluntary health organization, we have found the means of preventing paralytic polio with the Salk vaccine?

Who can doubt that with the support of the public this same organization will guide the way to a preventive for crippling birth defects and arthritis?

But the support of the public is vital, because The National Foundation derives all its funds and all its volunteer workers from a direct appeal to the American people.

Therefore, all of us help prevent crippling diseases when we say YES to the New March of Dimes.

BEXLEY SCHOOLS TAKE OFF WRAPS

The first phase of an important study is ready to be launched in Bexley educational fields.

Along with Grandview and Upper Arlington, and with the cooperation of the Educational Department at the Ohio State University, Bexley officials are ready to take off the wraps and see what makes a school system tick, and to especially find a way to wind up the educational clock to insure better instruction, learning and testing methods in the future.

Under the research-development study, teachers, students testing, instruction methods and mechanical aids will be delved into under the observant eye of a professional scrutinizer.

The study is not an overnight whim on the part of Bexley and its sister educational systems. It is a well thought out and prepared for plan.

In order to be entirely successful the program will likely take years to complete. The results, whether negative or positive, nonetheless, will give schoolmen a knowledgeable insight into academic standards and what is right or wrong with them.

But from the standpoint of education alone Bexley is not talking about doing something about it, it is going out into the field and doing it.

Services Held Last Friday For Mrs. Lillian Yenkin

Funeral services for Mrs. Lillian Levin Yenkin, 45, of 201 S. Drexel-av were held Friday, Dec. 30.

Mrs. Yenkin died Thursday at her home following a long illness. She was the wife of Fred Yenkin, secretary and technical director of Yenkin Majestic Paint Corp.

She was a graduate of Ohio State University. Mrs. Yenkin was active in music circles and many civic organizations. She was a member of the Women's Division of the Columbus Symphony Orchestra, a member and secretary of Women's Music Club, and a violinist with the Columbus Philharmonic Orchestra, being a charter member of that group.

A member of Agudas Achim and Tempie Israel Sisterhoods, and B'nai B'rith Women, Mrs. Yenkin had served as board member of Senior Hadassah and was a member of the Council of Jewish and Brandeis University Women's Organizations.

In addition to her husband, survivors are daughters, Cynthia, Columbus; and Mrs. Judith Brachman, Cambridge, Mass.; her mother, Mrs. Bertha Newman, Delaware; a sister, Mrs. Joseph Groban; a brother, Alvin Levin, both of San Fernando Valley, Calif.; and her grandfather, Fred Schneider, Columbus.

Funeral services were held at the Schoedinger Funeral Home, with burial in New Agudas Achim Cemetery.

Local Chapter Sets Installation

Whitehall Chapter, Order of DeMolay, will install officers at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Jan. 6, at Whitehall-Yearling High School.

All Master Masons and DeMolays are invited. The ceremonies will be conducted by the Bexley and Columbus chapters.

Income levels of consumers have a direct effect on holiday turkey demand. The indicated level of consumer income this year will be a factor in holding average prices up to last year's levels.

Southeast Lions Give Machines To Hartley

The donation of office machines to Bishop Hartley High School was just one of the many projects handled by the Southeast Lions to aid schools, settlement houses, the blind and other institutions in the South and Southeast end of Columbus.

A figure of over $100,000 has been spent on various needy projects by the group of businessmen plus many hours of time above their regular working hours.

Every school within the boundry lines of Courtright-rd on the east, Livingston-av on the North, Front-st on the west and Williams-rd on the south have benefited by the Lions.

Gifts which are not normally purchased by a school board, but must be owned for the betterment of the students, are the usual items presented by the Southeast Club.

That bicycle rack your child is using at Corpus Christi School, the radios and tape recorders at Stockbridge, band uniforms for South High School and instruments for Marion-Franklin High School are just part of the projects.

The Southeast Lions also originated the new Rheumatic Research Center at Children's Hospital with a donation of $11,000.

To reimburse their funds on Dec. 2, Friday evening, the Lions and their helpers will be knocking on your door. They'll be selling copies of the Southeast Lions Roar to help your children.

The banquet will honor ten young men of the greater Columbus area, one of whom will be named the "Outstanding Young Man." Nominations which can be made by the general public, for the award will be accepted by the Junior Chamber until Jan. 9.

LETTER TO EDITOR:

Christmas Seal Thanks Given

Now that the critical rush of the Christmas seal campaign is over, I am finally finding time to thank those who have done so much to publicize the Tuberculosis Society's 1960 Christmas seal campaign.

We are most appreciative of your generous scheduling of campaign articles and photographs in the Hartley newspapers and for the impressive sponsored ads in Eastern Review and the South Side Leader.

Thanks to good friends like you, we are within striking distance of our $200,000-goal.

We wish you a very happy New Year—and again, many thanks for your important contribution to the Christmas seal campaign for 1960.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Virginia H. Benton,

NEW LOOK FOR THE NEW YEAR

Let's start the New Year right, by resolving to be Beauty-Wise for 1961. It takes just a bit of know-how to be a "lovelier you." Arrange a regular schedule for your beauty routine. You can work it out regardless of the little time you have on hand.

Don't overlook the valuable need for professional assistance. Don't fail to see it through. Start this year with a beauty plan. A good permanent would be a smart beginning. We are happy to introduce two new operators now in our employ—Margo Napoli and Mary Yendersits. Ivan's Beauty Salon, 3978 E. Broad Street, Columbus. BEllmont 5-5474.

Marilyn Mansfield, Leland Henry Exchange Marriage Vows Saturday

Miss Marilyn Jean Mansfield became the bride Saturday afternoon at 1:30 of Mr. Leland W. Henry.

The double-ring ceremony was read at St. Paul Lutheran Church, New Rome, by Rev. Theodore C. Partridge, before an altar decorated with white roses and greenery.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Mansfield, 4823 Amesbury-wy, and he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren M. Berry of Dayton.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a white satin ballet-length gown with re-embroidered chantilly lace bodice and three-quarter length sleeves.

Her bouffant, waist-length veil was held by a tiara of seed pearls and crystals. She carried a cascade bouquet of delicate pink sweetheart rosebuds, intertwined with ivy and centered by two pink camelias.

Mrs. William Mansfield, of Manteno, Ill., sister-in-law of the bride, was matron-of-honor, and wore a ballerina-length gown of leaf green velvet, with a princess panel of satin in a lighter tone. She also carried a bouquet of rosebuds, with a bandeau of ivy and rosebuds as the headdress.

Mr. William Sapp of Columbus served as best man and Mr. William Mansfield, of Manteno, Ill., brother of the bride, and Mr. Robert Slatzer of Columbus were ushers.

A reception for the immediate families of the newlyweds and those of the wedding party was held afterward at Lincoln Lodge.

Mrs. Henry's going-away costume was a toast-color two-piece wool sheath dress with mink collar and accessories to match.

The bride is a 1953 graduate of Manteno (Illinois) High School, attended MacMurray College for Women, Jacksonville, Ill., for two years and received a B.A. degree at Ohio University in 1957.

She was a member of the faculty of West Jefferson High School during 1957-58, and for the past two years has been associated with the Columbus Medical Center in connection with a heart research grant.

Mr. Henry attended Morgan Park Military Academy, Chicago; Kentucky Military Academy, Louisville, and was graduated from Ohio State University, where he majored in business administration. He is in the restaurant business in Columbus.

After a honeymoon in Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Henry will be at home at 1465 Mariner-dr, Reynoldsburg.

Paul and Vic Hairdressers say
WOMAN WHO WORKS . . .
If we ever reach a day when we're forced to turn patrons away, I almost believe I'd make it a rule to keep the working women! Oh, not because they're our favorites . . . we love everyone. But women who work live in the public eye — and it can be such a critical eye! The way you look in the working world may determine how far you rise in it. Of course, ability counts! But the working world is still a man's world—and the boss can't help being partial to girls who care how they look. It's more flattering to him.
OUR "BUSY LADY" SETS . . .
Because we feel working women should work for beauty, we do all we can to make our beauty services convenient. Are you a working girl who says, "Oh, I just don't have time for beauty care"? It's time to get acquainted with us. For instance, did you know we don't mind a whit if you bring a sandwich to nibble under the dryer? We make special speed-up arrangements for lunch hour sets and give working girls first chance at appointments at those hours. You go back to work looking wonderful!
COLOR BY THE CLOCK . . .
Even if you wear hair coloring, we can get you back to work on time! Of course, if your hair must be bleached and then "permanently" colored, it's better you schedule the initial session on Saturday. But touch-ups can be "got" in the tick of a time piece! As for our color rinses, they work faster than ever, each hair-shaft simply absorbs color in seconds. Come in and see!

EAST COLUMBUS CROSS COUNTRY BOYS

St. Charles Has Best Record Among Eastern Area Teams

How to improve on their records, not only in the league but over-all, should be the first resolution of Eastern Sector teams as the new year engagements get under way.

What they have thus far attained, a 16 win, 17 lost record, doesn't speak too highly of the calibre of the five cage squads, but neither does it mean that all is lost (after, all, nearly half the games aren't).

Bexley and Bishop Hartley are hanging right in there with even-up records, Bexley 3-3 and the Hawks 4-4.

Whitehall has gone to the fore eight times and has come back victorious only thrice.

Likewise Eastmoor has ventured out into the cage world for a quintet of encounters and has managed to sweep under two victims.

The Cardinals of St. Charles are the only squad with a better than 500 average, having notched four wins against a pair of losses.

Starting this week-end all squads will have a chance to sharpen their scoring and their records.

Hartley takes on two opponents, Watterson, Friday night, in a Central Catholic battle and New Albany, Saturday.

Eastmoor stays away from City League squabbles for another week by traveling to Utica.

Whitehall gets back into the CBL scramble with a journey to tough Upper Arlington, currently the second place team.

But Bexley has it no better. The Lions meet will be to try and tame top riding Urbana.

St. Charles finds Holy Family knocking on its door Friday, and Saturday will have to deal with Lancaster St. Mary.

License To Trap Fur Animals Needed Except On Own Land

You need a license to trap fur bearing animals on land other than your own, and your traps must be marked with your name and address.

This trapping advice comes from Thomas M. Stockdale, Ohio State University Extension specialist in wildlife conservation. The legal season for trapping most fur bearers in Ohio opened Nov. 15 and extends through Feb. 28, 1961. Animals included in this season are raccoon, opossum, skunk, muskrat and mink.

There are exceptions to the law requiring licenses for anyone who traps on land other than his own, Stockdale points out. Tenants or managers and their children residing on such land do not need licenses.

Snares and deadfalls are illegal, Stockdale says, and traps should not be set on roads or paths used by domestic animals or humans. Traps also must not be set closer than five feet from a muskrat house.

RAMS, WARRIORS, LIONS END UP ON LOSING SIDE

The boys from the East Side left their home stomping grounds last week and from all of the resulting indications, it would have been better if they would have "stood at home."

Only high-flying St. Charles managed to shag a win in the abbreviated holiday agenda.

Whitehall got things off on the wrong foot by dropping a 68-66 decision at Findlay, a team that had previously won only one game in seven outings.

Eastmoor kept the losing ball rolling by bowing to Athens 57 to 53, who marched to their sixth straight victory.

Bexley did a little better than the Rams or Warriors, but still lost a nudger to West's Cowboys, 44 to 42.

Led by the Baumann duo of John and Paul, St. Charles registered its fourth win by a 64 to 49 pounding over Rosary.

The only bright spot for the Rams was Ken Merriman, who dunked 21 points though in a losing effort.

Scoring wise, the entire fray was a mixture of "too much but still not enough" from the Whitehall viewpoint. The Rams blazed to a 22 to 12 first quarter lead, then settled back and watched Findlay knot the count at half-time, 35-all.

The Rams got on their scoring horse again in the third stanza by flipping in 17 markers and holding their foes to but nine. But the Rams in turn were sizzled when Findlay hit, hit and hit for 24 fourth period tallies.

The Rams were hot, it must be said. They notched a nearly 60 per cent field goal effort. But in the foul shooting department, Findlay hit 34 of 40. Jerry Millington snared 12 points and Bruce Bang added 13 as the Rams went down to their fifth defeat this year.

Eastmoor managed to keep its 60 point per game scoring average intact against a hot Athens five, but that's about all.

Except for the third quarter, the Warriors could have had the win. They outtallied Athens four points to start the game, and played the Bulldogs on an even scoring keel during the second and fourth periods.

But in the third stanza, the Warriors were sent yipping to the kennels by a 16 point Bulldog outburst from which Eastmoor could not recover.

Frank Stavroff, paced the Warriors with 17 points.

Eastmoor (53) Van Horn, 1-2-4; Lampios, 4-2-10; Dwyer, 5-4-14; Benjamin, 1-0-2; Stavroff, 7-3-17; Siders, 0-4-4; Gornall, 1-0-2. Totals—19-15-53.

At Bexley, the Lions forced West to come from behind to snag the win and the Cowboys did just that. While tying the knot onto the Lions tail, West tallied 22 points in each of the last two quarters to overcome a five point 27 to 22 half-time lead.

West hit for seven straight points after the Lions had assumed a 42 to 37 count in the fourth period. Bexley, dropped their third win against as many wins.

St. Charles Has Best Record Among Eastern Area Teams

How to improve on their records, not only in the league but over-all, should be the first resolution of Eastern Sector teams as the new year engagements get under way.

What they have thus far attained, a 16 win, 17 lost record, doesn't speak too highly of the calibre of the five cage squads, but neither does it mean that all is lost (after, all, nearly half the games aren't).

Bexley and Bishop Hartley are hanging right in there with even-up recor ls, Bexley 3-3 and the Hawks 4-4.

Whitehall has gone to the fore eight times and has come back victorious only thrice.

Likewise Eastmoor has ventured out into the cage world for a quintet of encounters and has managed to sweep under two victims.

The Cardinals of St. Charles are the only squad with a better than 500 average, having notched four wins against a pair of losses.

Starting this week-end all squads will have a chance to sharpen their scoring and their records.

Hartley takes on two opponents, Watterson, Friday night, in a Central Catholic battle and New Albany, Saturday.

Eastmoor stays away from City League squabbles for another week by traveling to Utica.

Whitehall gets back into the CBL scramble with a journey to tough Upper Arlington, currently the second place team.

But Bexley has it no better. The Lions meat will be to try and tame top riding Urbana.

St. Charles finds Holy Family knocking on its door Friday, and Saturday will have to deal with Lancaster St. Mary.

License To Trap Fur Animals Needed Except On Own Land

You need a license to trap fur bearing animals on land other than your own, and your traps must be marked with your name and address.

This trapping advice comes from Thomas M. Stockdale, Ohio State University Extension specialist in wildlife conservation. The legal season for trapping most fur bearers in Ohio opened Nov. 15 and extends through Feb. 28, 1961. Animals included in this season are raccoon, opossum, skunk, muskrat and mink.

There are exceptions to the law requiring licenses for anyone who traps on land other than his own, Stockdale points out. Tenants or managers and their children residing on such land do not need licenses.

Snares and deadfalls are illegal, Stockdale says, and traps should not be set on roads or paths used by domestic animals or humans. Traps also must not be set closer than five feet from a muskrat house.

RAMS, WARRIORS, LIONS END UP ON LOSING SIDE

The boys from the East Side left their home stomping grounds last week and from all of the resulting indications, it would have been better if they would have "stood at home."

Only high-flying St. Charles managed to shag a win in the abbreviated holiday agenda.

Whitehall got things off on the wrong foot by dropping a 68-66 decision at Findlay, a team that had previously won only one game in seven outings.

Eastmoor kept the losing ball rolling by bowing to Athens 57 to 53, who marched to their sixth straight victory.

Bexley did a little better than the Rams or Warriors, but still lost a nudger to West's Cowboys, 44 to 42.

Led by the Baumann duo of John and Paul, St. Charles registered its fourth win by a 64 to 49 pounding over Rosary.

The only bright spot for the Rams was Ken Merriman, who dunked 21 points though in a losing effort.

Scoring wise, the entire fray was a mixture of "too much but still not enough" from the Whitehall viewpoint. The Rams blazed to a 22 to 12 first quarter lead, then settled back and watched Findlay knot the count at half-time, 35-all.

The Rams got on their scoring horse again in the third stanza by flipping in 17 markers and holding their foes to but nine. But the Rams in turn were sizzled when Findlay hit, hit and hit for 24 fourth period tallies.

The Rams were hot, it must be said. They notched a nearly 60 per cent field goal effort. But in the foul shooting department, Findlay hit 34 of 40. Jerry Millington snared 12 points and Bruce Bang added 13 as the Rams went down to their fifth defeat this year.

Eastmoor managed to keep its 60 point per game scoring average intact against a hot Athens five, but that's about all.

Except for the third quarter, the Warriors could have had the win. They outtallied Athens four points to start the game, and played the Bulldogs on an even scoring keel during the second and fourth periods.

But in the third stanza, the Warriors were sent yipping to the kennels by a 16 point Bulldog outburst from which Eastmoor could not recover.

Frank Stavroff, paced the Warriors with 17 points.

Eastmoor (53) Van Horn, 1-2-4; Lampios, 4-2-10; Dwyer, 5-4-14; Benjamin, 1-0-2; Stavroff, 7-3-17; Siders, 0-4-4; Gornall, 1-0-2. Totals—19-15-53.

At Bexley, the Lions forced West to come from behind to snag the win and the Cowboys did just that. While tying the knot onto the Lions tail, West tallied 22 points in each of the last two quarters to overcome a five point 27 to 22 half-time lead.

West hit for seven straight points after the Lions had assumed a 42 to 37 count in the fourth period. Bexley dropped their third win against as many wins.

West (3-6) — Coles, 7-0-14; Newman, 7-2-16; Barnett, 2-2-6; Neeley, 1-0-2; Castle, 3-0-6.

Bexley (3-3) — Tuckerman, 2-1-5; Hapirick, 3-0-6; DeVoe, 3-3-9; Ritter, 1-1-3; Kass, 5-4-14; Mechling, 1-3-5. Totals — 15-12-42.

In the St. Charles-Rosary, big P (for Paul) and big J (for John) Baumann combined for 38 points to lead the way to the Cards fourth win. It was the best scoring effort by the Cards this year.

St. Charles led by 14 points at half time and kept the same margin through most of the second half.

New Offices For Navy

The Officer in Charge of the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station in Columbus has announced that the Main Office and the Naval Officer Procurement Section has moved to a new location at the Internal Revenue Service Bldg., 110 W. Long-st.

Applicants desiring information on various Naval Officer programs (OCS, NROTC, NAVCAD, NAVAL ACADEMY, etc) may contact LTJG William Westphal in Room 407 (Phone CA 1-6411, Ext. 553).

Also moving to the new location is the Navy Nurse Corps Procurement Officer, Lt. Ruth Pampush, Room 407 (Phone CA. 1-6411, Ext. 552). The enlisted Recruiting Station will remain at its former address in the New Post Office Bldg. at Gay and Marconi-sts.

Between Two Thieves Is OSU Project

The Ohio State University Theater will present on its major bill, Feb. 15, and 16, Experiment '61. This year Experiment '61 will be Warner Lercy's passionate retelling of the trial of Christ, "Between Two Thieves."

A truly experimental production "Between Two Thieves" plays on a bare stage, the actors talk directly to the audience, and in the second part the audience is allowed to express itself along with the actors.

All religious groups interested in securing tickets should write the OSU Theatre, 154 N. Oval-dr, or phone CY. 3-3261 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Other groups who are interested in tickets should write or phone the above address.

Fair Board Seeks New Secretary

The new Franklin County Fair Board secretary is being sought to replace Findley DeWolfe.

DeWolfe, who lives on Avery-rd in Hilliard, resigned as the board's secretary effective Dec. 1. He succeeded Harold Hart, Feder-rd, in the position and has been responsible for the past three county fairs.

Fair Board President Ray Dellinger said the position will be filled "as soon as we can find somebody who can handle it." He hoped that a successor could be named by Feb. 1 so that planning for this year's event could proceed on schedule.

Dellinger said DeWolfe relinquished his position because of a summer job which would not allow him enough time to carry out the responsibilities of fair secretary.

In the past, the secretary has been the "work horse" of the fair board, but Dellinger said "it will be easier this time." The Board has installed new record methods and hired a bookkeeping firm to ease the load on the secretary.

"In addition," Dellinger added, "fair board members are assuming a bigger share of the responsibilities. All of the committees which I have now are functioning well."

Discussion of possible replacement for DeWolfe was to be a major item at the Board's regular January meeting held Wednesday evening at the Franklin County Fairgrounds restaurant.

Dellinger also stated that evening attractions will be dropped from this year's fair program and will be replaced by four nights of harness racing.

"It was shown last year that the racing events are well backed by people of this area," he pointed out, "and we don't want to give the people the same evening entertainment which we had last year."

He added that the Fair Board will protest awarding of additional dates to Scioto Downs for harness racing during the fair season, but doubted that anything could be done.

View Its Beauty . . .

The snow is here . . . it has been here for quite a while . . . and chances are it will be with us for sometime yet.

Now that it is here, the question is: "What can we do with it"

To help answer that question, the Hartley Newspapers camera focused on the bright, white stuff in the area hoping to give you some ideas for winter fun.

They say that every flake is of a different structure and it seemed that folks all over the city had different ideas for fun in the snow.

Snowballing is great fun. This, however, doesn't really solve the snow problem — it just rearranges it.

Then there's always sculpturing which seems to eliminate the crystals by stacking them one upon another. This momentarily takes some of the snow from the ground.

If these two solutions leave you cold, you can always sleigh ride on the white blanket. This, however, never gets you any place but down — and those walks back up the hills are something else again.

The best answer to the snow problem it to view it. From inside your living room — looking out — or from out in a quiet wood, the silent snow offers beauty for everyone.

There's beauty in the thawing stream which bravely trickles through the drifts. There's also beauty in the trees heavily laden with the soft white clouds.

Maybe too, you can save the pictures on this page and glance at them next August when the thermometor reads 90-degrees. Chances are you'll think the white stuff is "all-white" then.

You Can Throw It . . .

LETTER TO EDITOR:

'Toys For Tots' Workers Praised

To The Editor:

A great many children enjoyed a Merry Christmas this year, complete with dolls, games and other toys, because of the generosity of the warmhearted people in the Franklin county area. The success of the "Toys for Tots" campaign certainly reflects the friendly spirit of our community.

Those of us in the 88th Rifle Company, U.S. Marine Corps Reserve, would like to take this means to thank everyone who donated toys to "Toys for Tots." We wish we could thank everyone personally; we do extend a standing invitation to visit us at any time at our Training Center, 240 N. Sandusky-st.

We also would like to thank all the public-spirited organizations for their wonderful cooperation.

Our deep appreciation is expressed to the Hartley Publications and all the people on your staff. Your support was a most important factor in the success of the 1960 "Toys for Tots" campaign.

Sincerely,
Mark T. Jurkovich, Jr.

Classes are offered in broad areas of interest. Several classes may be taken for high school credit if persons desire or need credit. Many classes are offered strictly for recreation and pleasure.

Registration for the spring semester will be Jan. 16 through 19, with classes starting the week of Jan. 30.

Additional information may be secured from Whitehall Yearling High School, BE. 5-2385, Ext. 18.

Headless Fish Being Studied By Wildlife Men

Headless fish are coming under scrutiny of Division of Wildlife law enforcement men, according to Harold Green, supervisor.

"A study is being conducted whereby the live length of beheaded fish may be determined," said Green. "This technique will facilitate regular commercial fishing investigations.

Often, dressed or partially dressed fish must be inspected and it is difficult to judge if the live fish met commercial length requirements. The present study will remedy this."

Species under study are catfish, bullheads, walleyes, yellow perch, blue pike and saugeye.

Basketball Takes The Lead In Network Sports Events

By Charles Rampp

King Basketball not only rules the local hardwoods at this season, but also gets a king's share of TV time.

Beginning Saturday, Jan. 7, at 2 p.m. Channel 6 will telecast an afternoon of basketball, with a weekly doubleheader scheduled each Saturday through March 11.

Leading off the parade will be games between Georgia Tech and Kentucky at 2 p.m., and Minnesota and Iowa at 4:30.

Ten of the teams to be featured on this series are now ranked in the top 20 in the nation. NCAA Champion, Ohio State, will make three appearances, Jan. 28, hosting Purdue; Feb. 4 at Michigan; and March 12, at Illinois.

State's home game with Illinois will be telecast by Channel 4, on Saturday, Jan. 7 at 8:30 p.m. This will be the National Champs' Big Ten opener. They will be meeting a sophomore-loaded team, with little experience, but a lot of hustle.

The twelfth annual Senior Bowl game will be picked up by Channel 4 at 3:15 p.m., Sat., Jan. 7. Football will bow out on the networks with this game and the Pro-Runner-Up game on Channel 10 the same day at 2 p.m.

The Senior Bowl is played at Mobile, Ala., each year and brings together some of the top graduating college stars of the North and South. The pro game is a new idea, pitting the second-place clubs of Eastern and Western Conferences against each other at the Orange Bowl in Miami.

The Westinghouse Playhouse, starring Nanette Fabray and Wendell Corey premieres on Channel 4, Friday, Jan. 6 at 8:30 p.m. This is billed as a situation comedy series about a widower with small children, who marries a Broadway star.

Jose Iturbi, Renata Tebaldi, Shirley Jones, Maria Tallchief and Erik Bruhn will headline the Bell Telephone Hour at 9 p.m. Friday, Jan. 6 on Channel 4. Miss Tebaldi, one of the world's greatest and most temperamental sopranos will appear in two scenes from the opera "Madam Butterfly."

The problems of citizens over 65 will be discussed on Probe, Saturday, Jan. 7 at 10 p.m. on Channel 4. Titled "A Beginning," the show will deal with problems of the aged and retired in Columbus.

This growing segment of the area's population will be studied, with the problems of the maintenance of income, medical care and recreation coming in for most intensive study. This is a locally produced, written and photographed program.

"Roundup USA" is a new weekly series of ABC news and Channel 6. Premiering Sunday, Jan. 8, the new show will try to keep pace with fast breaking international and domestic developments.

ABC news reporters in key centers across the nation will cover and report the major news developments of the week on a region-by-region basis. The news series is designed as successor to the network's "Campaign Roundup" seen last fall.

Utilizing a flexible format, the program is designed to allow reports of separate regional stories or present nationwide reactions, on a regional basis, to individual major developments.

Channel 10's Twentieth Century Program will feature Korea Saturday, Jan. 7 at 5:30. This is the first of a special two-part report on American prisoners of war in Korea and a current Air Force training program designed to help U.S. military personnel overcome "coercive persuasion" by any future enemy.

Fight of the Week is seen at 10 p.m. on Saturdays. This week's card on Channel 6 will feature Carmen Basallio's attempt to win his way back to a title shot. He takes on veteran Ringman Gaspar Ortega at Madison Square Garden in a ten-rounder.

Weekend afternoon programming on Channel 10 takes on a new look with "Sports Spectacular" the biggest news.

Seen on Sunday, Jan. 8 for the first time, the program will present exciting athletic events seldom seen on TV. Time is 2:30 to 4 p.m. and commentary will be done by Bud Palmer.

Richard Boone will read to his son Peter, the Bret Harte short story "How Santa Claus Came to Simpson's Bar" on Sunday, Jan. 8 at 9:30 a.m. on Channel 10. This is the latest of the Reading Out Loud Series, prepared by the Westinghouse Broadcasting Co.

John Browning, young American pianist will appear in concert as the opening event of the New Year at Mershon Auditorium, Thursday, Jan. 12 at 8 p.m. He has recently won three of the highest honors the international music world can bestow.

Mr. Magoo is the near-sighted hero of Channel 10's new "Comedy Spot," seen Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at 6 p.m.

Magoo, who is a little old man with a laugh like a strangled turkey, his nephew Waldo and many of his odd friends bring their own particular and quite funny brand of idiocy to local screens.

Old-time movies featuring some of the classic film clowns of the past will be seen on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6 p.m. on Channel 10. Cliff Norton will host the show, and has promised to create no less than 150 different comic roles as he plays host on the show.

Channel 4 has received many notices of praise and letters of commendation both from reviewers and from state officials on its recent half-hour documentary on Christmas inside the Ohio Penitentiary.

A former UCLA football star, now in motion pictures, Woody Strode, plays an Army corporal in a special guest appearance on Rawhide, seen Friday, Jan. 6 at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 10. Title of the episode is "The Incident of the Buffalo Soldier."

Beginning Jan. 8 at noon, "Jungle Theatre," featuring Tarzen films and "Shirley Temple Theatre" will be seen on alternate weeks on Channel 10.

Film funnymen Abbott and Costello will appear each Saturday on Channel 10 at 3:30 p.m., followed by "Championship Bowling" matches.

Cold weather definitely is with us, says the Columbus Auto Club, and drivers should not be fooled by brief periods of warm sunshine. Frost can cause a slippery glaze on streets and highways, especially at night and during early morning hours. Special caution is urged when driving on bridges and overpasses, where frost is likely to accumulate at this time of year.

He is a director of the National Restaurant Assn., a director of Kentucky Fried Chicken, Inc., Shelbyville, Ky., and past president of the Indiana Restaurant Assn.

"The famous recipe of Colonel Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken in a few years has received international acclaim as 'North America's Hospitality Dish," Yearling said. "It is served in 600 places throughout the United States — including Hawaii and Alaska.

Other carry-out locations are planned for Columbus and its suburbs. Each will use locally-raised plump broilers, cut and dipped in fresh milk and eggs and rolled in flour flavored with 11 spices and herb seasonings.

The chicken will be served in orders for individual consumption as well as packaged in buckets with 15 pieces for family tables, parties and picnics and in barrels with 21 pieces for larger groups.

The Hobby Ranch Houses also will feature MAC's famous Bar B Q, and a number of foods prepared under Hobby Ranch House formulas such as jumbo shrimp, party and luncheon meats, fried chicken livers and gizzards, fish and chips, home made baked beans, potato salad, delicatessen meats and dishes, pies, etc. Moderate prices will prevail.

Firemen, Organizations Send Aid To 32 Families

Whitehall Fire Department and various community organizations processed aid to 32 families during the Christmas season.

Cooperating groups included the Veterans of Foreign Wars, churches, American Legion, Lions Club, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts.

Food collected by the schools and toys donated by the stores were distributed to deserving families by the organizations.

In addition, the Whitehall Firemen's Association, through its emergency relief fund, provided food for three families and emergency heating for two more.

Three families were cleared through the Franklin County Welfare Department; four families were sent to Charity Newsies for clothing and one was sent to the Lions Club for clothing.

Work for one family head also was procured, as well as clothing for two additional families. Members of the Whitehall Fire Department voiced thanks to all the groups and individuals who helped to make the project a success.

Wolf Named Largest Red Goose Dealer

Morton E. Wolf

Morton E. Wolf, the new owner of Modern Youth Shoe Store at 177 S. High-st, will continue to be one of the largest Red Goose dealers in this part of Ohio.

Wolf, an expert fitter of children's shoes, will keep Modern Youth a specialized children's shoe store. He has made several improvements, such as carrying Lazy Bones and orthopedic shoes, making as large a selection of styles and sizes in children's shoes as any store in Columbus and vicinity.

There will be growing girls' flats in narrow sizes and Wolf has also put in the Shoppers' Charge system, giving his customers every convenience for shopping.

NEW BIG BROTHER NAMED

The Board of Directors of The Big Brother Association of Columbus approved, as of Dec. 15, the selection of Robert E. Ninde, of 351B S. Ashburton, to be a Big Brother, according to an announcement from Big Brother President, Frank J. Durzo of 4766 Bellann-rd.

Ninde will be assigned a fatherless boy as a Little Brother. He will actively advise and help him become a better citzien as part of the work of the Association which is a United Community Council-United Appeals agency in Columbus.

The Columbus Auto Club advises drivers that for maximum safety during winter motoring make all your movements smoothly and slowly. When starting from a stop on snow or ice, use second or high gear to keep the rear wheels from spinning. If your car is equipped with an automatic transmission, keep it in the "low" range. After the car is moving, accelerate slowly.

GETS JR. OLYMPICS MEDAL

SECOND IN NATION—Bob Densham, 4592 Eastway-ct, is seen receiving his National Junior Olympic award from N. J. Barack, president of the National Amateur Athletic Union and director of the Columbus Recreation Department. As a result of the department's track and field program, Bob placed second in the nation in the intermediate division high jump with his 5 ft., 10-inch leap. The 15-year-old Whitehall-Yearling student is only one inch away from the first-place height.

Ex-Mayor Has Eye On City Job Again

Hilltopper M. E. Sensenbrenner has until the first week of February to decide whether or not to file as a candidate for City Council in the non-partisan May 7 primaries.

The former Columbus mayor of six-years standing said he is seriously considering the move . . . and in any event he expects to run for mayor of Columbus in 1963.

Three council positions will be determined by the Nov. 7 general election. All are held by majority party Democrats — Robert Van Heyde, Robert H. Smith and Russell M. Jones — who will seek reelection.

Indicating that he did not wish to upstage any of these men, Sensenbrenner said: "They're all good men, me nl appointed. But it looks like there will be a number of Democrats running, and if so I could be one of them."

"It's Tremendous City. . ."

"It's a personal thing with me," he said. "I love Columbus . . . it's a tremendous city and I'll always be interested in the way it's run."

Sensenbrenner now is a coordinator of traffic services with the State Highway Department, a Civil Service job he would have to give up if he reenters active politics. He took the job last year after being defeated by about 5,000 votes in the mayor's race with W. Ralston Westlake.

The council jobs are not awarded in party voting but are granted to the top seven vote getters in the election. The ex-mayor said he has not discussed his plans with the Democratic councilmen or Walter F. Heer, county party chairman.

There was some speculation that Sensenbrenner's bead on City Hall is prompted by a party fear that Jones could not win in the next election, causing the Democrats to lose council majority. Sensenbrenner denied this. He stated that he thinks the council path would be an excellent route back to the mayor's chair but denied that he is bent on outshining Van Hyde, mentioned as a possible mayoralty candidate in 1963.

Filing for the city primaries must be done by the first of February.

Sensenbrenner said he has been urged by many friends to enter city politics again. Treating the issue seriously, he said he expects to feel out public opinion carefully in the next few days, before making a move that will affect his present job.

"And, health permitting, I'd like to be mayor again in 1963" he said.

If cold weather your battery becomes less efficient, says the Columbus Auto Club. Lights, radio, heater, defroster, and frequent stops and starts in slow traffic tend to weaken a battery. Have it checked once a week.

Badger Turns Up In Trapline; Animals Seem To Be Migrating

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Harry R. McClary, who lives near West Jefferson, brought in an unusual catch from his trapline — a badger. These large and powerful animals have been invading central Ohio for some years, and nearly every season one or two are reported taken in this area

R. W. Recob, of Recob's Supplies, said, "Boy, was he a big one! First badger I'd seen out of captivity, and its size was really surprising."

Badgers usually range from 24 to 30 inches in length, and weigh from 12 to 24 pounds. If a shaving brush is the only contact you've had with these animals, then a mature male badger would indeed be large.

If beavers are the builders of the animal world, then badgers are the excavators. They are usually associated with sandy soil where the digging is easy There they can dig out mice, rabbits, woodchucks, skunks and almost every other ground-dwelling creature

Naturalists here in Ohio consider badgers uncommon in northwestern counties and something of a rarity here. If they keep moving into these parts, the scientists will have to revise their books — I would call them uncommon here at the present time. The invasion of badgers seems to be following the movement of 13-lined ground squirrels into central Ohio, one of the mainstays of the badger's diet. Both are historically prairie-type animals, but with man altering the landscape who knows where they will end up?

The fighting ability of badgers is well known. The scrappy personality is not surprising when you look at the badger's family tree, for it's a member of the weasel family. This group of flesh-eaters includes the wolverine, fisher, marten, mink and weasel — a family that is notorious ferocious All members are equipped with musk glands, and the skunk has relied almost entirely on these for protection. Through the ages the skunk has lost its fleet foot and fighting form to become the family's slow-poke. The otter is extremely wary and his brain-power seems to keep him out of fighting situations, although he will fight if forced to.

When cornered, a badger will make a good account of himself. Many a crippled dog will attest to this When all seems to be lost, however, the badger will dig in. In sand-dune country, where he thrives, he will flatten out like a saucer and start digging with all feet and his mouth. Sand comes up around him and he begins to sink from sight. All this happens in a few seconds, and his tail is the last to go under.

In our heavy soils badgers cannot resort to this last-ditch tactic for self-preservation This could be a limiting factor here, and badgers may never be numerous. Most of them that are taken are cornered by coon dogs, and then shot by hunters.

Mayors Study Police School

A training school for police officers was suggested when the Franklin County Mayors' Association convened this week

Bexley Mayor W. A. Schneider, outgoing president, said that he would be willing to go along with the idea, especially "along the traffic lines."

In other business, the mayors submitted the controversial charity solicitation over to a committee for further study.

The group's new president is Robert Wells, of Upper Arlington. Ed Schorr, of Marble Cliff, is vice-president; Walter Shelley, of Westerville, is treasurer, and Louise Mott, of Upper Arlington, is secretary.

10 of Them In All

COOTIES ARRIVE IN WHITEHALL

The Cooties are not only coming—they have arrived. And in full battle regalia.

Not only that, the Cooties are Whitehall's, all Whitehall's.

And although they come in all shapes and sizes, they will be formally attired in diverse official uniforms—as soon as the clothing arrives. The uniform will contain such hues as red, for ties, vest, sox and sash, and white, for shoes, shirts, pants and spats.

Yes, these Cooties, all 20 of them, are men, members of Whitehall VFW Post 8794. The Cooties official designation is Military Order of Cooties, Puptent 40..

The MOC is the national organization, while the puptent nomenclature is relegated to local clubs.

Although they wear their hats askew, the business they perform is a serious, straight from the heart one. The purpose of the Cooties, is to visit veterans hospitals with gifts and entertainment. They average one visit a month.

Members of the VFW are voted on to become Cooties. In order to be nominated for this rank, a member has to earn the right to become one by his participation in VFW affairs.

The Whitehall Cootie organization received its charter in November. Mayor Walter Moling welcomed the group to Whitehall and gave them an official send-off to the Chillicothe Veterans Hospital.

Officers are Capt. Lloyd Williams, commander; G. P. Weiser, senior vice-commander; R. H.

Children Being Shown The Dangers of Smoking

Striking back at a 950 per cent increase in deaths from lung cancer in the past 30 years, the American Cancer Society is in the midst of an educational program among the junior high schools in Franklin County.

Thirty-one of the junior highs in Columbus, its suburbs, and the county have already seen a program entitled "To Smoke or Not to Smoke" which is being offered by the American Cancer Society — with a physician-member of the Columbus Academy of Medicine on hand to answer questions.

"The recent upsurge in smoking among the 12-, 13-, and 14- year old youth of our neighborhoods is appalling," says Dr. William B. Schwartz, president of the Society's Franklin County Unit.

"Children have access to cigarets almost everywhere they go by virtue of coin-operated machines. Thirty years ago it was impossible for a child to purchase cigarets over the counter — but today there is no trouble at all in buying a pack of cigarets," Dr. Schwartz says.

"That's why we are stressing our program in the junior high schools. Teachers and parents are enthused.

"The first junior high to present the program last fall was Crestview — and Principal Don Thatcher wrote us a note saying he had many parents telephone and thank him for telling their children the facts about smoking and lung cancer.

"The message is for everybody, but we hope to get to the children before they become confirmed smokers," Dr. Schwartz says.

He is backed up in his approach to the problem by Dr. John Gallen, a member of the Society's Board. "Up until now," Dr. Gallen points out, "the only thing children knew about smoking is what they heard and saw in the TV commercials. It's time somebody tells them the facts."

The program prepared by the American Cancer Society resulted after 26 long-term studies in eight countries.

The program includes a kit with a filmstrip and accompanying commentary, plus study guild materials for teachers as well as students. After a school has seen and heard the program, the materials are left at the school for use in the future as teachers see the need.

Bexley Bumps USTA

BY JOHN POEPPELMEYER

A quiet decision was reached on a controversial measure this week in Bexley Council chambers.

By not bringing the motor up to vote, solons turned down a request by the United States Trotting Association to build a $450,000 office along E. Broad-st between Gould and Merkle-rds.

The same night, legislators heard proposals of two other pending zoning actions: a plan to construct a Senior Citizens apartment building along Sheridan-av near Astor and a request by O. R. Woodyard, Jr., for a funeral home.

Public hearings were set on both matters for Feb. 14.

On the USTA action, council president, Charles Kurtz, Jr., got right down to business and asked that the subject be brought up first.

After hearing a reiteration of events by proponents and opponents, Kurtz prefaced the

Tom Moody In Columbus Council Race

Tom Moody, attorney and 28th Ward committeeman who lives at 4704 Janis-dr, is petitioning for nomination as a member of Columbus City Council.

Formal approval of Moody and two others, Robert T. Southwick and William R. Fornof, is expected soon from the Republican County Executive Committee. County GOP Chairman William Schneider announced the slate.

Moody, 31, has been active in several state and local GOP organizations. He was a lecturer in law two years at Franklin University.

He is an elder of Broad Street Presbyterian Church, is a board member for the Muscular dystrophy Association here, and is a past president of the Y's Men's Club and the Amerigo Juniors Club of the South Side YMCA.

THE WHITEHALL POLITICAL SCENE

TWO GROUPS OF REPUBLICANS VIE FOR PRIMARY HONORS, COME MAY

Two group of Whitehall Republicans are jockeying for positions as front runners in the May primary elections.

One faction, headed by incumbent Mayor Walter Moling, still has a few slots to fill. Among them: auditor, treasurer, Ward 4 and an at-large vacancy.

The other segment of the party, under the leadership of F. E. Shaeffer, has approximately the same number of posts to fill. Top man on the list for this group is Kenneth McDougal, who will be trying to upset Moling. McDougal commented this week that his decision was made after he was "approached by friends and associates who felt I might serve the city to a better advantage."

McDougal added that he was "well acquainted" with the police and fire departments and that he holds both in "high regard". He feels, he stated, "they are the best of their kind in the country and in the state.

As for the city itself, McDougal claimed that there "have been improvements, but not sufficient enough ones."

Shaeffer also announced that Ralph Prout will be vying for a first ward post; Eugene Ray Upperman, for a 2nd Ward spot Harold E. Woods, for 3rd Ward.

As for Shaeffer himself, the former councilman stated that he has petitions out for "three or four positions. Whenever we round up more men, I'm willing to give them a first crack at any slot. I'll be glad to take what is left over," he remarked.

On the Moling side of the ledger, the mayor has announced, as he has been doing from time to time, that he will definitely seek a fourth term.

Another top prospect seeking re-election is the colorful city solicitor James Maxwell.

Up for at-large shots are Orton Davis, present incumbent of the 4th Ward seat, and Ken-McIntosh, who replaced Democrat A. Z. Greely this past summer.

Les Ballinger is the candidate for a Ward 1 post and Moling announced this week that Don B. Gorrell will vie for the Ward 3 slot.

Walter Simer, the gavel wielding council president, has also announced that he will seek the nomination again, Moling said.

Both the Democrats and the Republicans have stipulated that their list of candidates are not to be construed as an endorsed slate.

Democratic party head Lewis Bower, who is his party's mayoralty candidate, reported this week that "nothing new" has as yet been worked out for the primary.

Mason Announces; Shipley 'Undecided'

Stepping out of the Democratic "probable" category and into the last of announced candidates for a Whitehall council post is Loren Mason.

Mason is an incumbent councilman-at-large and will seek the same post again.

Meanwhile, one of the stalwarts of the Republican party, at-large solon Ray Shipley, is "undecided" whether or not he will run again. If he changes his mind, and vies for a seat, he will be seeking his fifth term.

Shipley said he has been in "off and on" conferences most of the week with other party faithfuls who are trying to get him to run again.

Mason, in announcing his decision, asserted that he would try to be a strong worker for a progressive city program. "I will continue to fight for the city as I have done in the past," he stated. He pointed specifically to the fight he waged for nine months for free garbage collection.

At the present time, Mason has made known that he will strive to bring the United States Trotting office to Whitehall, now that Bexley has turned it down. Mason also has the backing of the Whitehall Chamber of Commerce in his efforts to give Whitehall a post office all its own, he claims.

Mason added that he "could not see how I could refuse to run, because of the acceptance I received in the recent election."

Other primary footnotes: Democrat party head Lewis Bower said this week that Second Ward Councilman Robert Garnon has still not rendered a decision as to which post he will vie for. Bower also reported that as far as he understands, Third Ward Councilman A. C. Kirchner is still a candidate.

Special Report In Progress Edition

'To Maintain And Improve' Whitehall Seeks $1,100,000

With all the talk from the political side of "who's going to run" in the primary elections, most folks in Whitehall may be surprised to learn that their school board will also have an important pending issue.

Superintendent Robert Crabbs related this week that the board will go before the public in May seeking $1,100,000 in order to construct a new elementary school along with other improvements in the district.

The new elementary, Crabbs said, will contain 14 to 16 classrooms and is to be located north of Rosemore Junior High.

Other improvements that would be made, if the bond issue is approved, include additions to Etna Road Elementary, Rosemore, Whitehall-Yearling and Beechwood.

At Rosemore, Crabbs said, the board hopes to add home economics, industrial arts, a music area and special areas. The reason, he stated, is to make Rosemore a "full-fledged" junior high with grades seven and eight. At the present time, the building also houses sixth grade pupils.

At Etna Road, plans call for either a multi-purpose room or cafeteria. Crabbs remarked that the decision is dependent upon state standards for physical education.

It is also probable that part of the bond funds will be used for a four room addition at Beechwood Elementary. At the high school, Crabbs said, that an enlargement of the shop areas is being proposed.

And with the advent of Rosemore being a fully integrated junior high, the high school will then contain classes nine through 12.

"The reason behind the building program," Crabbs stated, "is due to the growth and expansion of the pupil population. It is our duty to maintain and improve the situation to the best of our ability."

Although Crabbs expects the building program to be completed in two years, preferably by September of 1962, he declared that the need will be felt before then.

Along other financial lines, the Whitehall board is considering appropriations totaling $1,722,417, an increase of $40,595 over 1960 receipts.

Crabbs commented that salary costs, both for certified and non-certified personnel, comprise nearly 75 per cent of the appropriations.

In other business, the board okayed the employment of two elementary teachers at Etna Road and the purchasing of a deep freeze for the cafeteria.

Depot Will Care For Cemeteries

Supervision of the operation and maintenance of national cemetery installations in a 10-state area is a new mission assigned to Columbus General Depot.

This is a regional National Cemeteries System administrative function, which was formerly located in the Chicago Administrative Center.

There are a total of 88 employes under control of the new Depot office, with six employed in the office and 82 located in the 41 cemeteries under its jurisdiction on the states of Kansas, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri.

Camp Chase, Sullivant-av, is one of the 41 cemeteries involved.

Shows Will Go On Minus Local Veteran

J. Real Neth, who had brought talking pictures to Columbus, and was for 56 years in the motion picture business in Columbus, died Friday morning in Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Requiem High Mass was sung at 10:30 Friday in St. Catherine's Church, Bexley. Mr. Neth is survived by his wife, Ursula Ryan Neth.

One of the most important Columbus leaders in the motion picture business, Mr. Neth made his home at 2658 Bexley Park-rd.

He had been hospitalized since Dec. 13 when he was injured in a fall at his home. He was 72 years old.

Retiring in 1958, after 56 years in the theater business, he sold his chain of Columbus Theaters and planned with his wife to visit friends in Hollywood and travel to Hawaii. Because of declining health, he did not make the trip.

The son of a carpenter, he was born at 87 Pubh-av, attended East High School, and got his first job at age 14, working as a prop stock boy in the old Empire Stock Co.

After working as properties manager, stage manager and acting, he returned to Columbus and managed Billy James' Broadway Theater, now Loew's Broad.

He became supervisor of all the James interests here, and later bought these theaters.

In 1928 he brought talking pictures to Columbus, making

Children Being Shown The Dangers of Smoking

Striking back at a 950 per cent increase in deaths from lung cancer in the past 30 years, the American Cancer Society is in the midst of an educational program among the junior high schools in Franklin County.

Thirty-one of the junior highs in Columbus, its suburbs, and the county have already seen a program entitled "To Smoke or Not to Smoke" which is being offered by the American Cancer Society — with a physician-member of the Columbus Academy of Medicine on hand to answer questions.

"The recent upsurge in smoking among the 12-, 13-, and 14- year old youth of our neighborhoods is appalling," says Dr. William B. Schwartz, president of the Society's Franklin County Unit.

"Children have access to cigarets almost everywhere they go by virtue of coin-operated machines. Thirty years ago it was impossible for a child to purchase cigarets over the counter — but today there is no trouble at all in buying a pack of cigarets," Dr. Schwartz says.

"That's why we are stressing our program in the junior high schools. Teachers and parents are enthused.

"The first junior high to present the program last fall was Crestview — and Principal Don Thatcher wrote us a note saying he had many parents telephone and thank him for telling their children the facts about smoking and lung cancer.

"The message is for everybody, but we hope to get to the children before they become confirmed smokers," Dr. Schwartz says.

He is backed up in his approach to the problem by Dr. John Gallen, a member of the Society's Board. "Up until now," Dr. Gallen points out, "the only thing children knew about smoking is what they heard and saw in the TV commercials. It's time somebody tells them the facts."

The program prepared by the American Cancer Society resulted after 26 long-term studies in eight countries.

The program includes a kit with a filmstrip and accompanying commentary, plus study guild materials for teachers as well as students. After a school has been and heard the program, the materials are left at the school for use in the future as teachers see the need.

Bexley Bumps USTA

BY JOHN POEPPELMEYER

A quiet decision was reached on a controversial measure this week in Bexley Council chambers.

By not bringing the moon up to vote, solons turned down a request by the United States Trotting Association to build a $450,000 office along E. Broad-st between Gould and Merkle-rds.

The same night, legislators heard proposals of two other pending zoning actions: a plan to construct a Senior Citizens apartment building along Sheridan-av near Astor and a request by O. R. Woodyard, Jr., for a funeral home.

Public hearings were set on both matters for Feb. 14.

On the USTA action, council president, Charles Kurtz, Jr., got right down to business and asked that the subject be brought up first.

Schneider 'Cleans Up' In Shower Of Praises

Mayor William Schneider came in for his share of accolades at Tuesday night's meeting.

County auditor Fred Dunn complimented the mayor for a job "well done" in cleaning Bexley streets after the recent heavy snows.

Council added their salute for a top notch effort on effort on garbage pick-up after the blizzards.

Tom Moody In Columbus Council Race

Tom Moody, attorney and 28th Ward committeeman who lives at 4704 Janis-dr, is petitioning for nomination as a member of Columbus City Council.

Formal approval of Moody and two others, Robert T. Southwick and William R. Fornof, is expected soon from the Republican County Executive Committee. County GOP Chairman William Schneider announced the slate.

Moody, 31, has been active in several state and local GOP organizations. He was a lecturer in law two years at Franklin University.

He is an elder of Broad Street Presbyterian Church, is a board member for the Muscular dystrophy Association here, and is a past president of the Y's Men's Club and the Amerigo Juniors Club of the South Side YMCA.

THE WHITEHALL POLITICAL SCENE

TWO GROUPS OF REPUBLICANS VIE FOR PRIMARY HONORS, COME MAY

Two group of Whitehall Republicans are jockeying for positions as front runners in the May primary elections.

One faction, headed by incumbent Mayor Walter Moling, still has a few slots to fill. Among them: auditor, treasurer, Ward 4 and an at-large vacancy.

The other segment of the party, under the leadership of F. E. Shaeffer, has approximately the same number of posts to fill. Top man on the list for this group is Kenneth McDougal, who will be trying to upset Moling. McDougal commented this week that his decision was made after he was "approached by friends and associates who felt I might serve the city to a better advantage."

McDougal added that he was "well acquainted" with the police and fire departments and that he holds both in "high regard". He feels, he stated, "they are the best of their kind in the country and in the state."

As for the city itself, McDougal claimed that there "have been improvements, but not sufficient enough ones."

Shaeffer also announced that Ralph Prout will be vying for a first ward post; Eugene Ray Upperman, for a 2nd Ward spot Harold E. Woods, for 3rd Ward.

As for Shaeffer himself, the former councilman stated that he has petitions out for "three or four positions. Whenever we round up more men, I'm willing to give them a first crack at any slot. I'll be glad to take what is left over," he remarked.

On the Moling side of the ledger, the mayor has announced, as he has been doing from time to time, that he will definitely seek a fourth term.

Another top prospect seeking re-election is the colorful city solicitor James Maxwell.

Up for at-large shots are Orton Davis, present incumbent of the 4th Ward seat, and Ken McIntosh, who replaced Democrat A. Z. Greely this past summer.

Les Ballinger is the candidate for a Ward 1 post and Moling announced this week that Don B. Gorrell will vie for the Ward 3 slot.

Walter Simer, the gavel wielding council president, has also announced that he will seek the nomination again, Moling said.

Both the Democrats and the Republicans have stipulated that their list of candidates are not to be construed as an endorsed slate.

Democratic party head Lewis Bower, who is his party's mayoralty candidate, reported this week that "nothing new" has as yet been worked out for the primary.

Mason Announces; Shipley 'Undecided'

Stepping out of the Democratic "probable" category and into the last of announced candidates for a Whitehall council post is Loren Mason.

Mason is an incumbent councilman-at-large and will seek the same post again.

Meanwhile, one of the stalwarts of the Republican party, at-large solon Ray Shipley, is "undecided" whether or not he will run again. If he changes his mind, and vies for a seat, he will be seeking his fifth term.

Shipley said he has been in "off and on" conferences most of the week with other party faithfuls who are trying to get him to run again.

Mason, in announcing his decision, asserted that he would try to be a strong worker for a progressive city program. "I will continue to fight for the city as I have done in the past," he stated. He pointed specifically to the fight he waged for nine months for free garbage collection.

At the present time, Mason has made known that he will strive to bring the United States Trotting office to Whitehall, now that Bexley has turned it down. Mason also has the backing of the Whitehall Chamber of Commerce in his efforts to give Whitehall a post office all its own, he claims.

Mason added that he "could not see how I could refuse to run, because of the acceptance I received in the recent election."

Other primary footnotes: Democrat party head Lewis Bower said this week that Second Ward Councilman Robert Garnon has still not rendered a decision as to which post he will vie for. Bower also reported that as far as he understands, Third Ward Councilman A. C. Kirchner is still a candidate.

Depot Will Care For Cemeteries

Supervision of the operation and maintenance of national cemetery installations in a 10-state area is a new mission assigned to Columbus General Depot.

This is a regional National Cemeteries System administrative function, which was formerly located in the Chicago Administrative Center.

There are a total of 88 employes under control of the new Depot office, with six employed in the office and 82 located in the 41 cemeteries under its jurisdiction on the states of Kansas, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri.

Camp Chase, Sullivant-av, is one of the 41 cemeteries involved.

'To Maintain And Improve' Whitehall Seeks $1,100,000

With all the talk from the political side of "who's going to run" in the primary elections, most folks in Whitehall may be surprised to learn that their school board will also have an important pending issue.

Superintendent Robert Crabbs related this week that the board will go before the public in May seeking $1,100,000 in order to construct a new elementary school along with other improvements in the district.

The new elementary, Crabbs said, will contain 14 to 16 classrooms and is to be located north of Rosemore Junior High.

Other improvements that would be made, if the bond issue is approved, include additions to Etna Road Elementary, Rosemore, Whitehall-Yearling and Beechwood.

At Rosemore, Crabbs said, the board hopes to add home economics, industrial arts, a music area and special areas. The reason, he stated, is to make Rosemore a "full-fledged" junior high with grades seven and eight. At the present time, the building also houses sixth grade pupils.

At Etna Road, plans call for either a multi-purpose room or cafeteria. Crabbs remarked that the decision is dependent upon state standards for physical education.

It is also probable that part of the bond funds will be used for a four room addition at Beechwood Elementary. At the high school, Crabbs said, that an enlargement of the shop areas is being proposed.

And with the advent of Rosemore being a fully integrated junior high, the high school will then contain classes nine through 12.

"The reason behind the building program," Crabbs stated, "is due to the growth and expansion of the pupil population. It is our duty to maintain and improve the situation to the best of our ability."

Although Crabbs expects the building program to be completed in two years, preferably by September of 1962, he declared that the need will be felt before then.

Along other financial lines, the Whitehall board is considering appropriations totaling $1,722,417, an increase of $40,595 over 1960 receipts.

Crabbs commented that salary costs, both for certified and non-certified personnel, comprise nearly 75 per cent of the appropriations.

In other business, the board okayed the employment of two elementary teachers at Etna Road and the purchasing of a deep freeze for the cafeteria.

Shows Will Go On Minus Local Veteran

J. Real Neth, who had brought talking pictures to Columbus, and was for 56 years in the motion picture business in Columbus, died Friday morning in Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Requiem High Mass was sung at 10:30 Friday in St. Catherine's Church, Bexley. Mr. Neth is survived by his wife, Ursula Ryan Neth.

One of the most important Columbus leaders in the motion picture business, Mr. Neth made his home at 2658 Bexley Park-rd.

As for the city itself, McDougal claimed that there "have been improvements, but not sufficient enough ones."

Shaeffer also announced that Ralph Prout will be vying for a first ward post; Eugene Ray Upperman, for a 2nd Ward spot Harold E. Woods, for 3rd Ward.

As for Shaeffer himself, the former councilman stated that he has petitions out for "three or four positions. Whenever we round up more men, I'm willing to give them a first crack at any slot. I'll be glad to take what is left over," he remarked.

On the Moling side of the ledger, the mayor has announced, as he has been doing from time to time, that he will definitely seek a fourth term.

Another top prospect seeking re-election is the colorful city solicitor James Maxwell.

Up for at-large shots are Orton Davis, present incumbent of the 4th Ward seat, and Ken McIntosh, who replaced Democrat A. Z. Greely this past summer.

Les Ballinger is the candidate for a Ward 1 post and Moling announced this week that Don B. Gorrell will vie for the Ward 3 slot.

Walter Simer, the gavel wielding council president, has also announced that he will seek the nomination again, Moling said.

Both the Democrats and the Republicans have stipulated that their list of candidates are not to be construed as an endorsed slate.

Democratic party head Lewis Bower, who is his party's mayoralty candidate, reported this week that "nothing new" has as yet been worked out for the primary.

Mason Announces; Shipley 'Undecided'

Stepping out of the Democratic "probable" category and into the last of announced candidates for a Whitehall council post is Loren Mason.

Mason is an incumbent councilman-at-large and will seek the same post again.

Meanwhile, one of the stalwarts of the Republican party, at-large solon Ray Shipley, is "undecided" whether or not he will run again. If he changes his mind, and vies for a seat, he will be seeking his fifth term.

Shipley said he has been in "off and on" conferences most of the week with other party faithfuls who are trying to get him to run again.

Mason, in announcing his decision, asserted that he would try to be a strong worker for a progressive city program. "I will continue to fight for the city as I have done in the past," he stated. He pointed specifically to the fight he waged for nine months for free garbage collection.

At the present time, Mason has made known that he will strive to bring the United States Trotting office to Whitehall, now that Bexley has turned it down. Mason also has the backing of the Whitehall Chamber of Commerce in his efforts to give Whitehall a post office all its own, he claims.

Mason added that he "could not see how I could refuse to run, because of the acceptance I received in the recent election."

Other primary footnotes: Democrat party head Lewis Bower said this week that Second Ward Councilman Robert Garnon has still not rendered a decision as to which post he will vie for. Bower also reported that as far as he understands, Third Ward Councilman A. C. Kirchner is still a candidate.

Depot Will Care For Cemeteries

Supervision of the operation and maintenance of national cemetery installations in a 10-state area is a new mission assigned to Columbus General Depot.

This is a regional National Cemeteries System administrative function, which was formerly located in the Chicago Administrative Center.

There are a total of 88 employes under control of the new Depot office, with six employed in the office and 82 located in the 41 cemeteries under its jurisdiction on the states of Kansas, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois and Missouri.

Camp Chase, Sullivant-av, is one of the 41 cemeteries involved.

'To Maintain And Improve' Whitehall Seeks $1,100,000

With all the talk from the political side of "who's going to run" in the primary elections, most folks in Whitehall may be surprised to learn that their school board will also have an important pending issue.

Superintendent Robert Crabbs related this week that the board will go before the public in May seeking $1,100,000 in order to construct a new elementary school along with other improvements in the district.

The new elementary, Crabbs said, will contain 14 to 16 classrooms and is to be located north of Rosemore Junior High.

Other improvements that would be made, if the bond issue is approved, include additions to Etna Road Elementary, Rosemore, Whitehall-Yearling and Beechwood.

At Rosemore, Crabbs said, the board hopes to add home economics, industrial arts, a music area and special areas. The reason, he stated, is to make Rosemore a "full-fledged" junior high with grades seven and eight. At the present time, the building also houses sixth grade pupils.

At Etna Road, plans call for either a multi-purpose room or cafeteria. Crabbs remarked that the decision is dependent upon state standards for physical education.

It is also probable that part of the bond funds will be used for a four room addition at Beechwood Elementary. At the high school, Crabbs said, that an enlargement of the shop areas is being proposed.

And with the advent of Rosemore being a fully integrated junior high, the high school will then contain classes nine through 12.

"The reason behind the building program," Crabbs stated, "is due to the growth and expansion of the pupil population. It is our duty to maintain and improve the situation to the best of our ability."

Although Crabbs expects the building program to be completed in two years, preferably by September of 1962, he declared that the need will be felt before then.

Along other financial lines, the Whitehall board is considering appropriations totaling $1,722,417, an increase of $40,595 over 1960 receipts.

Crabbs commented that salary costs, both for certified and non-certified personnel, comprise nearly 75 per cent of the appropriations.

In other business, the board okayed the employment of two elementary teachers at Etna Road and the purchasing of a deep freeze for the cafeteria.

Shows Will Go On Minus Local Veteran

J. Roal Neth, who had brought talking pictures to Columbus, and was for 56 years in the motion picture business in Columbus, died Friday morning in Mt. Carmel Hospital.

Requiem High Mass was sung at 10:30 Friday in St. Catherine's Church, Bexley. Mr. Neth is survived by his wife, Ursula Ryan Neth.

One of the most important Columbus leaders in the motion picture business, Mr. Neth made his home at 2656 Bexley Park-rd.

He had been hospitalized since Dec. 13 when he was injured in a fall at his home. He was 72 years old.

Retiring in 1958, after 56 years in the theater business, he sold his chain of Columbus Theaters and planned with his wife to visit friends in Hollywood and travel to Hawaii. Because of declining health, he did not make the trip.

The son of a carpenter, he was born at 87 Pubh-av, attended East High School, and got his first job at age 14, working as a prop stock boy in the old Empire Stock Co.

After working as properties manager, stage manager and acting, he returned to Columbus and managed Billy James' Broadway Theater, now Loew's Broad.

He became supervisor of all the James interests here, and later bought these theaters.

In 1928 he brought talking pictures to Columbus, making

Whitehall Opens Adult Education

Robert W. Crabbs, superintendent of Whitehall public schools, has announced the initiation of a new phase of adult education in cooperation with the Vocational Trade and Industrial Services of the State Department of Education and the Ohio State Department of Health.

The first meeting of these classes marked the first efforts of its kind in the nation when 350 water and sewage plant operators throughout Ohio, started basic training.

It is hoped such training will lead to licensing as a qualified operator in their respective fields.

The training is given in 12 localities in Ohio. Bedford, Bucyrus, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Lima, Middletown, New Philadelphia, Painesville, Piketon, Steubenville, Sylvania and Whitehall.

Whitehall has 45 men enrolled. Instruction covers math, science and report writing, while plant operation will be taught by men selected from the State Department of Health.

The classes will be taught by Robert Madaffer and Charles Kline and are a part of the adult Trade and Industrial Education program conducted by Harlen Cotterman, coordinator of the Adult Education Program, Whitehall public schools.

WBBA DRIVE SLATED

The Whitehall Boys' Baseball Association announced plans last week to launch their second advertising soliciation in the city.

"Each individual merchant will be called upon by a member of our finance committee for ads ranging from $5 to $150," reported Don Hall, vice-president.

Hall also said that the group hopes to have a larger and better book this year.

"With May 1 as a deadline for team rosters, it will be possible to have each and every player along with his uniform number listed in the 1961 printed programs," Hall explained.

The schedule for the year and the dates for the play-offs will also be listed in the program which should be ready for sale during the last week in May.

Hall and his finance committee had their final campaign meeting Jan. 5 to discuss last minute details. This year's goal has been set at $3,000, which will cover a major portion of the 1961 budget.

Explosion Hurts Two In Whitehall

Two men were injured last Monday night when an explosion ripped a television repair shop in the Fairport Shopping Center on Hamilton-rd.

The gas explosion damaged five shops in the center, according to Whitehall firemen.

Whitehall firemen estimated the loss at more than $10,000.

The explosion was believed to have been touched off by a gas leak.

John Bintemire, 22, of 4432 St. Margaret-ln, owner of J. and J. Radio and TV Sales and Service, 200 Fairport-dr, suffered first, second and third degree burns over his entire body.

The blast shredded his clothes. He was in fair condition in St. Anthony's Hospital last Wednesday.

A customer in the shop, William Lewis, 52, of 1228 E. Mound-st, was treated in the hospital for hand and face burns and released.

Three of the five shops damaged were closed, including Ernie's Beauty Salon, 194 Fairport-dr; Hill and Ord Kitchens, 204 Fairport-dr, and Edward L. McVey Enterprises, 206 Fairport-dr.

Seven customers and three barbers in the Fairport Barber Shop, 190 Fairport-dr, escaped injury, although the rear of the shop was damaged by the blast, firemen said.

Firemen said Bintimire had just plugged in a television set when the explosion occurred. It was not immediately determined whether this may have triggered it.

Whitehall Business Program Set

Registration begins next week for the Whitehall Business Training Program, according to Robert E. Smith, Adult Coordinator, Distributive Education Services of the Vocational Division of the State Department of Education.

Sign-ups will take place Monday through Thursday, between 7 and 8 p.m. at Whitehall-Yearling High School. Course cost is $3. Classes will meet two nights a week and each course is but two weeks long.

The venture is being sponsored by the Franklin County Business Association, the Whitehall Chamber of Commerce, Town and Country Business Association and the Small business Association of the Federal Government, Smith said.

The winter term begins Jan. 23, and because of a limitation of funds only six courses will be offered this time in sales, supervision and and personality development.

Smith commented that the purpose of the training is to "try and reach young men and women interested" in business training. With five courses under their belts, students will be eligible for a state certificate in Executive Development Training, Smith said. Courses are available to those who have not earned a high school diploma.

University instructors with MA degrees and five years of experience in business are to conduct the courses, Smith related.

"NEAT LITTLE HEADS"

French hair styles are emphatically stated and, though you may not always agree with their style-message, you have to admire their impact that creates the definite personality of a trend. "The neat little head" look was the feature at a recent Paris showing. No matter how varied, the styles are faithful to that basic trend; a small-shape that outlines the head's contours; a "whittled down" back-view, and a suggestion of height through the crown.

A comfortable, becoming coif is the desire of every woman. However, your hair must be in good condition. Arrange now for conditioning treatments. Iva's Beauty Salon, 3978 E. Broad Street, Columbus. Belmont 5-5474.

COL. SANDERS' RECIPE
Kentucky Fried Chicken
BY HARLAND SANDERS
So Tender, So Tasty
North America's Hospitality Dish...
HOW ABOUT THAT !!
That lovable old character like Colonel Sanders came up with such a fabulous idea . . . he took one of our fine feathered friends — the chicken — and making her a part of a most unique invention, produced the most delectable and succulent dishes you have ever pleased your palate with . . . little wonder he made himself famous . . . little wonder people want to touch him and get his autograph every place he travels. People love him . . . they view him as a storybook character. For years he experimented with equipment and chicken and spices and methods to finally produce the tastiest, juciest southern farm style chicken in the world . . . and the reason why no one, yes, no one can come close to duplicating this wonderful mouth-watering chicken is because the Colonel's patented formula contains, among other things, a secret process of blending 11 spices, herbs and flour together and permeating this mixture into the meat of tender yoong plump chickens right down to the bone by a fast frying process that produces something way out of this world for taste . . .

SMILING PROPRIETOR—Mrs. Mildred Smith, owner of the Christian Book and Gift Store, 179 S. High-st, has found her belief that "customers are friends, not just people who spend money," resulting in a business success far beyond her hopes. The store has risen, under her direction, to a successful enterprise in seven short years.

Business Novice Startles Experts With Bookstore's Success Record

By Betty Datt

"I've lived all over the world . . . Hawaii, Europe, Cuba, Canada, but Columbus is the most wonderful city I've ever known. I've found my deepest happiness right here."

And Mrs. Mildred Smith, who has made a fabulous success of her bookstore despite no training or experience in merchandising has, in the opinion of her host of friends, returned to the city's people far more happiness than she has received.

Counting the friendships she has made among business contacts as the true measure of her success Mrs. Smith has, in seven short years, built a business that has been recognized nationally as an outstanding achievement.

The thriving Christian Bookstore and Gift Shop, 179 S. High-st, now numbering more than 300 regular church accounts as well as an impressive list of regular customers, started with no accounts, no customers in 1953.

Mrs. Smith and her two young sons were left alone and frightened in a strange city when her husband, a naval pilot died shortly after the family's transfer to Port Columbus in 1950.

In her loneliness she accepted a job in a small bookstore "for two weeks, to close books. But, trying to forget my grief, I threw myself into learning the business and it stayed open for 18 months."

Finally, when it closed in 1953, she bought the business and rented a small storeroom on E. Gay-st.

The firm's move to its present location five years ago started its climb to real success. Mrs. Smith's achievement was recognized as outstanding by the National Booksellers Association two years ago, and was a chief topic for discussion at its convention.

Mrs. Smith's buying trips take her regularly to shows in New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Washington and Miami where she chooses personally the best available items.

Her store, stocked with religious books, records, greeting cards, sheet music, paintings, jewelry, art objects and ceramic novelties, is a far cry from its humble beginning in 1953, but the rule of conducting business is unchanged.

"We try always for a personal touch," Mrs. Smith explained earnestly. "The store has never been merely a place for people to spend their money, but a place to make friends. We know all our customers by name, we're interested in them and most of them become our close friends."

Mrs. Hazel Armentrout, associated with Mrs. Smith in the business for the past six years, shares her enthusiasm and interest in the store. Part-time help is also employed during busy seasons.

Her two sons, both graduated from college and employed by insurance firms, are another great source of satisfaction for Mrs. Smith. Monroe is an underwriter for Travelers Insurance in Atlanta, and Karl is employed at Nationwide Insurance.

Mrs. Smith speaks thoughtfully of a growing trend in the past few years. "We have an increasing number of professional men as steady customers. Lawyers, judges, surgeons, executive heads of business come in regularly, buying books and records for themselves and as gifts.

"It may be world conditions, but I really believe the increasing pressures of daily living is causing more and more people to seek the serenity of another age. Persons with responsibilities have an especial need for strength and peace of mind."

'Rumplestiltskin' Attitude Catches Up With Eastern Sector Teams

According to the Rumplestiltskin legend, the queen would have had to give up a prize, namely her son, in the event she was not able to guess the name of the wrinkled old dwarf who insisted that her baby be turned over as payment for services rendered.

Well, the fairy tale ended as most do — happily for all but the villain. The queen found out the midget's name, and thereby won the game.

Eastern sector basketball teams, of late, with the exception of the Catholic hardwood contingent, have been "Rumplestiltskining" about trying to seek out ways to win the game. In most cases they, like the queen, have been thrown off the trail by mischievous opponents.

But at least one other entry forged to the front on the legs of a 90 point spread. The Warriors of Eastmoor zoomed over an outclassed and outmanned Utica five who ended up with only 50 counters after the half hours work.

As usual, the Catholic entries in the CCL kept pace, both in and out of the league. St. Charles bopped two opponents, Holy Family 53 to 41, and Lancaster St. Mary's, 39 to 38. Bishop Hartley also managed to rise to the occasion for a pair of wins, over Watterson, 56 to 49, and New Albany, County League leader, 53 to 51.

Unfortunately, both Central Buckeye loop entries, Bexley and Whitehall, succumbed to devastating attacks. The Lions were no match for high riding league leader Urbana and were lucky to come away with only a 49 to 29 stinging.

The Rams didn't fare much better at Arlington, scoring only 42 points to the Bears 60.

Eastmoor came out of the Utica game with an even 3-3 record. For the Warriors, it was their best scoring effort of the year.

The Warriors allowed Utica only two buckets during the first quarter while pouring through 29 markers. Utica managed to dunk in 14 during the second stanza and added 20 more in the third.

Eastmoor, however, was not idle, racking up 35 points in the same two frames. The Warriors exploded for 26 more points in the final quarter even with reserves in the game.

For the Warriors, it was Dean Lampros coming on strong to notch 24 points, followed by Jim Siders, who laced the nets for 17. Frank Stavroff had 12.

St. Charles had a fairly rough time downing Holy Family to retain their unblemished CCL slate. The Cards, behind Paul Bauman with 17, and Tom Blackburn with 16, moved to a 22 to 11 first half lead.

Though the Raiders' hot shooting in the second half gave them 30 points the Cards managed to stay even and then some, by popping 31 points through the nets.

Against Lancaster the following night, St. Charles had its hands full. In an even-steven affair the Cards forged a minute one point first quarter lead. At the half it was tied, 17-17, and at the end of the third quarter it was still knotted, 29-to 29.

"This sort of "you-score-then-I will" attitude went on until the final seconds. With Lancaster leading 38 to 37, John Gugle lofted one through for the Card victory.

Bishop Hartley, too, found the going rough in two weekend encounters against an agressive Watterson five, who failed to be impressed by the Hawks' second place standing.

EIGHT GAMES ON TAP FOR AREA HARDWOODS

In the short space of two days, area cage squads will squeeze in a total of eight games.

In the City League Friday night, Eastmoor plays host to a lowly Marion-Franklin quintet that has yet to win a game in loop play.

Central Catrolic League stalwarts St. Charles and Bishop Hartley are both at home. The Cards are slated to duel with Newark Catholic while the Hawks take on Springfield Catholic. The Hawks have another go at it Saturday in a tilt with Rosary, of the County League.

Both Central Buckeye entries, Bexley and Whitehall, will engage in two frays. Friday night, the Lions entertain Deleware Willis while the Rams greet Worthington.

On Saturday, Bexley travels to Grandview, and Whitehall journeys to Urbana.

Hartley trailed at the half, then came back with a third quarter 20 point barrage to forge into a lead they never relinquished.

Bob Burman was blazing hot as he pumped in 25 markers for the winning Hawks.

Burman stayed at a sizzling temperature against New Albany as once again the Hawks found themselves on the short end of the half-time score. It wasn't until the third canto that Earl Vermillion's boys gained a lead, then only by one point.

It was Walt Teeters who provided the winning margin. Teeters found the range with the score laced at 51-all and brought the Hawks their sixth win of the season. It was Teeters only bucket of the game.

Burman hit for 18 and Bill Meckin for 12. Steve Warren added 11.

Bexley failed to solve a full court squeeze that Urbana threw against them and tumbled to its second loss in the CBL. The Lions put on their best show of strength in the second quarter after being held to nine points in the first stanza.

The Lions hit for only six markers, but held the Hilliclimbers to four, as Urbana left the floor leading by only eight, 23-15. From then on, the Hilliclimbers couldn't be stopped and Bexley couldn't get going.

High men for the Lions were Jerry Mechling and Frank Kass with 11.

Arlington hopped off to a first quarter 15 to 10 advantage and kept applying the pressure against Whitehall. The third quarter proved to be the Rams' undoing as the Bears rammed through 15 points and held Whitehall to but five.

Recreation Center Nips St. Thomas

The East Columbus Recreation Center basketball team won a hard fought battle against St. Thomas by the score of 38 to 24. The St. Thomas team had a two-point halftime lead, but the third quarter was the turning point. In that quarter East Columbus scored 16 points while the visitors managed only eight. Bob Axline was the top scorer of the game with 18 points.

This week East Columbus Recreation Center staged its annual foul shooting tourney to determine the representatives to the city championships. The following will represent the center: Linda Jackson, junior girls; Jerry Bryant, junior boys; Buddy Walton, intermediate boys.

The final standings for the East Columbus Recreation Center Pre-Season Basketball League follows:

1960 CULMINATES DECADE OF GROWTH IN COLUMBUS AREA

Chamber Of Commerce Anticipates Busy Year In 1961

By John J. Mackin
Columbus Area Chamber Of Commerce

The year 1960 has been the culmination of a decade of growth in many facets of the local economy.

There has been growth in business and industry, employment, size of the city, population and all of the factors which go toward the make-up of a well-balanced community.

Looking back in retrospect, these facts are truly remarkable. A few increases in Franklin County since 1950 are: bank debits, up 93.1 per cent; total retail sales, up 61.8 per cent; total employment, up 25.7 per cent; births, up 54.4 per cent and total population, up 35.9 per cent.

These are all indications of greatly expanded economy and foretell great things for the future.

But looking at current statistics, we note that with only one exception, the over-all level of business activity has remained above that in 1959 every month during the first 10 months of 1960. Both bank clearings and debits were well above last year's totals and commercial and industrial electric power companies has risen four per cent over 1959's consumption.

New passenger car sales are up from last year by a 5.7 per cent increase with an 8.8 per cent improvement in the sale of used cars. Rail shipments have increased during 1960 to a point 4.6 per cent over a year ago.

It would appear that some business factors are moving along a conservative path of improvement, while others are marking time, for the moment.

The coming year should see the beginnings of many building projects that have already been announced and planned.

For instance, the Kingsdale Shopping Center is to be expanded with a $1.5 million investment. Several existing stores are to be enlarged and a new Kresge Store is to be built.

Many new hamburger drive-ins are to be built. Burger Boy is to have four new ones to cost $125,000, and McDonald Drive-In is investing $11,250,000 in Ohio, $1,875,000 of which will be spent in Columbus for 15 drive-ins.

The F.&R. Lazarus and Company is planning to spend $1.5 million more for its expansion program. A $750,000 air-conditioning distribution system will be installed; a 100-car parking garage will be built, and the second floor remodeling will be completed.

Two $1.5 million Roman Catholic high schools are in process. One is to be on the west side and one will be on the north side. The Ohio Bar Association is building a $650,000 Ohio Legal Center on the Ohio State University campus.

Ohio State University itself is continuing its building program of dormitories and classroom buildings.

The M&R Dietetic Laboratories, Inc., is greatly enlarging its facilities. An addition to its offices will be added and a new production facility will be constructed for a total of $492,000.

The Columbus Coated Fabrics Corp. has recently acquired a 24.7 acre site in Worthington for an 80,000 square foot warehouse.

Hospitals and churches continue to grow. Ground has been broken for a 50-office physicians building at Riverside Memorial Hospital to cost $2,000,000. Children's Hospital has just gotten its $600,000 Research Center under way.

Linden Church of Christ is building a two-story church for $300,000; Dublin Church is adding on to its existing church for $112,486, and Brookwood Presbyterian Church has started its $400,000 main sanctuary.

More luxury motels are springing up on all sides of Columbus. F&Y Construction Company is building one in the immediate vicinity of Ohio State University to be called the Ohio Stater. It is to have 108 units and will cost $700,000.

Other motels are to be the Clarmont by Frank Kondos in the south end; the Travel Lodge on the near northwest side; the Scioto Downs on S. High-st at the new Scioto Downs Race Track; the Country Inn on N. High-st by the Nationwide Insurance Companies, and others.

Regardless of the fact that residential building has been slow, builders are still planning more new houses. The biggest project is by Huber Homes which has announced plans to spend from $5 million to $10 million within the next 10 years. It is planning to build about 2,900 houses northeast of Routes 3 and 161 on

Westlake Adopts 'Ambitious' As Key Word For New Year

1961: Year Of Expectations

AN EDITORIAL

1961 is a year of great expectation.

In the wake of a population boom accompanied by an unprecedented era of rapid development, Central Ohioans anxiously await the fruits of the new year heralded to bring a new high in progressiveness.

Initiated in previous years, the freeway system ringing Columbus and Franklin County will begin to take a more formidable pattern. Plans for the construction of the long awaited outerbelt were announced last week.

Columbus will take big steps forward in launching the construction of a new sewerage treatment plant. In addition, key storm and sanitary sewers are on the docket for completion.

The Stelzer-rd water line which will carry water from Hoover Dam to the South-East sector of the city will reach completion in mid-1961.

The Columbus Area Council of Churches will observe its 15th anniversary of service to Franklin Countians with many special events throughout the year.

A new Riverside Methodist Hospital on Olentangy River-rd will replace White Cross. A modern rebuilt Grant Hospital will revitalize its importance in the community. The old White Cross Hospital will be remodeled and put back into use as a general hospital.

The Columbus Public Schools will undertake a large building program which includes construction of two new high schools. Other districts throughout the county will also be adding classrooms to absorb the wave of population gains.

With a decade of progressive development experience in the past, new ideas being born for the future and many willing hands contributing to the continued development of Central Ohio, it is no wonder that great things are expected in 1961.

Sewers, Highways, Parks Receive Major Attention

By Bill Rush.

"A" will stand for ambitious in Columbus during 1961.

That was the word from Mayor W. Ralston Westlake last week when he reviewed the progress of the city during the past year and flipped the pages of time ahead to scan his program for the new year.

"We've got quite an ambitious program lined up for the city," the Mayor surmised. "It has to be."

Centered mainly around a proposed $8,061,300 capital improvements budget, Westlake hopes to enrich Columbus' climate for progress which he already terms "perfect."

"People from all over the nation admire Columbus," he boasted. "Industry is just finding the city. We have the water, available labor and plant sites. The climate for continued development is perfect."

A major step that will enhance the city's position will be the completion of the Stelzer-rd water line from Hoover Dam to the East Side.

A pet project of the Mayor, the new main will supply ample water to Columbus' far East and South-East sections. The first leg is almost complete now and the Mayor has set early summer as his target date for completion.

An interchange and a storm sewer project which will cost $1 million apiece are the major items on the budget.

The city will pay that amount as its share in the federally participated construction of the Fort Hayes Interchange of the innerbelt. This interchange will connect with the North-South Freeway which spreads northward to Medina.

The other big item is the construction of the Fairwood-Frebis storm sewer which will relieve basement and street flooding in the South Side.

sewer line projects on the slate are the main Scioto Trunk Sanitary sewer to the treatment plant on Jackson-pk estimated to cost $750,000; two phases of the Big Run trunk line, on the West Side $385,000; the East Columbus sanitary relief sewer, $500,000; and the Bliss Run storm sewer, $610,000.

An additional $200,000 is allocated for the purchase of a sewerage plant site south of Lockbourne along Big Walnut Creek near its confluence with the Scioto River.

Criticism was heaped on Columbus several years ago for lagging behind in the construction of sewer lines. Westlake points out that isn't the case anymore.

"We're proceeding on the sewer construction program as fast as possible. The only thing slowing us down is the lack of availability of contractors and concrete pipe. We have the money."

Two parks and a recreation center will also be built. Scheduled for development are the Clime Road Park ($570,000) and Alum Creek Park ($440,000). Professional engineers will be hired to survey the southeast sector of the city to determine where a $350,000 recreation center should be constructed.

Seven highway projects including $139,300 for the lighting of the north freeway take up a major share of the appropriations.

East side improvements will include the relocation of E. Spring-st from Grant-av to Ham-

'Newness' Is The Key Word In County Regional Planning

By John Auble, Jr.

Newness — in ideas, in developments and in projects—was the key word of 1960 at the Franklin County Regional Planning Commission, and it looks as if it'll be the by-word in 1961.

Looking back, Harmon Merwin, director, stated that 1960 may be characterized in the main as one of clean-up, reorganization and much preparation for planning.

Many of the Commission's plans for the new year fall under the heading of "office management."

Merwin pointed out that office remodeling now underway will be a major step toward a more efficiently operating organization.

The Commission is currently striving to coordinate activities between city and regional staffs to prevent overlapping of work, Merwin added.

This will be much of the work done in 1961.

The Commission moved into their building at 514 S. High-st on Feb. 12, 1952. The Commission itself was organized in 1950 to coordinate planning of the county and various municipalities on a metropolitan basis.

"The outlook for 1961 seems brighter than ever," Merwin said, and listed the following

1. We now, or will have in the next month, better working conditions when the remodeling is completed.
2. We are set up to do regional planning.
3. We will work with municipalities, and
4. We expect to hire a larger staff.

Five new employees were recently added to the Commission staff, including Chief Planner Bob Wilson, Planners Jerry Dasso and James Schrader and part-time planner John Popet.

The new additions step up the staff to ten full time employes and two part-time help-

Hospital Program Nears End

By Grant A. Drennen
Director of Public Relations
Columbus Hospital Federation

1961 will witness the completion of the multi-million dollar Hospital Expansion Program in Franklin County.

The dedication of Riverside Methodist Hospital Mar. 19 and Grant Hospital in early July will formally complete the eight projects of a carefully-planned program begun in 1956 under the leadership of The Columbus Hospital Federation.

Designed to meet the demands of a population estimated to increase to 700,000 by this year, this gigantic undertaking has been cited as one of the outstanding community development projects in the United States.

One of the unique features is the combination of public and private funds to finance construction of facilities at the eight private, non-profit general hospitals.

In addition to the $15 million provided by taxpayers through the bond issue of 1956, more than $8 million has been contributed by corporations and individuals.

With all construction costs allocated, less than $300,000, for equipment and furnishings remains to be raised. A local committee of community leaders is working on this last phase of the project.

In addition to the eight non-governmental hospitals, University Hospital, which is operated by the State of Ohio, and Alum Crest and Ben. Franklin Hospitals operated by the county, participate in the centralized planning of facilities.

Projects have been completed at Children's, Doctors, Mercy, Mt. Carmel, St. Ann's and St. Anthony Hospitals. Construction of a 46-bed Neuropsychiatric Unit and Out-patient

CHURCHES GAIN STRENGTH

New Lutheran Church Formation Big Event

By Dr. G. Weir Hartman,
Executive Director Columbus Area Council of Churches

In this special year-end edition of Hartley Newspapers, it is my privilege to report for the Protestant Churches of the community.

Events of the past year have affected the churches. Churches have passed some milestones and made history of their own.

The year of 1960 completed the first decade and a half of their services to the community through their cooperative organization, The Columbus Area Council of Churches.

It was in the last year of World War II, 1945, just a few months before VE Day, that the churches formed their council. The 15th anniversary will be celebrated in a series of events that will continue throughout the present year.

Lutheran Merger

One major event of the year was the formation of the new American Lutheran Church, of which the former American Lutheran Church with national headquarters in Columbus, was one of three uniting denominations.

This merger effected 30 churches in Franklin County and moved the headquarters from Columbus. The 35 general officers and their families moved from our community to the new national center at Minneapolis.

Another significant advance was made in the religious life of the community by the erection and dedication of the new Methodist Theological Seminary at Delaware.

While this is of particular concern to the 70 Methodist Churches in Franklin County and the others of the State, it is an event of interest to all Churches. It gives us a second first-rate theological training center for the Columbus area.

The past year was also significant in new services instituted by the churches. A new full-time chaplaincy was begun

BIG YEAR AHEAD

Milestone May Be Reached By Schools

By Dr. Harold H. Eibling
Superintendent Columbus Public Schools

The year 1961 may well become a milestone in the long history of the Columbus public school system. For 1961 is the final year of the three-year improvement program made possible by voters in November of 1956, when a 3.8-mill operating levy was passed by a large margin.

Impressive strides have been made by the Columbus Public Schools during the first two years of the life of this levy.

For example:

The services of the Columbus Public Schools have been extended to accommodate approximately 7,700 more pupils.

Televised lessons have been added in English, science, art, physical education, and reading improvement.

The testing program has been expanded, with new tests being given in reading, arithmetic, language, health science, and American history.

Counseling services have been expanded in junior and senior high schools with the result that the number of pupils served by each counselor has been reduced from an average of approximately 2,300 to an average of approximately 843 pupils.

Opportunities for pupils having special capacity to learn or having special educational difficulties have been improved in a variety of ways.

Eastern Motor Dispatch, Inc., which opened three facilities in 1960, expects to increase its volume in 1961.

The Columbus-headquartered east-west truckline opened a new 40-door terminal in Elizabeth, N.J., early in 1960; added another modern facility in Pennsauken, N.J., two months ago, and completed a working arrangement with Economy Packing in Manhattan's Port Authority Building in the fall.

As a consequence Eastern Motor Dispatch is closing 1960 with an increase in tonnage over 1959.

H. H. Buel, president, reported recently the line expects to increase its volume in 1961.

"Our growth is bound to affect its bit to increasing Columbus size and business volume in 1961," he commented.

TAKES BIG STEPS IN 1960

Hirsch Organization Expanding

Gustav Hirsch Organization, Inc., internationally known electrical and communication engineers and contractors with headquarters at 1347 West Fifth-av, has embarked on a major expansion program during 1960.

The first acquisition was Eastmoor Electric Co., 500 N. Stanwood-av which operates primarily in the residential electrical construction and service field and school and commercial projects. W. Daryl Horne and Don L. Liston are in charge of the Eastmoor operation.

A branch office at 90 Clairton-blvd, Pittsburgh, Pa., was outfitted with a complete staff of superintendents, engineers, estimators, and draftsmen. The Pittsburgh office is operating projects at U.S. Steel Corp., Irvin Works; Weirton Steel Co., Weirton, W.Va.; Connellsville State Hospital, Johnstown Sewage Treatment Plant, Fox Chapel School, German Township School and other projects in the Pittsburgh area.

The operation is under the management of Allen C. Baker who was transferred from the headquarters office.

A new corporation — Gustav Hirsch Organization Of Alaska, Inc., was organized with headquarters in Anchorage. Approximately $3 million worth of work was contracted during 1960 in this office being headed by Mark Chisum and Jack Chisum.

Gustav Hirsch Organization, Inc., purchased controlling stock in Incore Electric Co., 1010 Richmond-st, Cincinnati, and the company was successful in obtaining an excellent backlog of work to be carried over into 1961.

A sizeable minority interest was also purchased in National Telecommunications Supply, Ltd. at Ottawa, Canada and Canadian Construction Company of Quebec.

The Canadian operation is similar to the Columbus operation with principal work in the communications and defense field. The Canadian operation is headed up by Carl W. Johnson of Kenora, Ontario and Dr. Hans J. von Baeyer, Chief Engineer at Ottawa.

The Madrid, Spain office, managed by John Van Bommel at Calle de Nunez De Balboa, continues to serve on U.S. Air Force projects in Spain.

Near the close of the year, two major projects — a transmission line crossing Turnagain Arm for Chugach Electric Association, Inc., at Anchorage, and Plattsburgh Missile project at Plattsburgh, N.Y., totaling over $4 million were contracted. Other projects at: Vandenberg AFB, Lompoc, Calif.; Warren AFB, Cheyenne, Wy.; Lowry AFB, Denver, Colo.; Ellsworth AFB, Rapid City, S.D.; Offutt AFB, Omaha, Neb., are in progress and will be completed in 1961.

In the Hirsch Organization's headquarters area, contracts in progress include the Detroit Steel Company, Portsmouth; Columbus Psychiatric Institute and Hospital, Columbus; Bishop Ready High School, Columbus; Upper Arlington High School, Columbus; Park Towers Apartments, Columbus; Law Center Building, Page Hall Library, Married Housing Project No. 2, and Pomerene Refectory at Ohio State University; Diamond Power Specialty Corp., Lancaster; Columbus Jewish Home for the Aged; Columbus; Muskingum College, New Concord; Denison University, Granville; NASA, Plum Brook Facilities, Sandusky.

at Grant Hospital on Sept. 12 in the person of Mrs. Dorothy Faust.

In April, a community Counselling Center was opened on a part-time basis, available with trained counsellors for pastors to refer people for services.

The Center operates on a limited schedule, but is one more opportunity which churches are developing.

A new development was recorded in religious services for retarded children. In addition to classes in the Retarded School, Sunday morning classes have been instituted in churches.

At present classes are operating in four churches in various sections of the city, reaching 150 children.

Another service to youth was the first united Protestant Scout service held on Boy Scout Sunday, Feb. 7. This was a part of the 50th Anniversary of Scouting observed by the churches, and a second Protestant Scout rally will be held this coming Scout Sunday Feb. 12.

All Scouts who have achieved the church awards are especially honored.

Also, the first Chapel at Boy Scout Camp Lazarus was designed, erected and dedicated this past year on Sept. 17 under the promotion and supervision of the churches.

Church Expansion

The year was significant for church expansion. Nine new churches were dedicated as well as six new educational buildings.

In addition, allocations for five new churches in new and developing areas of the suburban communities were granted by the Survey and Comity Committee.

This means that within one or two years, these churches will be erected and dedicated.

Since the end of World War II, approximately (80) churches have been established.

This marks a growth of more than 25 per cent in the number of congregations.

A new activity this year will be a united service on World Day of Prayer, Feb. 17, at Veterans Memorial Auditorium. This will mark the 75th anniversary of the Day of Prayer and the 15th of the Council of Churches.

Many other events during 1961 will celebrate the anniversary of the council as the churches move forward in their growing program of community service.

Planning—

tion department, the most significant activity of 1960 was the ratification of the new Articles of Agreement.

"This is a set-up in which both the cities and county contribute equally to finances," Merwin explained.

Staff members spent much time during 1960 in "communication" activities.

In addition to daily visits from citizens seeking information about specific cases, several telephone queries were handled daily.

Merwin concluded by saying, "How much we'll be able to do this year will depend on our sources of revenue."

Central Ohio: Most Progressive Area

Electric Co. Service Area Is Big Gainer

"Ohio's Most Progressive Area,"—the 23 counties served by Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. form one of the nations most rapidly growing sections.

In the 10-year census period, the United States population increased 18.5 per cent, the state of Ohio's gain was 22.1 per cent, and the Company's service area showed an increase of 25.7 per cent!

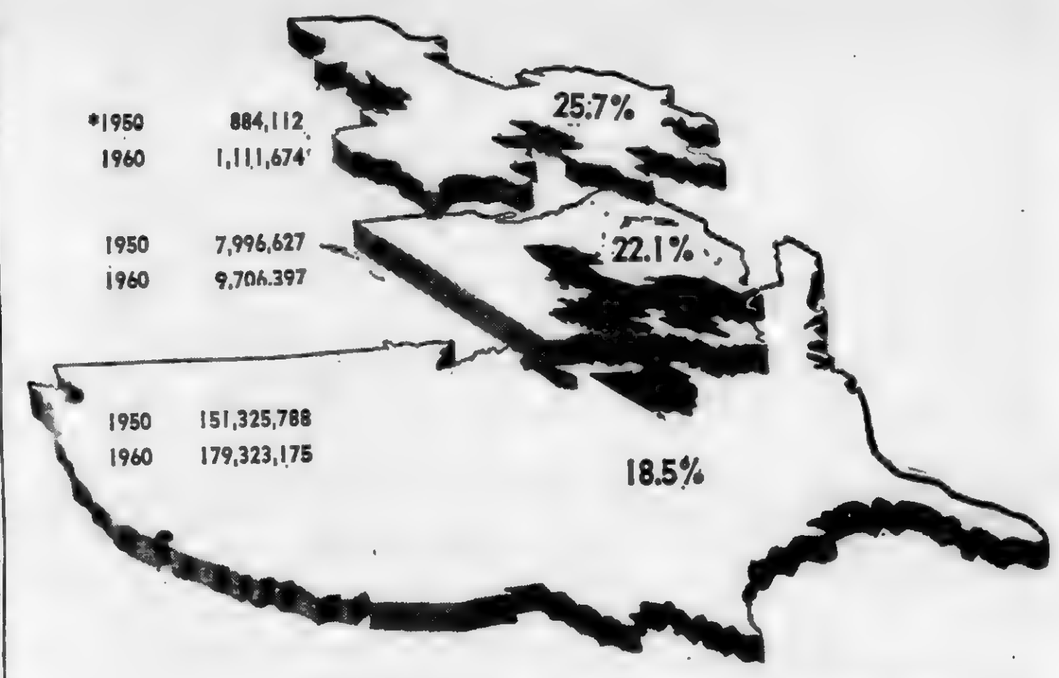
While this progress is an important physical attribute, more essential is the manner in which the area and the company have combined to provide better living for more persons in these communities.

In the same 10-year period, the company's facilities have been increased to not only keep pace with its customers' needs, but also to plan for their requirements for five, 10 and even 15 years in the future.

In its efforts to better service central and southern Ohio, Electric Company representatives have been working closely with central and southern Ohio communities to assist them in becoming more attractive to industry. As a result, new industries have been steadily selecting this area for their new manufacturing homes.

Since the nation's first responsibility is to its youth, the company has greatly expanded its services for schools in many ways.

This year, for the first time, the company offered competitive examinations for high school science students. Thirteen had scores on the tests high enough to qualify them for an all-expense trip to Chicago to attend the Second Youth Conference on the Atom.



A new science manual, "Living with Electricity," was produced and distributed as a supplemental text for high school science classes.

A series of 10 movies, "How We Live in America," produced nationally as an explanation of our economic heritage, is being continually used in all schools in the 23-county service area.

These are but a few on a long list of continuing activities planned to aid in the growth of today's young people. While the process of physical growth goes on and our power plants and facilities for distributing electric energy are constantly enlarged, we are matching this pace with ever-increasing "good neighbor" activities for customers of all ages.

GROWTH . . .

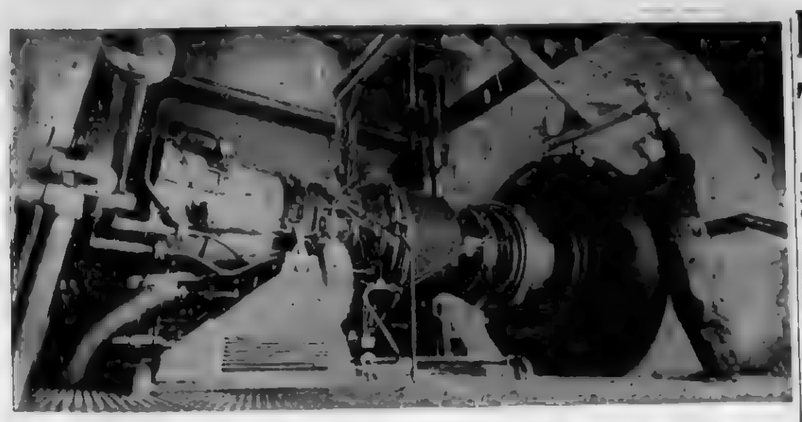
*United States Census population and percentage figures



Our steadily increasing population has required The Electric Company to plan its growth years ahead. And, while we've planned expansion in plants and facilities to keep pace with our customers' needs, the Company is also planning more important kinds of growth.

The future of our 23-county service area, just as the promise of the nation, is dependent upon the enthusiastic productivity of our young people.

This year The Electric Company has engaged in its broadest program for youth. Science students took competitive examinations to qualify for a trip to Chicago for the Second Youth Conference on the Atom; the Company prepared a teaching supplement for classroom use on "Living with Electricity"; a series of movies, "How We Live In America," has been made available to all schools; the Home Service Department has sponsored Cherry Pie Baking contests for high school students . . these are but a few of our activities designed to better prepare the youth of today to become the useful citizens of tomorrow.

JET ENGINE PUMPS GAS—An aircraft-type jet engine installed recently at the Clementsville, Ky. compressor station of the Columbia Gas System, pumps millions of cubic feet of natural gas a day on its way from the big gas producing fields in the Southwest to homes, stores, and industries in Ohio.

Service Extended To 4,100 Homes In County By Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

Natural gas service was extended to more than 4,100 homes in Columbus and Franklin County by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. during 1960, it was announced today by Wibur T. Collins, Central District manager for the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

Ohio Fuel invested $2 million during the year to improve and expand gas service in the greater Columbus area. The gas company built more than 50 miles of new pipelines, and made a number of other improvements.

Along with construction expenditures, Ohio Fuel uses the latest scientific devices and techniques to bring the advantages of modern gas service to its customers, Collins said.

As a result, he said, Ohio Fuel now provides the comfort, convenience and economy of gas service to 180,000 homes, stores, and industries in the county.

Major pipeline projects completed this year included: North Linden area supply line, $95,000; relocation of a 20-inch diameter Fifth-av, feeder line, made necessary by the construction of the North-South Freeway, $44,000; extension of service to Winchester estates, $55,000; new Morse-rd, extension, serving Maize Meadows and nearby area, $41,000; new supply line to Pine Hill subdivision, $18,000.

In addition Collins, said, Ohio Fuel completed the installation of automatic gas-regulator controls at four company town border stations, where gas delivered to Columbus by Ohio Fuel's vast transmission system enters the city.

This automatic equipment, controlled from Ohio Fuel's district service building at 920 W. Goodale-blvd, makes it possible for Ohio Fuel to regulate deliveries of gas to Columbus customers merely by pushing a series of buttons on a central control panel.

Before, Collins said, when there was a change in the gas demands of the community, a workman had to be dispatched to each border station to make pressure adjustments manually.

Technology figured prominently in other phases of the gas company's operations during 1960, Collins said.

For example Ohio Fuel's parent corporation, the Columbus Gas System, recently became the first to successfully harness jet thrust for industrial needs. A jet aircraft-type engine installed at a new Columbia compressor station at Clementsville, Ky. now pumps millions of cubic feet of gas a day through a big transcontinental pipeline.

Ohio Fuel also continued to develop its underground storage facilities. Underground storage is the science of storing gas, delivered to Ohio from out-of-state, in former producing reservoirs located strategically throughout the state. The gas is stored in summer, when little gas is needed for heating, and withdrawn as needed in winter to help heat homes.

Underground storage, developed by Ohio Fuel at a cost of $61,000,000, makes it possible for the gas company to meet the tremendous winter gas needs of its customers. More than 93 per cent of Ohio Fuel's customers in the greater Columbus area use gas for heating.

Without storage, Collins said, Ohio Fuel would be unable to serve the tremendous volumes of gas needed today — at today's reasonable rates. He pointed out that residential gas rates in Ohio are among the lowest in the nation.

Collins added that Ohio Fuel and Columbia people are engaged in a continual search for more efficient and more economical methods of operation that will continue to assure customers of the best possible gas service at the lowest possible cost.

In addition to underground storage, automating town border stations, and the use of jet power at compressor stations, Collins cited the gas company's use of plastic and aluminum gas pipe, remote controlled transmission systems, automatic pipeline system analyzer, automatic billing equipment, and the use of compact cars for company travel. Each is contributing to increased efficiency, and economy, he said.

Producers Livestock Inc. Term 1960 'Good Year'

Central Ohio farmers will mark down 1960 as a fairly good year for them, reports Producers Livestock Association.

The association in 1960, through its 18 branch markets and order buying company, handled approximately 2,500,000 head of livestock selling for more than $135,000,000.

Central Ohio markets operated by the cooperative at Columbus, Lancaster, Mt. Vernon and Marion, handled more than 700,000 head of livestock. Their 11-month total was 664,658 and the estimated December run would bring them well over 700,000.

In hog sales, Columbus led all of the 18 branch markets. Lancaster and Columbus were in the top three in cattle sales.

Columbus was second in sheep and third in veal calf numbers. Marion led all markets in sheep and lamb volume, and Mt. Vernon was among the leaders. Marion was near to top in cattle, calves and hogs.

Hog prices at the end of 1960 were about $6 higher than one year earlier, the association pointed out. Weights of 190-220 pounds sold through Producers on Dec. 30, at $18 to $18.50. The better fed cattle were selling at the year end about $1 or more above the close of 1959. Producers in the final week of 1960 sold prime steers up to $29.50, and choice from $25 to $28.60.

Veal calf prices were slightly lower at the end of 1960 than one year earlier, with prime up to $39, compared with some sales above $40 in 1959.

Choice lambs in the wool brought $17.50 to $19.20 at Producers auctions the final week of 1960. A year earlier they were somewhat higher, selling at $19 to $19.70. Lamb and veal calf prices, it should be noted, fluctuate more sharply than values on other species and therefore a single week's comparison is not as valid.

Producers Livestock Association is owned by its 75,000 members in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Gerald L. Hiller of Columbus is the general manager, and Lester J. Utz, New Washington Ohio, is president.

COLUMBIA GAS SYSTEM

Symbol of Quality Gas Service

The widespread operations and facilities of the Columbia Gas System and its subsidiary companies, like The Ohio Fuel Gas Company, have been designed to meet the ever increasing demands of existing customers and to provide the same top quality service to thousands of new customers.

Columbia is a leader in the development of new techniques and operating practices that assure its customers of getting the best, first. Ohio Fuel engineers, for example, perfected underground storage of gas, which enables Columbia companies to meet the tremendous winter demands for gas to heat homes.

Only recently, Columbia became the first in the gas industry to harness jet power, supplied by an aircraft type jet engine, to pump natural gas from the producing wells to market, more efficiently and more economically. Columbia people take pride in being able to provide their customers with the finest gas service in the world -- today and tomorrow.

OPERATES IN FOUR STATES

Grange Mutual Insures 250,000

John C. Haaf

Grange Mutual Casualty Co., 671 S. High-st, nears the end of its 76th year of operation with the endorsement of 250,000 policyholders as its guide for the future.

Organized under the insurance laws of Ohio on March 25, 1935, the firm began writing automobile business the next month from its offices on the sixth floor of the Southern Hotel.

Growth followed immediately and the company moved to 50 S. Third-st and later purchased the six story building at the northeast corner of Town and High-sts.

In 1949, the premises at 671 S. High-st were purchased with four additions being added later.

A regional office in Orlando, Fla. was constructed in 1959 to handle the firm's business in that state plus Alabama and Georgia.

There are 250 employees in the two offices with 225 stationed in Columbus.

President of the firm since 1944 has been John C. Haaf, one of the founders. Other officials are Charles H. Haaf, executive vice president and general manager of the Florida region; Harry A. Caton, secretary of the National Grange, first vice president; Rodney B. Baldwin, attorney, second vice president and general counsel; John P. Kelser, secretary-treasurer; and Knox M. Stewart, counsel and assistant to the president.

The company has approximately 400 agents, who sell a full line of fire and casualty insurance;

Automobile property damage, automobile liability, automobile, comprehensive, automobile collision, comprehensive personal family liability, farmers comprehensive personal liability, general liability, garage, plate glass, burglary, personal accident, hospitalization, fire and extended coverage, homeowners, and inland marine.

The company had more than a 25 per cent gain in premiums written in 1960 over 1959, and is one of the fastest growing in Ohio. The company's aim is to give its policyholders the best coverage available at the lowest rate, to provide its policyholders with complete service, and to act as their partners in protection.

Since 1935, the firm has grown from 2,000 to 250,000 policyholders, has increased its coverage from four to 39 areas; has increased its net premiums from $61,874 to $6,500,000 and has grown in admitted assets from $52,044 to $20,500,000.

Chamber —

1,000 acres of land there.

Other projects are Kar-Mel Village by Hall Homes in the north Linden area. There are to be 350 homes to sell for $15,500 to $18,000. Virginia Homes is adding 500 more units on the near east side of the city.

Investment will be $6.8 million for a subdivision of singles, two-family and four-family units. Another large project on the north side is Salem Village being built by Jewel Homes.

The 350 brick homes, to sell for $14,600 to $18,350, are to cost $5.6 million. Two other smaller projects are planned. They are Worthington Woods by Karl Slabaugh, 40 homes to sell for $26,000 to $36,000, at a cost of over $1.25 million, and Lynn Homes on the east side which will have 184 units to sell for $14,500 to $19,000.

First Community Church has announced plans to invest $4.8 million in a Retirement Center in Upper Arlington to house 450 to 500 aged persons in apartment type units.

In addition to all these, the expressway program still moves along and eventually Col-Met will have a road system to be proud of.

All these plans have been prompted by earlier indications, but the clinching argument was the announcement of the results of the census of 1960 by the U.S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of the Census.

In this census of 1960, the bureau found that the population of Columbus had reached 471,316, an increase of 25.4 per cent since 1950, and that the population of the Col-Met area had grown by 35.7 per cent since 1950 to reach 682,962.

With these planned activities in mind, we anticipate a busy year in 1961.

Also scheduled for construction between now and September are elementary schools at the following locations:

On the south side of Livingston-av near the proposed outerbelt;

On Watkins-rd between Bulen and Rhoads-av;

On Alum Creek-dr immediately north of the Terrace Garden Apartments;

Near the intersection of Sixth-av and Sixth-st;

Near the intersection of Walford and Northridge-av; and

On Calumet-st about half a block south of Olentangy-st.

The board also plans to begin construction on a senior high school between Karl and Maize-rds and just north of Cooke-rd. This school will not be occupied until 1962.

Additions are planned at nine schools, and remodeling projects are scheduled for seven schools during 1961.

Although all of these projects are included in our present plans, the actual decision to proceed with each project is subject to one more comprehensive review. We simply do not commit ourselves to undertake a construction project unless its necessity is absolutely established.

Departing momentarily from journalistic custom, I should like to take this opportunity to express thanks to the Hartley Publishing Co. for making this space available to me. I am always gratified to have an opportunity to communicate with the people of Columbus.

I should also like to express appreciation to the people living in the area served by Hartley Newspapers for their loyal support of our efforts to expand and improve educational services in Columbus.

Without the understanding and support of the people and the newspapers, my column would have had a grim tone.

Westlake—

...ilton-av ($450,000); extension of Livingston-av from Lattimer-dr to Noe-Bixby-rd ($300,000); rerouting of U.S. Route 33 from Berwick-av to Refugee-rd ($500,000).

One West Side project includes the purchase of land in the city and engineering for the extension of Wilson-rd from W. Broad-st to Sullivant-av. The city has allocated $45,000 for this improvement which will be made in cooperation with Franklin County since part of the land lays outside the municipal limits.

Rounding out the program is construction of the North leg of the innerbelt from the New York Central Railroad to Cleveland-av ($392,000) and elimination of the grade crossing at Morse-rd.

Mayor Westlake also has hopes of doing some initial work toward the extension of Grandview-av from McKinley-av to W. Broad-st. Just how far he will be able to go depends on the federal funds left over from the West freeway.

Other projects already underway which will be realized in the new year are construction of a $760,000 fire complex on Whittier-st and building of a women's workhouse across from the present workhouse.

The new fire complex will house the division's headquarters, communication, maintenance and training center freeing space at city hall. Space is important since court rooms must be made available for the three new municipal judges which the city recently was found entitled to add.

The Mayor is quick to point out that the training tower which will be built along with the fire complex will lower fire protection rates in Columbus.

All in all, 1961 shouldn't mark any slowdown as far as the city is concerned. For Mayor Westlake, the key word will be "ambition."

I would have written about emergency measures instead of growth and progress.

Ohio State School Of Cosmetology Holds International Reputation

One Ohio firm has an international reputation for good looks.

It's the Ohio State School of Cosmetology, located at 199½ S. High-st, which is directed by president, George A. Townsend.

Besides possessing an established reputation in producing cosmetologists, the school also has received credit for turning out competent, skillful and ingenuous operators in its other three fields: barbering, advanced hair design and the Harper method.

Principal assistants of Townsend are Mrs. Lelia Townsend, director of education, and Howard Evans, director of admissions for the Ohio State School of Cosmetology; Clair Parsons, director, and Bernard Boyd, manager of the Ohio State Barber College; and R. Clete Heck, styles director of the Ohio State Academy of Advanced Hair Design.

The fourth school qualifies about 75 students annually to use the Harper Method of Rochester with its complete services, line of tested beauty aids and established techniques.

The Ohio State School of Cosmetology, however, is the best known of the four courses of education.

Largest of its kind in the state, it ranks as among the nation's top ten, with students each year from several states and even internationally.

Inquiries about the course of instruction are received from all over the world. One in every six or seven students is a man.

The cosmetology school instructs about 500 students yearly in beauty theories and practical usage of those theories. Its next 6½ month term starts Jan. 16, although a few vacancies occur from month to month.

Instructors keep abreast of new trends by attending summer workshops at the university level.

The Ohio State Barber College offers a 32-week course to as many as 48 students at a time. The present class numbers 43, with one or more being graduated almost weekly.

The Academy of Advanced Hair Design trains cosmetology graduates in current styles, salon techniques, coloring, permanent waving and the like. Classes are limited to 15 students each.

Day and evening classes start Monday, Jan. 16, and Monday, Feb. 6. Information regarding enrollment may be obtained by calling or visiting the school.

McDonald's System To Build 125 New Drive-Ins Next Year

McDonald's System, Inc., announced plans recently to open 125 new drive-in restaurants during 1961 at a total investment in excess of $15 million.

Ray A. Kroc, president of the firm, reported this compares with opening of 82 new drive-ins during 1960

Currently a total of 230 McDonald's drive-ins are operating and 41 more are under construction.

Operations of the McDonald's chain were extended to six new states in 1960—Delaware, Kansas, Massachusetts, Oklahoma, Oregon and Utah. The chain now operates in a total of 31 states.

Kroc reported that total sales volume in 1960 is expected to exceed $42 million, almost double the volume of 1959 which was $21,438,041. The McDonald's president estimated sales volume in 1961 will reach between $65 and $70 million.

"Our growth continued at the same remarkable pace in 1960 with no slackening of sales despite a softening of the economy," stated Kroc. "Perhaps the main reason is that we are a basic meat-and-potatoes business, offering the public a combination of quality, cleanliness and speed of service in selling hamburgers and French fries, perhaps as American a menu as can be found.

"We have resisted inflationary trends to keep our same basic 15-cent price for hamburgers by the simple expedient of increasing our sales volume."

McDonald's operates units in Columbus at 3643 S. High-st in the Great Southern Shopping Center and 45 S. Hamilton-rd in Whitehall.

Hospital—

Clinic is in progress at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

The new Riverside Methodist Hospital, located on Olentangy-River-rd near North Broadway, will provide accommodations for 412 patients. When Riverside is opened, White Cross Hospital at 700 North Park-st will be closed for renovation and major repairs after which it will be placed back in service as a general hospital.

The new Grant Hospital, a skyscraper in the heart of the city, will accommodate 400 patients and will have specially-designed emergency rooms to handle the many emergency cases originating in the downtown area. The Town-st Wing of the present Grant Hospital will be converted for use in the care of patients who are confined for longer periods.

With all facilities in operation, the hospital system is expected to serve nearly 2400 patients per day in the general hospitals with an additional 400 longer-stay patients at Alum-crest and Benjamin Franklin Hospitals. Planning has been based on an estimated occupancy rate of 83 percent which is regarded as ideal for the metropolitan area.

Hospital authorities say that maternity sections normally operate best at an occupancy rate of 65 to 75 percent while other sections should not exceed an average of 85 percent occupancy.

The Columbus Hospital Federation is continuing its study of in-patient facilities in an effort to assure the most efficient utilization of community resources and to keep plans flexible enough to meet the needs of the ever-increasing population.

H. G. Dill Co. Labeled 'Columbus' Consulters'

Back in 1951, four engineers, merged ideas and planning in the formulation of a company.

Today, a decade later, the H. G. Dill Company, 2607½ N. High-st, employs between 50 to 75 persons on its rolls, and could rightfully be termed "consulting engineers for the City of Columbus."

The Dill Company has worked on such items as structural and sewer projects, subdivision developing, the Hudson and 5th-av grade crossing elimination, and, according to H. G. Dill, "most of the sanitary work for the city."

In addition, he said, his company has furnished the manpower for 50 per cent of the subdivision developing in the City of Columbus. Most of the subdivision work has taken place in the North end of town and in Newark, Dill said.

"Consulting engineers," defined Dill, "are the ones who conceive a workable project from its beginnings, then get down to details on the drafting board."

Dill, who was graduated from the Ohio State University and who was employed by the engineering firm of Burgess and Niple before branching out on his own, facetiously admitted that the "hardest part is getting a staff to do the work, so you don't have to."

He added however, that he did not have any trouble getting his business going.

Actually, Dill stated, there is very little that could be termed "new" in the field of engineering.

"Mostly," he outlined, "designs are variations of fundamental principles, the idea of getting down to practical application with modifications to bring a design 'up to date.'"

"College," he said, "helped me to work into the engineering field." But he feels that all good engineers do not necessarily have to have college degrees. His company holds classes in its office rooms for those who desire to enter the engineering field.

"I," he summarized, "would rather have a man in my company with a desire to learn, than a college graduate who is a know-it-all."

voting by announcing "We believe in doing what is best for the city and not what each constituent wants done.

"On this controversial rezoning, there are one or two items which the people may not fully understand and which we (council) have to take into consideration.

"After a piece of property has lain fallow for years, the owner of the property can go to court and claim hardship and force us to change zoning. We also have to consider that the property might lay vacant for years

"There has been and is no effort to railroad anything. We want to do what you want done, coloring that by our own experience."

Kurtz then moved for a motion, but none was forthcoming. "The matter is dropped," said he

As Dick Connor, attorney for USTA walked out, Kurtz offered a "Sorry, Dick," comment

"That's alright," Connor rejoined, "That's the way the processes of government work."

On the funeral home matter Woodyard stated that he would like to see a tract 157 by 148 along Livingston and Francisco avs rezoned He is ready, he said, to enter into a contract with Lewis Vierick, property owner, if approval is forthcoming. Solicitor Howard Park remarked that the area would probably have to be rezoned commercially with restrictions

In addressing the council on the proposed 34 unit Senior Citizens building, Starling Hanford, of Hanford Associates, developers, explained that the project would cost between $250.000 and $300.000 with the government financing 90 per cent of the amount. The apartments, he stated, would rent in the range of $110 to $125, unfurnished.

The Senior Citizen age group was defined as those "62 years of age or older." In addition to the living quarters, a community dining room is planned for the second floor and a community living room for the first floor. The basement is to house a recreation area and wash room.

Only financial measure approved Tuesday night was the annual appropriations. This year, Bexley expects to expend $835,466.

Solicitor Park is also looking into the possibility of drafting an ordinance to prohibit parking in all streets in the city between the hours of 2 and 5.

Western Electric Met Dedicated Workers

1960 Called 'Big Year' For Bell System Plant

By J. D. Burlie

Traditionally, a year-end review provides an opporunity for business to take inventory of its occomplishments of the year just past, and to project the measure of the year ahead.

We entered the sixties anticipating numerous challenges. With this in mind, we began immediately to prepare ourselves for what was to come. We did not need to resort to the technique of "crystal-ball-gazing" to see these challenges, for it was evident that there were, are, and will be increased needs for the types of telephone switching equipment we make here.

In addition to meeting manufacturing commitment dates for these types of equipment, we had to prepare more space and facilities for the manufacture of new types of switching equipment developed by the Bell Telephone Laboratories and our engineering force.

In view of this production expansion, it was necessary to proportionately increase the strength of our employment figure. Those of you who have watched our progress in Columbus since mid-1957, may have noticed that we gradually have added new employees to our rolls.

At the beginning of the year we had approximately 2,600 people on our payroll, excluding the Columbus Bell Laboratories personnel. Today we have approximately 3,700 on roll at Western Electric, and the Columbus B.T.L. increased their on-roll figure from 102 last January to 135 at the present time

I would like to mention that I have been impressed with the vitality that Columbus area people bring to their jobs here. Among the employees at the Columbus Works I have found a vigorous dedication to getting today's job done in a manner befitting the spirit that pervades not only Western Electric, but the entire Bell System.

At our Columbus Works we have developed our own formula for meeting challenges—that of superlative craftsmanship and technical excellence. These twin attributes — our own and the ones we feel we share with Bell System people everywhere — promise much in terms of future achievement.

For us, 1960 was a big year in terms of production, employment, training and employee activities. In fact, each of these areas grew in a direct proportion to our overall activity during the past year. More important though, it was a better year in terms of operating efficiency.

We met our regularly scheduled commitments as well as several emergency crash programs, and we met them better and faster than ever before. Evidence of this operating efficiency is exemplified by the teamwork to provide new No. 5 Crossbar Package Central Office and Automatic Number Identification Equipment for the Bell System operating companies.

These and other developments are important production projects to which we exerted considerable effort in addition to turning out greater quantities of our major products — No. 1 and No. 5 Crossbar frames and associated apparatus.

To meet these and other challenges associated with technological advancements it is necessary to keep our engineers informed of the latest advances in their own related technical fields. To this end we have responded by encouraging our engineers to participate in the Company's formal Graduate Engineering Training Program.

This program fulfills two fundamental requirements of advanced engineering traiping. It is designed for new engineers who must be familiarized with the intricate technical environment peculiar to the telephone industry and it is also designed for experienced engineers who must constantly study and review new developments in their own and related fields.

Our training does not stop here. Twelve young men here have completed our intensive 3½ year Apprentice Tool and Die and Machinist Training program, with nine of the 12 graduating this year. Upon graduation these men become journeymen in their particular trades. Presently, there are nearly 40 apprentices under-going training in this program.

We also have a Tuition Refund Program in effect, whereby an employee may further his education and self-improvement by attending an accredited college and taking courses required for certain degrees or other courses related to his particular job. Upon satisfactory completion, the Company Galley Two Western Electr drp will refund the tuition paid by the employee.

During the past year, well over 150 employees have taken advantage of this opportunity to improve their overall educational background and were enrolled in this program at various colleges and universities in the Columbus area. I might add that through this program two employees have earned college degrees.

Enthusiasm, interest and responsibility are contributions of Columbus Works people to the life of the community, as well as to their jobs. To this end many employees are active in civic and political work in their communities and take part in the work of the city's welfare and humanitarian agencies, through their support of the United Appeal and Red Cross Blood Donor Programs.

Recently, employees enthusiastically joined in a program to assure a pleasant and joyful Christmas for three Columbus institutions by donating numerous gifts and decorations.

Off the job, our employees participate in Company-sponsored, well-rounded and well-planned recreational and athletic activities. The three major events during 1960 were the Annual Baseball Day at Jet Stadium; the Variety Show at Eastmoor High School, featuring an all-employee cast; and the Works' Picnic at Gooding's Zoo Park.

Highlighting the scope of events during the year was our week-long Guest Nights program in September. During this time all employees had an opportunity to invite their families and friends to see their plant in full dress.

We were also very fortunate in being rewarded for our efforts in the areas of safety, administration, plant design, national defense, community service and internal communications. During 1960 the National Safety Council presented us with their "Award of Honor" and the Industrial Commission of the State of Ohio presented its "Special Award" to us.

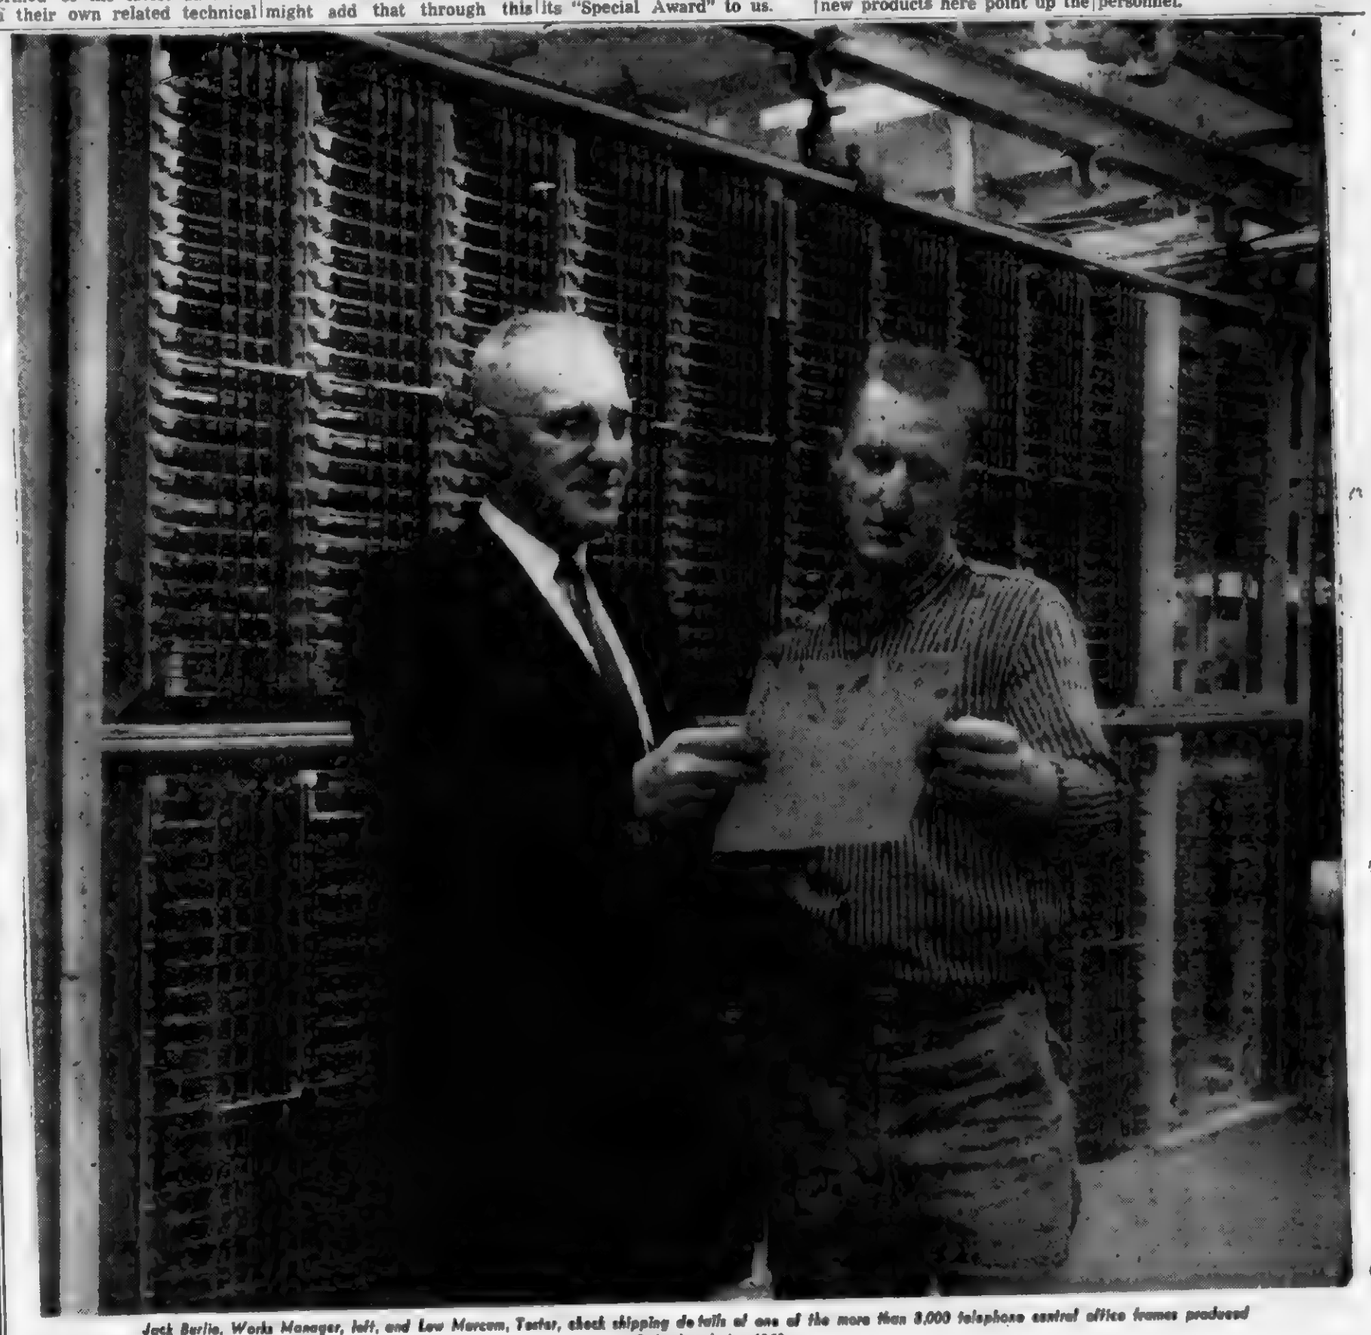
We were also elevated in status by our own Company from a "Plant" to a "Works" which signified that our operations here reached a point in production, plant population and manufacturing responsibilities applicable to that of Western Electric's larger manufacturing units.

In April, we were pleased to learn that the editors of Factory Magazine selected our plant as one of the "Top Ten" plants in the country. Through the voluntary efforts of over 50 per cent of our employees signing up for U. S. Savings Bonds through our payroll deduction plan, the U. S. Treasury Department presented us with a citation.

Once again, and for the fourth time in succession, the United Appeal of Franklin County presented our employees with their Plaque Award for outstanding citizenship in the community. Another United Appeal Award was presented to us for the efforts we are making to communicate factual information about U.A. within the plant.

All told, it was a busy and eventful year, but the full import of 1960 cannot be measured simply by listing our accomplishments, significant as they were. 1960 was noteworthy, too, because it was a year in which more critical attention than ever before was given to a force that will become increasingly important to us over the years ahead. I refer to competition in the communications and electronics industry.

The vigor, vitality, and venturesomeness with which we are preparing for production of new products here point up the fact that we will meet the challenges of competition that lie ahead. The spur of competition adds a new and invigorating sense of urgency to our traditional task. The jobs ahead look more demanding, yes—but they look more exciting, too.



But what about the future? Our plans and visions of today will bring better telephone service tomorrow. The future looks good. We are confident that the things that have been planned for tomorrow will come true.

The telephone industry has moved into the age of electronics and even into space communications. This means, of course, that many telephone products, and the processes by which they are made, must undergo fundamental changes. In view of this, you may have read that just last month a truly remarkable event took place in Morris, Illinois — that of cutting over a new form of a Bell System telephone switching mechanism called an Electronic Central Office.

This new development will eventually have far-reaching consequences for the technology of telephone communication. Now, what does this mean to the Western Electric Company here? It means that we have been designated as the manufacturing engineering headquarters and manufacturing location for future production of this new product.

Here is another challenge about which I have been talking.

In 1961, our scope of production at Columbus is expected to be considerably higher and in direct relation to the degree of experience and efficiency of personnel.

We've had a happy new year here!

Western Electric's first full year in the new plant out at 6200 East Broad Street was both happy and successful.

First, getting us started on a happy note, Factory magazine voted us one of the country's Top Ten Plants of 1960—for beauty and productive capabilities.

The beauty of our plant is obvious to everyone who passes by. The productivity is evidenced by the fact that over 10,000 tons of telephone central office switching equipment were shipped from Columbus during 1960 for installation throughout the Bell Telephone System. In so doing, we have been playing a major role in helping the nation enjoy the finest telephone service in the world.

This fine productive record was made possible by the 3,700 Columbus men and women who work with us, and who took home pay checks totaling over $18,000,000 during 1960. The record also owes a great deal to the Columbus-area firms which supplied us with some $1,500,000 worth of goods and services.

We're proud, too, that our taxes help support Columbus' schools, roads, parks and other civic services . . . and that our employees and their families devote a lot of their time and money to community service and welfare activities such as United Appeal, Red Cross Blood Bank, Junior Achievement, Scouting, church and school activities.

We look forward to the years ahead as a solid and stable industry here in Columbus, and hope you will consider us good neighbors. To all our employees, our friends, and neighbors who helped make 1960 the success it was, we extend our most sincere thanks.

inia Homes, Inc. has an- ed that they are now g plans as part of their anniversary to offer spe- anniversary events. The f these special events is announced to the public bruary.

he drastic home building vements and new homes e announced this year, firm stated.

rginia Homes has made strides in the past ten to provide fine quality, ntionally built homes in $10,000 to $15,000 price ce the building firm start- 1951, it has developed a family planned home com- ty known as Hillgate lo- on Parsons-av. This new nunity provided a multi- on dollar stimulant to the mbus economy in the near h Side.

rginia Homes, constantly ing to provide a better e for young home makers, ided a real breakthrough in the local housing market by building a large three-bedroom ranch style home well under the $11,000 price, which featured a complete monthly payment of $79, including taxes and insurance. This enabled families to purchase a home for less than they had been paying for rent.

Two new planned home communities were developed in the Columbus area due to the tremendous response to this home.

Virginia Homes' latest area is a 560 family home community of Millbrook located on Moler-rd. As another first on the local building scene, Virginia Homes are building and developing an $85,000 wooded recreation center with such facilities as a 40-ft. by 82-ft. swimming pool, volley ball court, shuffle board courts and children's play area. This large two acre recreation center will be for the exclusive membership of the new homeowners in Millbrook. The recreation center is scheduled to open May 30, 1961.

Three new 1961 model homes are offered in Millbrook priced from $11,350. These homes offer three-bedroom ranch style, full basement and also attached garage.

The building firm believes that the developers of planned home communities must begin to offer more than just "strings of houses on a street." The firm believes that today's young families buying their first home, demand more from a builder than good construction and name brand materials.

These young families with growing children, need and want parks and recreation facilities, safe streets, good proximity to schools and conveniently located near shopping centers, the firm believes.

Officers in the development company are Warren E. Wittmann, President, V. S. Wittmann, Vice President, Charles C. Tansel, Vice President, and Byron E. Ford, Secretary and Legal Counsel.

Wittman grew up in Bexley and attended school there. He entered Ohio State University before World War II and spent four years in Naval Intelligence; worked and went to school on his return home from the service and graduated in Business Administration from Ohio State University in 1947.

He was a chairman on the FHA-VA Committee of the Home Builders' Association of Greater Columbus and held the post of Director for five years and the office of Vice President for three years. Wittmann has also served as trustee of the Ohio Home Builders Association and is a past director of the National Association of Home Builders. Since his first building venture, the company has constructed over 1,000 homes, some for real estate firms, as well as investment companies.

Tansel, vice president and general manager for Virginia Homes, Inc., practically grew up in the construction industry. He is a son of a Toledo contractor, has worked in the retail and wholesale lumber business and also was affiliated with Midwest Homes, Inc. in Mansfield. Tansel holds a degree from Michigan State University.

Kocher, who is sales mangaer of the firm, has a lifelong background in the sales field. He has been with the firm for the past three years.

Robert H. Spicer, Sales Promotion Director, has spent six years in the retail merchandising field, three years with an advertising agency, and has been with the company one year.

Wittman, stated the firm believes its rapid growth has been predicated on offering more value, more space per dollar than many builders in the area.

The company plans vast expansion in 1961 and the years ahead.

Three new planned home communities are on the drawing board for this year.

The firm plans to open a 185 family community in Gahanna to be known as Heritage early this spring. The new homes will be in the $16,000 to $21,000 price range and will feature extra large landscaped home sites.

The firm also plans to open new home communities in other parts of the state, as well as in the Middle West.

One principal said she did not feel the need for such a program until she polled her 7th and 8th graders and learned that 63 per cent admitted they were smoking. She immediately telephoned and arranged for the program.

While the Society is aiming primarily at the children, Dr. Schwartz points out the value adults seeing it also gain. "This gives parents the answers and may make it easier for them to handle the problem when it arises in their own families," he says, and then he adds, "It also tells the facts to adults and maybe we can encourage them to give up the habit."

Dr. Schwartz points out that the American Cancer Society feels an obligation to call attention to the facts to everyone in the county. "After all, each April when we ask residents of Franklin County to contribute to our 3-fold program, they do — generously.

"The facts as we present them in this film, as in all of our films and literature, are what we've learned through Research. By disseminating them to the people we are carrying on a part of our Educational Program.

"Our overall purpose is to save lives. Everytime we can discourage somebody from taking up the habit of smoking, or of quitting smoking, we reduce the chances of death by lung cancer, Dr. Schwartz notes.

Organizations wishing to see this program, or any other, need only telephone the American Cancer Society to make arrangements.

Shady Lane Teacher Promoted

New School Building Planned In Far East

by BETTY DAFT

At least 12 and possibly 14 additional classrooms will be ready for youngsters in the far eastern area in time for enrollment next September, completion date for a new elementary school.

Columbus School Board Tuesday approved construction of the new building.

Woodcrest Elementary to be located on Livingston-av at the proposed outerbelt, will be the easternmost school in the Columbus School system. The site is east of Big Walnut Creek.

A substantial amount of real estate development in the area has made the school a necessity.

Woodcrest will contain 10 or 12 class rooms and a multi-purpose room. Site of the building will be dependent upon price.

The school is scheduled on the 1961 construction program and will be completed by September.

In other actions, the board promoted James Roy, teacher at Shady Lane School, to the position of cadet principal. He will be assigned to the administration building for training as a principal.

He was graduated from Marshall College with a B.A. degree and received a master's degree from Ohio State University. He joined the Columbus School system in 1956.

Roy is a resident of 3192 Scottwood-rd.

Dr. Harold Eibling, school superintendent, announced the annual anonymous gift of $5000 had been received by the board.

The money, designated for use as ten $500 grants for teachers to advance educational projects is given to the board each year by an unnamed donor.

Recipients of this year's grants will be announced about Apr. 1.

Kirchner Stymies Pay Hike

A monkeywrench was thrown into the Whitehall legislative gear Tuesday night that throttled efforts of solons for a quick pasage of pay raises for elected officials.

Al Kirchner engineered the legislative mechanical breakdown by casting a "no" vote on bringing the measure up for emergency approval. Kirchner also stymied a move to okay a "clean snow off sidewalks" bill by the same method of refusing to sanction it as an emergency action.

With the exception of endorsing preliminary plans for the Hamilton-rd improvement, only one piece of legislation managed to make it through the council go-round: the long-pending, multi-paged criminal code. According to Solicitor James Maxwell, the ordinance has been in the safety committee hopper since last June.

Kirchner expressed no reason for his delaying tactics, and even fellow Democrats expressed surprise at his voting. Finance Committee Chairman Ray Shipley, a Republican, stated after the meeting that his committee, of which Kirchner is a member, had unanimously endorsed the proposed pay scale.

The ordinance calls for annual salaries for the mayor, ($8000); treasurer, ($1800); auditor, ($3300); solicitor, ($7500); councilmen and council president, ($1200).

The "snow shovel" ordinance reached the floor twice and even then ended up being relegated to a second reading.

Dems Richard Hyatt, Robert Garnon and Loren Mason disapproved of the bill the first time, then Hyatt moved to delete the words pertaining to clearing a four foot path in the event walks are unpaved.

Council approved but still did not have enough power, with Kenneth McIntosh absent, to override the Kirchner "nay."

Introduced at the last council meeting, the ordinance requests residents to have walks cleared of snow and ice by 10 a.m. each day.

According to Maxwell, the "snow shovel" bill is simply a measure to protect the city

ADMINISTRATOR CREAGER OF THE FLORENCE CRITTENTON HOME
A Belief in the Worth of the Individual

Crittenton Home Is Still Doing Its Share In Time Of Need

The death of a young girl before the turn of the century, the dedication of her father to serving needs of others, and the endeavors of others like him, has served, up through the years, to become a beacon of trust for young women who have needed help.

For one of the oldest established service facilities in Columbus, the Florence Crittenton Home, at 1166 E. Main-st, has indeed done its share since its founding in 1903.

Its new administrator, Mrs. Ivan D. Creager, of 806 S. Chesterfield, is herself a dedicated person who follows the philosophy of having a deep conviction in the worth of the individual.

Mrs. Creager became director in September. Since then she has been getting adjusted to her duties and to her girls, as well as having them get adjusted to her.

Florence Crittenton died when very young. Her father, Charles, decided during his period of grief to dedicate his life to serving others, Mrs. Creager will tell interested listeners.

The national program, 20 years older than the Columbus established one, was founded in 1883 and was first called the Crittenton Mission.

Although the Columbus Home received its charter in 1903, the present building was not dedicated until 1926.

It is associated with the United Community Council and the United Appeals of Columbus and Franklin County.

Mrs. Creager was with the state welfare department for 20 years. She was graduated from Ohio State University and has a masters degree in social work from Washington University in St. Louis.

When referring to the cost of medical care for the girls, Mrs. Creager explained that the operating budget for this year was over $74,000, adding aptly that "it is less expensive than neglect."

The rest of the funds under which the mission acts comes from fees, but no girl is denied care for financial reasons.

The home takes care of approximately 100 girls a year, on the average.

During 1959, there were 112 admissions. During the first eight months of this year, there were 72 admissions. The home is licensed by the Ohio Department of Health, for a capacity of 29.

The period of stay varies with the individual need.

The maternity home is a group living facility that provides residential care. A part

On Double-Barreled Discipline—Home and School

"Unfortunately, we are passing through a period in which many parents who should know better and who want to 'be good to their children' forget their moral duty to rear their offspring, and confuse the gift of a motor scooter with the gift of good home training."

This was a statement made this past week by State School Board President Charlton Myers, who further was critical of over-emphasis on extra school activities and lack of discipline in the classroom.

Here is fine food for thought for parents. His emphasis on better discipline in the classroom is one that needs special attention from the teacher. It is a matter that every good parent should demand from the school system.

Good teachers want to be looked upon as something more than just good baby sitters. Parents need to insist on discipline while at school and back it up with proper discipline at home.

Future Looks Bright For Southeast Area

South-East Columbus is a blessing in disguise.

Generally regarded as a sore spot in the city development picture, the old Marion Township area has drawn its share of criticism for the drain on city funds required to service the huge annexed tract.

But looking to the future, all of Columbus may be thankful that Marion Township was absorbed by Columbus.

A lot of things are happening in the South-East. The city is constructing a water main along Stelzer-rd from Hoover Dam to serve the area. Preliminary planning is underway for a new sewerage treatment plant to be con-

Bexley Solons Take Aim On Elimination Of All-Night Parking

Elimination of parking problems besetting Bexley have become a prime source of conversation in council chambers.

Solicitor Howard Park has gone into a huddle with Mayor William Schneider and other city officials to draft an ordinance along the lines of an Oshkosh law, which bans parking from the hours of 2 and 5 a.m.

According to the Oshkosh measure, doctors, lawyers and others on emergency errands are exempt from the city ruling. Hardship cases may apply for a $4 permit.

Schneider, however, has made it clear that the "Oshkosh ordinance" is being used merely as an outline and inclusions in it will not necessarily remain in any forthcoming Bexley parking ordinance.

The mayor favors banning parking on Bexley streets from the hours of 2 to 6 a.m. and adds that the bill is not being pushed as a new financial source to the city. He is concerned with eliminating the problem provided by an accumulation of parked cars all

Davis Sounds Campaign Note: 'Certain Businesses Unwanted'

Campaign tunes registered a high note in Whitehall council chambers this week, but the most surprising solo came from mild-mannered Orton Davis, chiming in with a clarion-like call to rid the city of undesirable businesses."

With the claim that "certain types of businesses are killing Whitehall" Fourth Ward Republican Davis, who is seeking an at-large post, climbed into the political ring seeking the future elimination of night clubss, bars, trailer parks, carry-outs, food dspensing stands, and a host of other enterprises.

"People," Davis stated, "have been complaining of an overflow of business. The businesses that came early brought the things we needed the most."

"But," he complained, "some of this has gone to extremes. It has come time to call a halt to some of these businesses."

The councilman listed bars, night clubs (with the exception of those where the principal business is that of a restaurant), trailer parks, hamburger stands, drive-in restaurants, motels along E. Broad-st and "any other trade that will be injurious, hazardous, noxious or offensive.'

Other businesses included on the Davis list were that of acid manufacturing, construction material manufacturing, dis tillation processes, explosives, fertilizer, rayon manufacturing, stock yards and slaughtering of animals.

WARN CHILDREN ABOUT STRANGERS

The walk between home and school should be a delightful daily adventure for most youths.

This seemingly harmless path, however, holds many dangers for the child who is not prepared to cope with problems which he may face. This particulary applies to the menace of sex offenders.

Not intending to unduly alarm anyone, Franklin County Prosecutor Earl Allison has warned:

"Although there is a natural tendency to play down these unpleasant matters, we parents must start thinking of our children, every one of whom is a potential victim."

Allison points out that during the 22 months he has been prosecuting attorney, 27 persons have been convicted of criminal assaults upon 31 girls and 16 boys.

To combat this danger and familiarize youngsters with methods of precaution, Allison is distributing free an educational pamphlet through PTA, church groups, service clubs and individuals.

A copy of the booklet is available by contacting him at the Franklin County Court House.

Although your family might never be affected, it behooves all to prepare their children against possible harm.

Consumer Report

Food Market This Week

by ESTELLE B. FRANKS

THIS WEEK SHOP FOR:

Fruits—Grapefruit, oranges, tangerines, bananas, apples.

Vegetables—Cabbage, celery, lettuce, endive, potatoes, dry onions.

Meats and Poultry—Fryers, Boston butts, chuck roasts, picnics, liver.

January through March is the time to neglect the can opener and use citrus fruits fresh. It's the height of the citrus season—fruit is sweet and juicy and prices on the whole are the lowest of the year.

And what a wonderful selection you'll find this week. At one store we found pink and white grapefruit in a variety of sizes, juice oranges, Florida Temples, California navels, tangelos (cross between tangerine and grapefruit), stacks of easy-to-peel tangerines, lemon and limes. Most of the orange varieties were offered in at least two sizes.

Grapefruit particularly is a bargain, so enjoy a half for breakfast, minted grapefruit as an appetizer, grapefruit sections in salad, or broiled grapefruit for dessert. If you like grapefruit sweetened, try mild clover honey instead of sugar. Drizzle it over the fruit and let is stand in the refrigerator a short time before serving for a delightful blend of flavors.

WHAT'S THE PRICE AND SUPPLY SITUATION FOR CITRUS?

While fresh citrus prices are now at a seasonal low, they are above last year's. Why? Market supplies are a little lower and demand is strong. Fresh marketing and processing were both retarded in Florida because of late maturity and losses caused by the hurricane Donna. Marketings increased in December and prices declined, but they are generally above those of a year ago, and are expected to remain that way.

The 1960-61 crop of oranges is only about three per cent smaller than the 1959-60 crop. Grapefruit supplies are slightly lower—Florida estimates its crop is one half million boxes less than a year ago, but the Texas crop of Ruby Reds is the biggest in 10 years. The tangerine crop is 50 per cent larger. And partly because of the late start in harvest, remaining supplies are larger.

Then why are prices higher when more fruit is available? The answer lies with those little cans of frozen juice we like to use the year 'round. About one-third of the total citrus crop, and nearly one-half of the orange crop, are now consumed as frozen concentrate. Its growth has been phenomenal in the last 15 years and it continues to gain in popuplarity, especially frozen orange juice.

Stocks of frozen (and canned) citrus were low when the new crop came to market. So, when processors' stocks are low, all possible efforts are made to contract for enough fruit to meet the increased demand for the processed product. They paid high prices, especially for oranges, and this means that shippers of fresh fruit can also demand higher prices.

But the price increases are not great, so let's enjoy this "sunshine fruit" while it's

'Who's Who' Of Tussing Road 'Jinxed'

Friday The 13th Has Nothing On These Folks

By John Poeppelmeyer

Friday the 13th has come and gone, but the folks living along Tussing-rd have begun to think that they are living amid a perpetual siege of unlucky days.

Minus black cats crossing their paths, without walking under ladders, irrelevant of broken mirrors, one accident after another has befallen nearly every family in the Tussing-rd area, according to reports by one of its residents, Mrs. Roger Tussing.

Tussing-rd is but a three mile stretch, starting at Brice-rd and terminating at State Route 256. Some 15 families are housed in the vicinity. The sequence of mishaps has scarred all but a handful.

The incidents, if they can be called that, range from a big toe getting caught in a power mower to a heart attack; from blood poisoning to a horse rolling over a youngster.

The list of those involved reads like a "Who's Who" of Tussing-rd:

Bob Peterson — foot caught in tractor power lift.

Linda Cook — toe cut by power mower.

Dennis Smith — blood poisoning.

Dick McWilliams — appendectomy.

Becky McCall—horse fell on her.

Rufus Adkins — heart attack.

Gerald Tussing—knee operation.

Erma Adkins—operation.

Vic Smith—operation.

Bernice Boyer — broken arm and leg.

Margaret Tussing — fell down stairs.

According to Mrs. Tussing, who is the chronicler of the events, the whole neighborhood has been commenting on the plight of luck into which they have been thrown.

"The chain of events began six months ago," Mrs. Tussing noted.

"The Peterson boy somehow got his foot caught in the power lift of a tractor. Several stitches were sewn and he had to spend the rest of the summer on crutches.

"Linda Cook, too, had her summer vacation spoiled by the power mower accident. Even in November, the cut on her big toe was seeping. It was so bad that doctors couldn't even sew it. But it's all right now."

The Smith family, it appears, came in for a rain of chain of events. Listen to Mrs. Tussing's report:

"Last summer Dennis got blood poisoning from a cut on his foot. In December, his father, Vic, had an operation. His sister, Bernice Boyer, who was going to sit with him the day after his operation, fell on the ice and broke her leg in three places and her arm in two places.

During the interim, the rest of Tussing-rd residents had enough to worry about:

"Dick McWilliams, had an emergency appendectomy. Becky McCall's horse fell on her, cutting a large tendon in her foot.

"Rufus Adkins had a heart attack in October and is still recuperating.

"Gerald Tussing hurt his knee playing football for his dormitory at Ohio State University. Later, while pulling his traps this winter, he twisted his knee and it had to be operated on.

"Emma Adkins had a December operation and just went back to work this week.

"And I," Mrs. Tussing said, "fell down the stairs, cut my head and had to have x-rays taken of my ribs.

"We on Tussing-rd are beginning to wonder."

UBA Installation Is Next Tuesday

BIBLE COMMENT

Bible Will Show How Words Fit

The word "brotherhood" has different meanings for different people.

For some the word has a more limited meaning than for others. Few can bring themselves to shake off their prejudices in a Christianlike manner to embrace — if only in thought — all men everywhere.

This is a big order for even the most devout Christian. As we are beset by troubles throughout our lifetime it is all too tempting to blame others for our own mistakes. Perhaps it is the people across the street, foreigners, those of other religions and races. Looking down on someone is always the easy way to believe others are looking up to us.

Thus, reacting to the pressures of our own frustrations and shortcomings, it becomes all too simple to put aside the words of Christ to his apostles: "Love one another."

There was no qualification. He did not say: "Love those you choose to love" or "Love only those who love you."

Just the opposite: Christians are instructed by the Divine Word itself to love even those who would be an enemy.

If each man, then, tailors "brotherhood" for himself the word becomes empty — no word at all. To find the meaning of "brotherhood" the Christian has no choice but to turn to the Bible and see how he fits the words of Christ, not how the words of Christ fit him.

HAWK Lines

By Patty Canty

National Honor Society New Members Inducted

At a general assembly held Wednesday, Jan. 11, 14 members of Hartley's senior class were inducted into the National Honor Society.

The students are Sherry Buttler, Howard Distelzweig, Mary Beth Finta, Ronnie Glass, Jim Harkless, Nancy Krauss, Patty Kusan, Jan Murray, Lucy Ryan, Mary Ann Sharkey, Suzy Sharkey, Mary Jo Smith, Ann Spencer and Ann Wuellner.

Five members of the Rosary High School chapter of the National Honor Society, accompanied by Sister Eunice, principal, visited Hartley to induct the new members, as only students who are already members may perform the induction ceremonies.

They were Denny Doherty, Rosary chapter president, Margie Bush, Tom Laufersweiler, Jeanne Vagnier and John Van de Walle.

The Rosary students spoke about each of the four requirements for membership in the Society, these being scholarship, character, service and leadership.

Tom and John, carrying lighted candles and assisted by Paul Coleman and Buddy Thomas, Hartley Student Council president and vice-president, singled out the new members and notified them of their acceptance into the Society by touching each of them on the shoulder.

The Hartley members then recited the membership pledge and received their pins and certificates.

Father Robert G. White, principal, gave the history of the Society and welcomed the new members. The ceremonies were followed by a tea for the faculty, the new members and the guests from Rosary.

Sister Helen Cecilia, S.N.D., is the moderator for the Hartley chapter.

On Jan. 6, after First Friday Mass, the Hartley students, led by Paul Coleman, Student Council president, made the Consecration to the Sacred Heart of Jesus and enrolled themselves in the Apostleship of Prayer.

During the week two movies were shown, one on the Apostleship of Prayer and another about the Glenmary Missions.

On January 3, the Franklin County Junior Red Cross Board meeting was held at Hartley.

The swimming team has had two meets and although it has lost both, to Academy and Bexley, the team is showing constant improvement and still hopes to have a winning season.

Canines Now Being Counted

Officers of the Humane Society of the City of Columbus are now taking a census of the dogs in Columbus, Bexley, Grandview Heights, Arlington and Franklin County. This is for the purpose of recording all dogs owned in the county and making sure that all are licensed.

In addition to being licensed, all dogs must be immunized against rabies. The Boards of Health of Columbus, Upper Arlington, Grandview Heights and Franklin County also require that all dogs be re-immunized every 12 months if the regular type vaccine is used, and every three years for dogs which have been innoculated with the new type chick embryo vaccine.

This census will continue until it is completed in all these areas. Owners whose dogs have not been licensed will be required to purchase a license and pay a $1 penalty, as the deadline to obtain the license was Jan. 20.

WE'RE HAIR DETECTIVES
Hair conditions can't sneak up when you're our regular patron! It's easy to see why we can detect hair problems earlier than you can. No matter how carefully you scrutinize your own hair, you haven't been trained to see its danger-signals. We have! Besides, we've a far better view of your scalp. We stand over you, and look down. Nobody ever found a way to do that for themselves.
WE'RE HAIR DOCTORS
Just as your physician gives you tonics and vitamins when you don't feel up to snuff, we give the revitalizing remedies needed by your hair. Sometimes the results you want may be achieved in just one sitting. A bit more body, renewed elasticity, better sheen or younger-looking hair without dustings of dandruff. But far oftener, hair problems demand a series of treatments, before tresses respond with renewed youth. Our treatments are seldom costly or time-consuming. They make just a pleasant extra moment or two in your visit—but that moment makes a momentous improvement!
OURS ALONE
Only we have this special beauty salon hair conditioning formula! You'll never find it at drug stores or cosmetic counters. It's a professional formula requiring our special skills in application. You'll bless the day we use it on your hair! This liquid puts elasticity back into thin, grey locks, makes fine hair hold a curl as never before. It can give "difficult" hair the power to take a truly good permanent wave at last. Or we'll use it to condition over-bleached hair before we color it by our famous better methods.

SCULPTRESS AND DYNAMIC MOTHER SUE KAYE
During the Night, Elephants With a Butter Knife

'WHEN DO YOU FIND TIME?'

Sue Kaye: Nourisher Of Life

'IN ANY NORMAL 26-HOUR DAY'

By JOHN POEPPELMEYER

This is the story of a farmer's daughter who married a traveling salesman and of their happily ever after.

It is also the story of a busy, busy lady who dables in sculptoring, painting, wood working, sewing, housekeeping and still maintains and nourshes the love of and for her husband, her children and her life. It is a story of a woman with a joy for the love of living.

This is not a ficticious story. The people are real. The lady's name is Sue Kaye. Her husband is Eddie Kaye. Sue and Eddie live at 3089 Ruhl-av. And together, with their two boys, they weave a magic web that all the critics of "togetherness" would find hard to untangle.

Sue is a painter. She is also a sculptorer, interior decorator, woodworker, cartoonist, sewer, wife, mother, housekeeper and has been a demonstrator for hair cosmetics, a model and a dancing teacher among other things.

How does she find time to devote to all of her activities. "Just like anyone does in a normal 26 hour day." What is her secret for keeping her house in such natty tip-top shape. "A place for everything and everything in its place.

"Doing housework," she explained," is like learning any other kind of a trade. The first thing to do is to lay a foundation and work from there."

Sue admits that she follows no set schedule and likes to work alone. This she has plenty of time for, as her husband, who is a sportswear salesman, is away most of the week.

Does she watch TV? "No. I only have it on so that there is a voice in the house."

When does she find time for the rest of her non-housekeeping duties? "Whenever I fell like it."

Although murals, which she has painted, stretch from one end of her home to the other, Sue readily admits that she finds sculptoring more fascinating. "I have a knack for working with my hands and the paint brush only seems to get in the way."

Does she use all of the proper paraphenalia in her sculptoring? "No", her husband replied. "She uses a butter knife or a potato peeler."

Sue says she likes to stay up nights. It is then she works on her clay models. "One night," Eddie recalled, "she did not get started until after midnight. She picked up a butter knife and it took her until 2:30 to put the finishing touches on an elephant." Sue adds that she never starts out with "anything definite in mind, just starts molding."

Do the children bother her? "No. I let them work with me. Whenever Eddie and I feel that the boys' work is good enough, we display them in the house. Eddie and Sue encourage their youngsters to produce their own individual creations, not copy.

Their hobby room is in the basement. This is the place where Sue does most of her work and where her sewing machine and Eddie's workshop are located.

On the subject of painting, Sue "hates" landscapes. "I like to do interesting people nobody knows. I look for character. Kids are hard to do. Old people are easier. They have a peaceful look in their eyes and their hands are very expressive. Yet, the hands are the hardest part to paint."

She says that make-up hides the real face. "Bags under the eyes add to the character of the face."

Sue has many outlets for her expressions, as she herself would tell you. Now and then she dabbles in ceramics and has recently taken up wood working. She has worked on the interior decorating at the Teenage Lounge in the Jewish Center and Eddie, Sue says, is "fabulous at color coordination."

Her wood working ability and skill with her hands, probably comes from her father, she says. "He was a carpenter." Sue and Eddie have only lived in Columbus for the past two years. Both are from New York. Once upon a time Sue modeled, "15 pounds ago."

She also has taught make-up to apprentices, but was thrawted in an ambition of hers while in high school to have a child's book she illustrated and wrote, published.

For a while she was a demonstrator for hair cosmetics. "I used to stand eight hours a day while women came to gawk at the wonderful results obtained from putting some "gook" on my hair.

"Actually, I never used the stuff. Anyone's hair would look nice if they had brushed it eight hours every day and washed and set it every night."

She related that most of the women attracted by her adept display didn't even listen to the flow of chatter she handed out. "I could tell them that the stuff could be used to wash dogs or clean floors and they would just stand there and keep on gaping . . . and buying."

Sue sews and makes many of her own clothes and household items, from sportswear to drapery to suits to coats. Eddie feels that she should spend more time on coats. "She makes slacks by the dozen, while I sell them and can get them wholesale."

Neither can tell about, nor have an outsider appreciate, the others talents enough. When Eddie isn't talking about Sue, Sue is talking about Eddie.

"He's a wonderful story teller. He makes them up for the children at night time."

One of hers and Eddie's ambitions is to have a book published with stories written by Eddie and with pictures illustrated by Sue.

They try to do as many things together as possible, whether it be laying linoleum or planning a purple birthday party for one of their sons.

Often, Sue and Eddie and sons spend their time in the basement; Sue sewing, Eddie in his shop and the boys painting or playing games.

As son Barry so aptly observed: "I like it when we do busy things together down here."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Author Of Creed Revealed By Whitehall Reader

Yes, somewhere, in your rounds you picked up "My Creed" and it's great, as I have known it for a good many years.

You state that the author is unknown and if you do not mind, I will tell you the author is, "DEAN ALFANGE." You made just a few good minor changes in the actual Creed he wrote, but I like yours a little better.

As with God's help, which every human being needs and must have, more so today than at any time, I do think yours is tops.

In 1955, I was Chairman of the First Democratic Convention ever held in the City of Columbus, and although being semi-paralyzed organized this convention from my home and my telephone.

We expected only about 40 people, but there was closer to five hundred. The Dispatch wrote it up under a heading reading "INSURGENT DEMS SET CONVENTION."

We were called the Democratic Reorganization Committee opposed to the County Chairman, Walter F. Heer, and I say again to all the peoples of Franklin County, "WE MUST HAVE AND GET A NEW DAY FOR THE DEMOCRAT PARTY IN FRANKLIN COUNTY.

I now live in Whitehall, and intend to back Lewis Bower for mayor, and everyone on the Democratic ticket in the spring primary and the fall election.

Being out of circulation as to really doing a job for the Democratic party, was for our Attorney General Mark McElroy. He will be the next governor of Ohio.

I and many others worked hard, true and honestly to elect Mr. Mark McElroy. WE WILL ELECT HIM AS OUR NEXT GOVERNOR, IF HE SO CHOOSES TO RUN, AND IF HE DOESN'T WE WILL HAVE ENOUGH NAMES AND PEOPLE TO MAKE HIM RUN.

Being formerly from Philadelphia, Penn., where Jack Kelly, Grace Kelly's father who just died a short time ago, was my teacher. I was a Committeeman and Ward Leader in that city.

In that City, WE NEVER HAD A CHANGE OF PARTY FOR OVER 50 YEARS, BUT NO NEWSPAPER OR ANYTHING OR ANYONE, EVER STATED OUR CITY NEED A CHANGE. It lasted until we Democrats, made that change.

No, I never lost an election to the Republicans even in Philadelphia for over 13 years and I had close to 75,000 votes in my area. For I was fighting for my people, as I did for Mayor Sensenbrenner. He should be the next mayor of for City Council first, we still will and can elect him Mayor of Columbus.

21-INCH INSTRUCTORS?

Electronic Marvel Sweeps Area Educational Systems

By JOHN AUBLE JR.

If everything goes as hunky-dory as planned by a few far-sighted groups of this atomic age, the nursery rhyme about the three R's will be as obsolete as yesterday's racing form.

Why? Well, little Johnny of the future wont have any idea as to what a hickory stick is. For little Johnny won't be taught to the tune of hickory, instead, he'll be bombarded by rays emitting from a 21-inch pane of glass.

"It's progress!" exclaimed Dr. Chalmers Hixon, an Ohio State University professor who spoke recently to a group of South Side education and youth leaders.

"In this technological age we must take advantage of the opportunities. Educational television is one such opportunity," Dr. Hixon said.

The idea itself is not new—when you consider that work has been going on in the educational television field for some seven years.

One new wrinkle has been added, however, and that's airborne television.

Airborne television—more specifically, telecasting—was born when the men working with the medium discovered that the only way they could increase the coverage area was to heighten the antenna.

This, of course, had its limitations.

So, the logical answer seemed to be to take the video-taped shows up in an airplane and transmit from the sky.

With the on-the-ground antenna, WOSU-TV, for example, could reach a radius of about 40 miles. Up in an airplane, students in a six-state area can view the same shows.

What does all this mean?

For one thing, it means that the range of education offerings available will be broadened.

It also means the quality of the offerings where resources are unavailable will be increased, and

It will cost less than quality teachers.

Don't misunderstand, educational TV isn't the hope for the world in the school field, Dr. Hixon warned. For one thing, it doesn't entirely replace the class-room teacher.

The class-room teacher is still needed to prepare the students for each television presentation and to give help to certain "slow" individuals.

"But," Dr. Hixon added, "it does hold tremendous promise." And, he added, area educators can't go wrong by getting ready for television in local schools.

It seems to be a pure and simple case of getting quality instead of quantity. And, the quality is proving to be of the highest type available.

Ohio alone has spent some $60,000 studying the project and obtaining type-flight instructors—experts in their particular fields—to do the programs.

Each of the teachers have 12-hours to prepare a single television lecture. They also have an audio-visual staff at their disposal to obtain movies and slides for their presentation.

They are issued $50 each for lesson supplies and have a resource institution staff to consult at any time. Seems like a modern teachers dream.

Then, they get a chance to rehearse their shows. Each show is, in turn, checked over by a staff of experts and if it doesn't meet standards it is done over and improved upon.

How significant has all this proven with the individual students.

Studies show that no distinguishable difference in learning by students from a class-room teacher and a television teacher.

Besides this, the kids themselves are genuinely interested in the project and get emotionally involved in the telecasts.

The best part of the whole thing seems to be that a school can offer this television learning at a cost of 56-cents per year, per child, for all subjects.

Maybe, too, the greatest attraction to the TV bit is the fact that the youngsters will come home and exclaim:

"I don't wanna watch television—I did that all day!"

THE INTERNATIONAL HOSPITALITY DISH

Here's how to beat a path to COLONEL SANDERS Kentucky Fried Chicken

. . . prepare some fried chicken under your favorite recipe and while it is frying, or before you start, go to a HOBBY RANCH HOUSE Carry Out and ask the attendent for a couple of pieces of KENTUCKY FRIED CHICKEN for free to take home and compare with yours. . . With all respect for your favorite recipe you will find NOTHING CAN COMPARE with KENTUCKY FRIED CHICKEN . . Fresh young, plump meat dipped in milk and eggs and rolled into a flour containing 11 herbs and spices, which when cooked a very short time under extremely hot pressure has sealed into it all the natural goodness and flavor, producing a zesty richness in each bite right down to the bone . . .SO GOOD it's FINGER LICKIN' GOOD . . . and remember one of the 7 secrets of preparation is that each pot of chicken is cooked in FRESH FILTERED COOKING COMPOUND . . . No old odorous grease is used and the chicken is not pre-cooked, par-boiled, half-baked or french fried BUT PREPARED under the one and only COLONEL SANDERS exclusive and patented formula KENTUCKY FRIED CHICKEN . . . Truly a gourmet's delight.

SOUTHEAST LIONS STORY PROUD ONE

Because people are interested in accomplishments—not theories—the South-East Lions Club, the Club that gets things done, received special recognition at the 4rd annual South Side YMCA dinner last Monday night.

C. L. Dugnaree, assistant superintendent in charge of administration for Columbus Public Schools, and former South Side

LARRY EGGER
Present Lion Head

principal, had these words of praise for the group:

"In my ten years as principal at South and Barrett Junior High School I had an opportunity to see a lot of the work done by these Lions.

"The thing that I remembered the most was the happy expressions on the faces of the South Side children when they received gifts from the group.

"We salute the Southeast Lions for their dedication and devotion and giving of time and talent in behalf of South Side youth."

All but three of the Lions past presidents attended the dinner, including the group's first prexy, Dr. Howard A. Laile.

Laile had this to say:

"When we started out 21 years ago with ten fellows, I really didn't think we'd go as far as we did."

Laile and the present Lions Club president, Larry E. Egger, received the recognition plaque

Egger, 1593 Studer-av, took office in July, 1960.

The Southeast section of Columbus has had a rapid growth as will be noted from the number of new homes built in this area; by the number of new schools required; by the increased enrollments in nearly all grade levels of these schools.

Civic projects in which the Lions actively participated by giving time and donations have increased immeasurably.

This all means that the club "That Gets Things Done" has kept pace with community expansion.

The Lions have met the challenge of continuing community growth, yet Egger believes they must not relax.

"There will always be growth and expansion," he said. "We need, and must depend upon your help to meet any challenge that lies ahead for us."

When the Southeast Lions Club was organized, 46 charter members pictured the wide scope that would be possible to cover in the South Side community.

Some of these original members have moved away and some passed on, however today there are 15 left and all are active.

Seven of these 15 are past presidents, one is a past treasurer, and one, Frank Zimpfer has been the secretary for the group since the beginning.

Meetings are held each Tuesday noon at the Fiesta Club. Monthly directors' meetings are held at designated places, such as homes of members, places of business, etc.

Attendance at directors' meetings is open to all and the average attendance is between 30 and 40 members.

Other meetings throughout the year are spring party for the ladies, inaugural picnic, picnics for families and guests, paper helpers party, paper sale night and the Christmas party.

The Lions story is a proud one.

Barnet Heights Names Snider

Robert A. Snider, of 3807 Astor-av, has been elected president of the Barnett Heights Amended Civic Association.

Love Life Of Fish Explored

The love-life of fishes is no longer sacred, reports the Ohio Division of Wildlife. Biologists will be using injections of hormones next spring to urge reluctant muskellunge into proud parenthood at two state hatcheries.

The hatcheries have a difficult time getting ripe eggs either from the brood stock or from live-trapped females, asserts Ray Riethmiller, district fish manager with headquarters here.

"Hormone injections have worked fine in bringing on the release of ripe eggs from catfish," said Riethmiller. "I witnessed this last year at the U.. Fish and Wildlife hatchery at Senecaville, where gravid females were injected and ripe eggs were available in a matter of hours.

We will attempt the same procedure with muskies on an experimental basis next April at the Kincaid Springs and St. Marys Hatcheries.

Muskies stocked from the Kincaid Springs hatchery have produced good fishing at Piermont, Leesville and Rocky Fork lakes, among others.

LOCAL CAPITAL BASKETBALL PLAYERS

HOME TOWN FIVE—Above are the five Columbus area boys who are members of this season's Capital cage team. They are (left to right); Tom Rohm, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rohm, 4179 Chandler-dr. Rohm is a 1960 graduate of Whitehall Yearling. Next to him is Doug Metz who graduated in 1958 from Bexley. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Metz, 722 Pleasant Ridge. Standing are Duane Pelkey, from Worthington, Ron Plymale, of Hilliard and Bob Woodward, a graduate of Linden McKinley. The Lutherans complete their first semester basketball activity with a pair of games this week. They carry a 6-3 record to date.

ST. CHARLES ONLY EXCEPTION

Most Eastern Sector Hoop Squads Fail To Jell; Out Of Race

As evidence mounts, it becomes clear to all but the pursuing pack that the issues have been decided in the City, Central Buckeye and Central Catholic Leagues.

Linden is all but considered a shoo-in in the city loop, despite what appears to be a second half effort on the part of the Eastmoor Warriors.

Urbana's position in the CBL is probably the most precarious among loop front runners, but so far the Hillclimbers haven't been stopped. Both Bexley and Whitehall are fashioned up and down records and now find themselves in a three-way tie for fourth.

St. Charles, barring an unforeseen slump, has the CCL wrapped up. The Hawks of Bishop Hartley, until last week, had been applying the pressure to the Cards, but lifeless Springfield Catholic sprang from the dead and toppled the hot Hawks, all but knocking them from contention.

The only thing left is to see how the Eastern Sector teams fare from week to week.

This week Eastmoor vies with North Friday night, then steps out for a non-league encounter Saturday against Delaware Willis.

In the CBL, Whitehall meets the Bobcats of Grandview and Bexley journeys to Upper Arlington

CCL play finds St. Charles at Springfield Catholic and Hartley hosting Holy Family. St. Charles is also due to take on Aquinas in a Saturday engagement.

Over-all records show Bexley shaping up as a win-one, lost-one team. The Lions have garnered four of eight wins and have notched 379 points to opponents' 378. Top scorers for the Bexley brigade are Steve De Voe with 87 tallies and Frank Kass with 72.

The Rams of Whitehall, despite their 4-7 record, have been rolling along at a 55 points per game gait. The Rams for some reason have been unable to jell even with the presence of Bruce Bang, Ken Merriman, Jerry Millington and Ron Neutzling.

Eastmoor has been hot as of late, racking 170 points in their last two outings. Still the Warriors have accrued only a 4-3 over-all record and a 3-2 one in the league.

Dean Lampros has been hitting the nets with a steadying accuracy and is the squad's top scorer with 117 points. Frank Stavroff manages to find the range now and then and has meshed 90 tallies.

Bishop Hartley, even in defeat, manages to look good. The Hawks can moderately boast of a 7-4 record and are roosting in second place in the CCL.

Bob Burman, with 179, and Steve Warren, with 158, pace the Hawk scoring attack.

Among area teams, St. Charles sports the best over-all and league record. The Cards have walked off with seven wins in nine encounters and have yet to lose in the CCL. The Baumann boys, John and Paul, along with individual efforts by Tom Blackburn and Larry Roehrenbeck, have proved to be a strong starting nucleus.

Last week's results:

Eastmoor, with Dean Lampros meshing 28 points, rolled over Marion-Franklin 80 to 54. The Red Devils managed to stay fairly even with the Warriors during the first half, but Eastmoor's superiority asserted itself in the final stanzas and the Warriors won going away.

Bexley laced Delaware 60 to 27 with Steve DeVoe leading the way with 16 points, but found the going rougher against Grandview the following night, bowing 53 to 42

Whitehall nudged Worthington 50 to 49, after watching its lead shrivel from 50 to 44 with only minutes to go. Bruce Bang tallied 16 points against the invaders. But the next night, it was the Rams' turn to take the shellacking and this they did at the hands of Urbana, 81 to 35.

From out of nowhere came Springfield Catholic to settle Bishop Hartley's hash in the CCL with a stunning 65 to 58 reversal. The boys from out of town led all the way, despite an 18-point effort by Steve Warren and a 17-point splurge by teammate Bob Burman.

Hartley managed to stay ahead of Rosary the following night, eventually taking off with a 59 to 50 verdict, with Burman pushing through 23 markers. Warren adding 16 and Bill Macklin hitting for 17.

St. Charles popped Newark Catholic in a close one, 54 to 51. Paul Baumann tamed the nets for 14 and Roehenbeck added 15.

Glenn Davis Added to Roster By Lions for Cage Tilt Here

Several name stars have been added to the list of athletes who will appear on the basketball card at the Fairgrounds Coliseum this coming Sunday afternoon.

Appearing with the Detroit Lions in the feature game at 2:30 p.m. against the Columbus All Stars will be Glenn Davis, Barberton, Ohio State and U. S. Olympic track star who just completed his apprenticeship as a pro gridder.

The All Stars have also bolstered their squad with the addition of Jerry Fields, former Ohio State quarterback and later a member of the Columbus Colts eleven.

Reuben Young, late of the Seattle Buchene Bakers of the National Industrial League, will join the Celtics as they open the twin bill against the Lockbourne AFB quintet.

Co-captain Frank Wade is expected to spearhead the Celtics attack as they attempt to retain their unsullied record.

In store for the fans also is an opportunity to see Howard "Hopalong" Cassady, former all-around athlete at Columbus Central once again demonstrate his hardcourt ability.

tructed south of Lockbourne.

When these services are installed, the largely rural township will become highly attractive for industrial and commercial sites. Building of homes for workmen in these businesses will boom.

Since the city administration has made it clear that no line extensions will be made to supply services to new plants outside the corporation, old Marion Township becomes the logical place for industry to settle.

The area is already rezoned for industrial and commercial uses. A prospective builder would be able to move right in. This also adds to the illustre of the area.

Probably the biggest vote of confidence that the area has received was the recent announcement by Sears and Lazarus that they will jointly construct a huge shopping center at the corner of Refugee and Hamilton-rds.

night long.

Council has also taken under consideration a move to ban parking along the north side of E. Main-st, from College-av to Alum Creek, between the hours of 4 and 6 p.m. in order to expedite the flow of rush-hour traffic westward.

Eventually, Schneider foresees a parking ban in Bexley existing along the entire length of E. Main-st to coincide with Columbus parking regulations, on the north side from 4 to 6 p.m. and along the south side from 7 to 9 a.m. of the basic purpose of the home is to maintain the natural flow of social activity and community living to the extent possible.

Girls may leav the home to go to theatrical entertainment shopping purpose or whatever their norma' needs for visitations, Mrs. Creager said. However, they do ot usually travel in large groups.

In the home, they are given supervised medical classes, information courses "with the spiritual side" emphasized, she said. Parents are also encouraged to visit the girls and to take their daughters out for dinner.

Mrs. Creager stated that the average age of girls in Crittenton Homes, on a national basis, is somewhere in the late teens. The youngest girl in the Columbus home was 12, the oldest in her forties.

Younger girls, who need to attend school, may require longer periods of care in the home. Most girls leave some 10 to 12 days after the baby is born. The young mothers have their choice as to whether they wish to retain their babies, Mrs. Creager said.

During her years in social welfare work, Mrs. Creager has gathered her own convictions as to how girls, in the first place, become unwed mothers.

"There is," she opined, "too much of a surge toward conformity—whether it be wrong right.

"The best thing for a young girl to do, is 'o learn to say no."

Elaine-rd Zoning Decision Termed 'Moral Victory'

A spokesman for the opposition to the Elaine-rd zoning has proclaimed a "moral victory" for his side after Columbus council okayed twin single residential units along both sides of Elaine-rd, south of Livingston-av.

Fred Cullen, of 1739 Burlington-rd, stated this week that his group "does not object to the twin single decision as it would not lower property values nor make for a congested area the way multiple dwelling would have."

Everett L. Richie, of 6765 Kimball-pl, had requested the rezoning for multiple units.

Y-Teen Olympic Day Set Sunday

An afternoon of fun is in store for seventh grade Y-Teens Sunday, Jan 22, 1 to 5 p.m. at the YWCA, 65 S. Fourth-st.

Olympics competition and team games will be held in both the swimming pool and the gym. Climax of the afternoon will be coronation of the "Goddess of the Olympics."

Families and friends are invited. Refreshments will be served to all.

Fishing Expert Puts Know-How Into Print

INSIDE ON THE Outdoors By ROD COCHRAN

Columbusite Erwin A. Bauer has another fishing book on the market, "The Bass Fisherman's Bible," published by Doubleday. Known personally by many sportsmen in this area, Bauer is one of the nation's most prolific and authoritative outdoor writers.

This newest book packs many years of bass fishi..g experience and know-how into a single volume. Bauer says of himself, "I am probably the most widely traveled fisherman or fishing writer in the world. I have fished in every corner of the United States and Canada, Africa, Japan and from Argentina to Alaska." Most of the author's bass fishing, however, has occurred in Ohio, and much of the book tells of angling trips taken in Buckeyeland. You will recognize many pictures in the book, for they, too, were taken here at home.

Bauer mentions Hoover Reservoir as a good bass location, and comments, "Plenty of bass, but not too many bass fishermen here." As for central Ohio streams, he says "This is probably Ohio's best region for stream smallmouth fishing. Good waters include Big and Little Darby, Big Walnut, Whetstone, Deer and Blacklick creeks. Also the Olentangy and Licking rivers. The Kokosing and Mohican rivers are extremely fine float-trip rivers, with good camp sites along the way."

There are 18 chapters and an appendix in this well-illustrated book. The volume is planned for the beginning fisherman as well as the expert. Starting with explaining what bass are—the species and their family, the book then moves to fishing techniques. It tells about the different tackle used for bass and how to manipulate it.

Following are hints and tips on where to catch trophy bass, fishing at night, preparing and eating bass, live baits and artificial lures.

The rest of the book might be called the where-to-go section, and hot fishing spots are listed for each state within the ranges of largemouth and smallmouth bass.

While this book would be a valuable addition to any fisherman's library, it does contain errors in editing that are distracting to the reader. The headings have been switched on Ohio's northeastern and northwestern streams. It states that we have eight million resident anglers in Ohio, and I believe the author meant it to read 800,000. There are others similar to these.

Bauer is the author of "Bass In America" (Simon and Schuster, 1950) and regularly appears in such magazines as This Week, Outdoor Life, True, Sports Illustrated, Field and Stream, Argosy, etc. He is the former editor of The Ohio Conservation Bulletin. Bauer lives with his wife and two sons at 2150 Zollinger-rd, when not on fishing and hunting jaunts, that is.

from any liability claims in the event someone slips, falls on the walks and is injured.

On another matter, Mason brought forth the suggestion that a connecting street be made between Whitehall and Columbus, somewhere between Main and Broad-sts.

Future Projects Will Improve Many Streets

Some of the $142 million that will be spent on Columbus city streets for the next 20 years will directly effect Eastern Review territory.

Most of the finances for the projects will come from auto and gasoline taxes. However, some will come from bond issues.

Livingston-av extension three miles to the present east city limits will cost approximately $3,117,000.

Whittier-st will be widened to four lanes from High-st to Rhoads at a cost of about $736,000. Whittier-st will also be extended from Rhoads-av to Alum Creek-dr with a railroad underpass at an approximate cost of $1,792,000.

Bryden-rd will be widened to four lanes from Parsons-av to Holtzman-rd. This project will cost about $323,000. Nelson-rd will be widened to four lanes from Livingston-av to Broad-st at a cost of about $1,523,000.

American farm families borrowed an estimated 342 million dollars through the Farmers Home Administration's field offices in 1960, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Let's Speak Up For Rather Than Against

Just following inauguration Day, it might be appropriate to quote from an article by the Minority Leader of the House, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana which appeared in the December issue of Tax Review:

". . . under the administration starting Jan. 20 we can have good government, sound government, responsible government . . . IF enough people in this country continue to make their voices heard as they did on election day.

"I am convinced, and Congressional election returns support this view, that the majority of this country stands for the principles of fiscal responsibility which President Eisenhower made of cardinal importance in his Administration.

"And remember this: all of the people who reject excessive Federal spending and abhor the concentration of more and more power in the Federal government are not necessarily members of the party I happen to represent. Many bear the other party's label, but they can be counted upon to put principle above partisanship when the welfare of our country is at stake!

"For those of us who so believe, our job, it seems to me, is to let the American people know what we are FOR, rather than what we are against . . ."

The Gay Philoscpher says: "Just to show you that money doesn't bring happiness, consider the man who has five million dollars. He isn't a bit happier than the man with four million."

What's Ahead?

Commenting on the future of communications, Walter S. Sparling, president of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., said last week, that he had heard the ultimate end explained like this:

"In the future when a baby is born, he will be given a telephone number. When someone calls and he doesn't answer, they'll know he is dead."

Exaggerated as it may seem, Sparling said communications may even go a step further.

"We will even be able to see you on the other end of the line," he predicted.

New System Pierces Fog, Haze, Rain

'Lighter' Landings At Port Columbus

By John Poeppelmeyer

Things are going to be quite a bit brighter — and safer — along the new 6000 foot runway at Port Columbus starting next spring.

By that time a new fence of 29 positions of approach lights, over 200 in all, should be strung along the runway to guide pilots after disengaging their eyes from instrument panels.

Cost of the project, which is now well along toward completion, amounts to approximately $125,000, according to George Young, chief of electronics for the Federal Aviation Agency.

"The purpose of the runway approach lights," Young outlined, "is to act as a visual aid supplementing a pilot's electronic instrument landing system."

He commented that the lights have worked well in all areas in which they have been installed.

"Pilots are enthusiastic about the lighting system," he said. "The magnitude of lighting is of very high brilliancy and they are placed in specific locations and patterns as determined by international agreement.

"In this way, pilots from all over the world and going all over the world will have a uniform system to guide them on landings."

The lights are turned on from the control tower when a plane is five to six miles out from "touchdown."

"Besides a row of lights on top tiers of the towers, brilliant flashing lights signal, one after another in sequence, two dots per second, down the runway line, "giving the effect of a big tracer bullet," says Young.

The "little" lights of the system have five positions of brilliancy, ranging from 300 to 25,000 watts, according to Young.

All lights are controlled individually from the tower, but as a pilot approaches he can request that the lights be "turned down."

The flashing lights, which can be seen from a distance of up to 50 miles, turn on five kilowatts of power, according to Young.

In addition to the 188 lights mounted on stands, some 33 are mounted flush to the ground perpendicular to the center line of the runway.

A "1000 foot bar, consisting of four stands of 21 lights is located, naturally, 1000 feet from the runway, as a reference point, giving warning to the pilot that "terra firma" is coming up soon.

In all, the runway approach lighting system extends out 3000 feet. The "old" runway, which is 10,700 feet long, already has the system in use.

Young contends that the lights have proved their value. "Pilots," he said, "laud the approach system as one of the biggests improvements in safety."

The lights are bright enough, Young said, to penetrate haze, fog and rain.

According to Young, the lights should be ready for use by the time the new runway is completed, some time in the spring.

Bexley Bypasses CD Dues; Delays Prohibiting Parking

A bit o' this and a bit o' that comprised Bexley's council meeting this week.

Solons ignored a request from the Franklin County Civil Defense Organization for paying up their "arrears", postponed handling the all-night parking ban until the safety committee had another go-round at it, and heard a United States Trotting Association representative admonish them for failing to act two weeks ago on a move to rezone a tract along E. Broad-st for an office location.

In a letter to council, Russell E. Pennell, director of the local Civil Defense effort, outlined Bexley's proportionate share and docked the city $1395.50, bringing a total of $7048.70 which Pennell described as "arrears" payments.

The only comment on the situation during the meeting came from Mayor William Schneider: "If the only way to participate is to pay for surplus materials, I don't go for it."

After the sessions, solon president Charles Kurtz, Jr. commented that "the city has no contract with Civil Defense, and we therefore do not consider ourselves in arrears on payments." He mentioned that Bexley hadn't paid Civil Defense for three years.

On the proposed all-night parking ban question, Solicitor Howard Park remarked that the city already had an ordinance prohibiting night parking of trucks and extended the ordinance to include autos.

The amendment calls for "no parking" between the hours of 2 to 6 a.m. on all Bexley streets. A special permit may be purchased for $4 a month in locations where "reasonable accommodations are not available."

How About Birthdays?

During the conversation over the all-night parking ban proposed for Bexley, city solicitor Howard Park remarked that "some cities exempt Jan. 1 from the ordinance." To which councilman J. Roth Crabb replied that such a move "is probably a safety measure in itself."

According to Schneider, police noted that more than 400 cars have been left standing overnight around the city, most of them around the campus of Capital University. Capital officials, said the mayor, go along with the ban.

New councilman W. O. Schoedinger said he did not see "why we have to penalize all the citizens of Bexley because of this one condition."

Park replied that the matter had been thought over and that it would not be fair to restrict just one section. Many cities, Kurtz added, have such a parking ban. The issue was turned back to the safety committee to determine the necessary effec-

MOLING SLATE CHOSEN

Whitehall Republicans, at least those backing Mayor Walter Moling, have come on with a rush, and, with but one exception, that of city auditor, have completed their slate for the May primary. Filing deadline is next Wednesday.

Latest incumbent to make up his mind to run for another term is Councilman-At-Large Ray Shipley. A fortnight ago, Shipley remarked that he was "undecided" about giving the

Ecker Not 'In'

Don Ecker, former Whitehall recreation director, announced this week that he will not be seeking a council post in the May primary.

Ecker, a Republican, stated some time ago that he had been "approached" to run, but at that time was merely "interested" in the proposition.

Found: A Babysitter

Quickest way to find good babysitter prospects is to run a Classified Ad in this newspaper. Mrs. Marilyn Lambert 3083 Chesterfield-ct. located her help this way. Hartley Newspapers are read in the community you are interested in. Put an inexpensive Want Ad to work for you — just call BR. 4-1155.

OUT OF THE TUBE—And into the mouse, Sister Margaret Ann, head of the cancer research laboratories at St. Mary's College of the Springs, and her crew look on as Monica Lisska, of 2827 Allegheny-av, injects a white experimental mouse with cancer. Beside Miss Lisska is Mary Jane Toth, who will report to a science conference on her studies in the research this summer. In back of Miss Toth is Jo Ann Patterson.

Inroads In Cancerous Research Continue At St. Mary's College

Apparently, it takes a germ to fight a germ.

At least inroads have been made in cancer research at St. Mary's of the Springs College using this method.

"Actually," expresses Sister Margaret Ann, director of the project, "it would not be technically correct to phrase it that way, but it could be related along those lines."

That notorious, unwanted ingredient of the operating room staphylococcus aueus, more commonly known in headlines as "staph" also contains an extract that combats cancer.

This is the theory that Sister Margaret and her crew are attacking in research at the college.

Sister Margaret has been immersed in the study of cancerous cells for the past 15 years. When she first came to the college and was placed in charge of the biology department, she noted that cancer cells tended to disintegrate, in the manner of diseased bacterial cells, such as pneumonia and tuberculosis.

During the ensuing years, over 20 different compounds were tested on cancer, with staph, so far, providing the best results. "Using an extract from staph cells," she explained, "about 70 per cent regression was observed in cancerous tissue."

As usual, mice were used in the testing. "Mice," Sister Margaret explained, "have a physiological make-up similiar to that of humans, and they are abundant and therefore economical."

All of the white mice used are pedigreeds, with charts and ancestry practically traced back to the Mayflower. "They

Jewish Center Soon To Stage Miller Play

"A View from the Bridge," Arthur Miller's drama about a man who is driven to committing the unforgivable sin of breaking his own code, will be the next attraction of the Gallery Players of The Jewish Center opening Saturday, Feb. 25.

"A View from the Bridge" is the Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright's fifth contribution to the American Theatre. His other outstanding successes include "All My Sons," "Death of a Salesman" and "The Crucible."

"A View from the Bridge" concerns a longshoreman caught in a web of tragic circumstances resulting from a death-bed promise to raise an orphaned niece as his own daughter.

A commentator in this case is also one of the drama's lead-

16-Year Old Youth Is Seeking Ministry

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

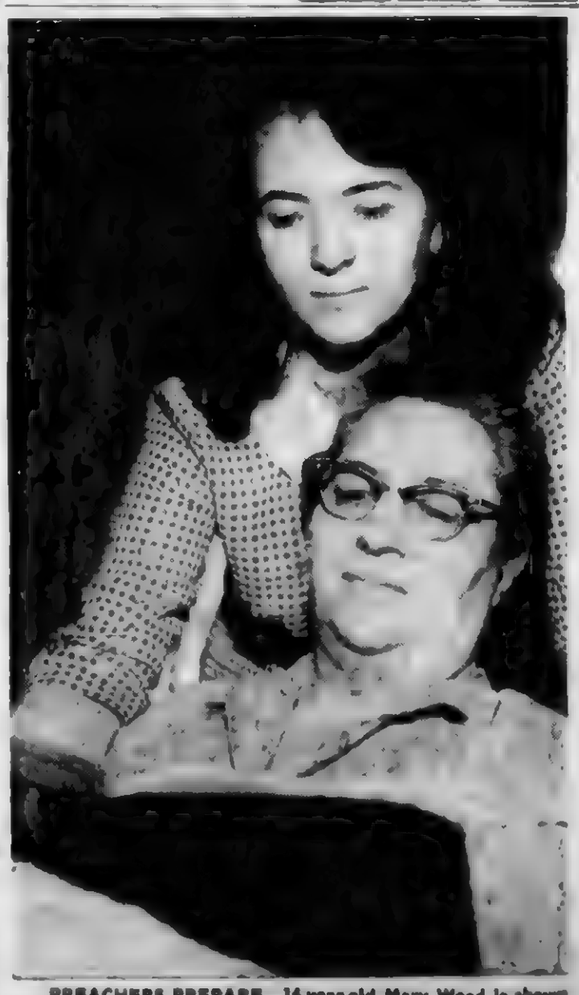
Heckling youths seem to be the only obstacle in the way of Mary Woods' climb toward her goal.

The 16-year-old honor student, 717 Fairwood-av, is seriously studying to be an ordained minister. The road is not an easy one.

Miss Wood has already begun preaching in area Nazarene Churches and has been a licensed minister since last February and a song evangelist in the Kentucky Christian Holiness Conference for two and a half years.

Next Sunday the brown-haired young lady will open the Youth Week Revival set Jan. 29—Feb. 5 in Darbydale. "It'll by my biggest congregation," she said.

Miss Wood, who admits that preaching has become her whole life, stated, "I got the call from the Lord."



"Everytime I prayed, He said 'preach,'" she added. "I didn't want to be a minister. I was afraid of it and tried running, but there was nothing I could do."

Now, the young Wood girl finds herself being heckled by her high school classmates. Mainly because she refuses to wear make-up, attend movies or dances.

"I get a lot of teasing at school," she said. "They make fun of me at times, but I don't mind. People tell me that I'd be pretty if I'd wear make-up, but these things don't bother me."

She sat in her plain, checked dress and added, "I don't believe that worldly things have to be," she said, "in order to make sure that we know that cancer is the cause and not some other hereditary trait."

PREACHERS PREPARE—16-year-old Mary Wood is shown preparing the sermon she'll give beginning this Sunday at Darbydale during the Youth Week Revival. She is receiving instructions from her grandmother, the Rev. Haigo Turberville. Miss Wood is the youngest girl known who is seeking the ministry.

The mice are injected under a front leg with cancer, about 200 to a testing. The 200 are then divided into two groups one termed "experimental" and the other a "control" unit. The experimental groups are then injected with staph, and needless to say, the staph group always comes out the better in the long run.

But that isn't all that happens to staph. It is also analyzed chemically to search out and isolate the most effective part of the extract for use in treating cancer.

At the present time, an honor student, Mary Jane Toth, is conducting experiments on the best combinations of staph extract to determine which gives the most prolonged survival time. She will be attending a professional science seminar in the east this summer to present a report on her studies.

Sister Margaret, who holds MA, MS and PhD degrees, looks forward to greater strides in the fight to control cancer. So far grants have come from the Damon Runyon and the Ashland County Health Foundations.

She hopes that enough money will be available in the future to purchase radio isotopes to really chase a cancer substance through the body — in atom form.

SWITCH TO ALL NUMBER DIALING ON WAY

Ohio Bell Outlines Expansion Plan

Rapid expansion of telephone service is the outlying exchanges of Hilliard, Alton, Reynoldsburg, Gahanna and others was outlined by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. last week.

Part of a $6,900,000 expansion program to improve service in the Columbus area, the local projects were explained by Ohio Bell President Walter S. Sparling, of Cleveland.

He said residential and business growth brought a demand for a large number of cable projects throughout the district this year.

Included in the program is the opening of a new exchange in the Lockbourne area.

Affecting all telephone subscribers in the Columbus area will be the introduction of "all number calling" March 1.

As of that date, all new subscribers and any present subscribers who may move to a new address or require a number change for any reason, will be assigned a telephone number having seven numerals and no letters.

Automatic number identification, enabling users to dial long distance without reciting their own telephone number to the operator, will be installed in the Axminster, Belmont, Broadway, Capital, Clearbrook and Hudson telephone numbers.

Ohio Bell District Commercial Manager J. P. Gibbs said that as of the end of the year the company was serving 353,668 telephones in the Columbus exchange area. The addition of the London exchange brings the total number of telephones in the Columbus District to 359,561.

During the next 12 months, Ohio Bell looks for a gain of 15,750 telephones in the Columbus District. Local calling in the Columbus area averaged about 1,618,182 calls a day and long distance calls averaged 31,784 on normal business days in 1960.

Cards Loss Gives Hawks Hope; Bexley To Tussel With Whitehall

If basketball teams would only act according to form, sportswriters could turn in their typewriters and give instructions to Nostradamus. But unfortunately they don't and this in turn is what keeps sportswriters behind their typewriters.

Like, one week it is written that among Eastern Sector teams, the Cardinals of St Charles were the lone exception when it came to being among the also-rans. Then along comes a team like Springfield Catholic and proves that there are exceptions even to exceptions.

St. Charles, of course, still leads the Catholic League pack, but the race, to say the least, has tightened up in the loop.

And this week, things are bound to get tighter as most teams commence the second go-round.

The Cards take on second place Watterson, a team they punished 39 to 30 earlier this year.

Still in the CCL, Bishop Hartley, also in second place, but in a better position now for overtaking St. Charles, bang up against Newark Catholic. Last time out, the Hawks downed Newark 59 to 51.

Over in the Central Buckeye League, Bexley tangles with Whitehall in the Lions den in the first encounter this year. Bexley managed to eke out a 56 to 53 verdict Saturday night.

The Lions get another chance to better their league record in a tilt with Worthington. Lion stalwarts have watched their favorites beat Worthington 45 to 39.

The Rams, on Saturday, host Mt. Vernon, a team that succumbed 63 to 53 last time they met.

Eastmoor faces a pair of week-end duels. Friday night, in the City League the Warriors greet, of all teams, Linden, and Saturday take on London of the Mid-Eight.

Last week results:

Whitehall's Ron Neutzling tallied 16 points but Grandview whaled the tar out of the Rams 79 to 47 as Jim Little notched 26 points. At the half, the Bobcats held a commanding 43 to 18 lead and coasted in from there.

Bexley, meanwhile didn't fare too much better. The Lions went down before Upper Arlington 59 to 37.

Eastmoor lost to North under an 81 to 61 blitz, although Frank Stavroff hit for 22 points. The following night, the Warriors tagged Delaware Willis 65 to 55, as Frank Dwyer fired 19 points through the nets. Ben Benjamin added 16 and Stavroff 14.

St. Charles finally lost in the CCL to surprising Springfield Catholic. The Cards trailed all the way as Springfield unlimbered its free-throwing arm by sinking 19 of 25 attempts on the way to a 45 to 33 verdict.

St. Charles squared accounts with Aquinas with a 61 to 56 decision Saturday night.

Bishop Hartley remained hot on the Cards trail with a 71 to 49 romp over Holy Family. Steve Warren hit for 28 counters as the Hawks upped their loop record to 4-2.

political go-round another whirl.

Moling has also announced that the third ward seat will be challenged by Charles Kibler, of 4290 Yearling Circle-dr.

The Moling line-up:

For mayor: Walter Moling;

ing characters, a neighborhood lawyer who sees the inevitability of the tragedy even as he recounts the events leading up to the hero's death.

He tells how the uncle's possessiveness towards his niece has gone beyond the bounds of paternal love and protection without his realizing it.

"A View from the Bridge" is being directed by Harold M. Eisenstein, with scenery by Robert Stegmiller. Tickets will go on sale this week at The Jewish Center. General admission is $1.75 and $1.25 for Center members.

Trio Of Bexley Boys Had Virus, Not Typhoid

A virus with symptoms of those of typhoid fever has been ruled the cause of the illness to three Bexley boys, according to University Hospital officials.

James Curl, 18, of 2461 Plymouth-av, Jerry Anthony, 16, of 966 Francis-av and James Hunter, 16, of 2450 Dale-av, became ill after returning from a camping trip to Hocking County. All were suspected of having contracted typhoid fever.

tive date of the ordinance.

John Connor, representing the USTA, said he was "here" to make himself available for any questions which council might have on the rezoning matter to relocate the USTA office. Council didn't, so Connor stated he felt the decision, whereby solons failed to bring the issue up to a vote, did not reflect the thinking of the council.

Kurtz interjected that "several agreed with you and were in favor of the rezoning, but the people spoke and that's the way we have always run things."

Connor said that he has no intention of pursuing the matter, as "we feel we should be welcomed," but added that "some one should have made a motion" to bring the rezoning up. As to what the future plans of USTA were, Connor did not say.

In other matters, legislators okayed making the corner of Cassingham and Bexley Park-rd a four-way stop intersection and approved annual physical examinations for handlers and preparers of food.

and the Lord will ever mix—it's like oil and water."

The daughter of Mrs. Opal Sagar, she does her homework and studies Scriptures almost simultaneously.

The personable miss stated that she must go before the examining board of the conference once a year and must carry a council license three years before she can be ordained.

A self-taught musician, "a gift from the Lord," she plays accordion and piano.

She is the granddaughter of the Rev. Halga Turberville, 4647 Thruway-dr, from whom she says, "I've learned a lot."

The Rev. J. N. Lakin, minister of the Darbydale Church, passed along these words from the Rev. William M. Clark of Trinity Gospel Tabernacle, where Miss Wood is Sunday school secretary:

"She's a wonderful little speaker and a real lady."

The girls stated that she carries two Bibles in her purse at all times. "I study it and read the Scriptures for my messages. I never write any of my sermons down."

The first message delivered by the youth was at the old Family Altar League Church, formerly located at Sixth and Rich-sts. This was Feb. 20, 1960.

"I was very nervous before I spoke. I realize that most people don't put much faith in women ministers and I was nervous.

"But," she added, "as soon as I began to speak my nervousness left me. I don't feel 'jumpy' anymore no matter how large the crowd may be."

Miss Wood was born in St. Louis, Mo., and her family moved to Columbus in 1944.

She'd like to be a full time Evangelist, but realizes that there isn't enought financial rewards in it. So, she is currently building a career in the secretarial field, as a side-line.

"I would like to attend the Columbus Business University—but this isn't definite. Maybe I'll go into missionary work and move to India."

She's taking business courses at Eastmoor High School and receiving top grades.

JET POWER helps Ohio Fuel serve you better!

Jet power has been brought down to earth to help the Ohio Fuel Gas Company meet increasing demands for natural gas in 745,000 Ohio homes, stores, and industries. In the world's first harnessing of jet thrust for industrial needs, Ohio Fuel's parent company, the Columbia Gas System, is now using a jet engine to pump natural gas. The jet engine—like those that power the fabulous new jet airliners—propels millions of cubic feet of gas a day on its way to Ohio from the big gas fields in Louisiana. This revolutionary new achievement is the result of the constant program of progress by Columbia and Ohio Fuel to serve you.

'Third Man' Makes Debut In New Adventure Series

By Charles Rampp

"The Third Man," a new adventure-laden series of intrigue, premiers on Channel 6 Thursday Jan. 26, at 10:30 p.m.

Michael Rennie will star in the title role as Harry Lime, head of an export-import company. The Academy Award winning musical theme has been retained, and variations will give the different episodes the flavor of the country in which the action takes place.

Rennie as Lime, will be engaged in filling the myriad commissions for which he contracts —from the acquisition of a work of art to the saving of a human life.

The character of "The Third Man" was created by Graham Greene, and the story has been a success both as a novel and a movie.

In the first episode, Lime encounters a stock swindle and outwits the reigning Duchess of a small European country.

Children's Hospital will come on the screen as Channel 4 telecasts "Bambino," the fourth in its new "Probe" series, Saturday, Jan. 28, at 10 p.m.

Nurses and doctors will turn TV performers and a tiny four-year-old girl undergoing open-heart surgery will be the biggest star of all.

The half-hour documentary will portray all phases of the Columbus Children's Hospital's work, its teaching, its research and its patient care.

The case of four-year-old Debora Kay Welkner of Findley will be followed closely through her open heart operation. The series, exploring local community problems, is being sponsored by Nationwide Insurance Companies.

"Sing Along With Mitch" is the title of a new musical on Channel 4, premiering Friday, Jan. 27, at 9 p.m.

Mitch Miller will host the new show which will alternate with the "Telephone Hour." His guests will present songs in which television audience at home can join in singing. Diana Trask and Leslie Uggams will be the guest stars.

This week, "I Search For Adventure," will find it in Lower California. Seen Wednesday, Feb. 1, at 6:30 p.m. on Channel 10, the program will show the exploits of adventurers in the original land of the Conquistadores.

The film presentation will show a pack train going into snow capped mountains and a hunt for vicious rattlers. As a climax, the performance of 'amed matadors of Mexico in the bull-fight ring will be shown.

WHAT IS A KILOWATT HOUR?

not quite 3 cents

And what can you buy for three cents? You can toast 60 slices of bread, or burn a 100-watt lamp for ten hours. The homemaker can put six loads of clothes through the washer! Dad can have 400 shaves! The refrigerator will run for eight hours. For three pennies, you'll sleep one night under the cozy warmth of an electric blanket. And in home entertainment, three cents will buy five hours of television, or twelve hours of radio!
For three cents, you can buy a lot... in low cost electrical service!

An Investment In Your Health
Because drug stocks are stored behind the prescription counter, few people see or realize the large investment their druggist has in drugs which are needed in order to take care of their prescriptions on short notice.
Likewise, few persons realize that in many cases a $7.50 prescription oday not only replaces a $1.50 prescription of years ago, but in addition it saves the hospitalization and doctor calls formerly required in conditions such as pneumonia, infectious diseases, and other ailments. Today's drugs are bargains when compared with yesterday's cost of illness. The research that is part of their cost is paying greater dividends to you in time, money and effectiveness.

GOP CANDIDATES FILE—Whitehall Mayor Walter B. Moling, left, submitted his petition of candidacy Monday. Moling will be seeking a shot at a fourth term. On hand to file his petition along with Moling was Whitehall Solicitor James Maxwell, Jr., shown handing his papers to Franklin County Board of Elections Clerk Charles Davies. Altogether, some 22 Republicans are vying for 12 city offices in Whitehall.

DEM CANDIDATES FILE — Surprise Democratic mayoralty candidate Robert F. Garnon, center, takes his turn in filing a petition Saturday morning at the Franklin County Board of Elections. Along with Garnon, councilman-at-large incumbent and candidate Loren F. Mason was on hand to be greeted by Arthur J. Bushman, deputy clerk at the board. Altogether, 14 Democrats filed for the May Primary in Whitehall.

36 Seek Offices In Whitehall May Primary

Deadline time has come and gone for filing in the Whitehall May primary.

As the line-up now stands, some 36 citizens of the city will be vying for 12 slots in the municipal government.

On the Democratic side of the ledger, all but six aspirants know where they will stand come the November balloting.

Contests involve the posts of Mayor, and councilmen for Wards 1 and 3. The three at large challengers will still be around by the time the issue reaches the polls in the fall. One Democratic council incumbent is not seeking another term.

For the Republicans, the climb will be a bit steeper. Three are vying for the mayoralty nomination and six seek the council-at-large vote. All other council positions have two aspirants per post.

Nobody came forth to petition for the Republican auditor post, thereby automatically sweeping incumbent Walter Helber to his fourth term.

Neither did anyone from the Democratic camp challenge for the council presidency, although the Republicans had two sign.

In terms of numbers, 22 Republicans will hit the campaign trail, while 14 Democrats will vie for office.

Pair Of Challengers Seek To Stem Moling's Bid For Fouth Term Try

Republican incumbent Mayor Walter B. Moling will be trying to extend his successive string to four terms in the May Primary, but two other gentlemen are hoping he doesn't make it.

The mayoralty round-up of hopefuls for the Republicans also includes two new names to the political arena: Kenneth A. McDougal and Alfred E. Molnar.

In addition, Molnar's wife, Esther, is vying for a council-at-large shot.

All up and down the list of GOP aspirants, the agenda is well fortified with at least two names for each available position with the exception of city solicitor, where James Maxwell seeks another term, and in the auditor slot, where no one came forth to test the post.

Solon President Walter Siemer also will have an adversary, Donald G. Waddell.

Former Councilman Francis E. Shaeffer has entered the treasurer rase against John Coyle. Four others are vying for council-at-large seats against incumbents Ray Shipley and Ken McIntosh. In addition to Mrs. Molnar, Fourth Ward Councilman Orton Davis, Robert Spicer, and

Garnon In Surprise Shot For Dem Nod Against Party Head Bower

The surprise announcements of the week in Whitehall political circles came from the Democratic camp.

Significantly, the following events took place:

On Saturday morning, Second Ward Councilman Robert F. Garnon announced that he would be a candidate for mayor, thus taking on titular party head, and formerly defeated candidate for mayor, Lewis S. Bower. It was understood that Garnon had been offered either a council-at-large or the council presidency shot.

As of Wednesday night's filing deadline for those seeking city office, Third Ward incumbent A. C. Kirchner, who had been mum about his future plans, intermittently announcing his candidacy for mayor, decided not to file at all.

Incumbents John Ramsey, treasurer, and Walter Helber, auditor face no opposition in the Dem primary. Neither do aspirants Paul Haytcher for city solicitor; Henry Maxfield, for Ward 2; Gilbert O'Shaughnessy, for Ward 4; nor Carl W. Tenbach, Loren Mason (incumbent), and Richard Flath, in the council-at-large positions.

LEWIS BOWER

Besides the anticipated Bower-Garnon battle, the only other contests will be between incumbent Ward 1 solon Richard Hyatt and challenger Clyde Hartman, and a match between James Toomey and Charles Harcourt for a Ward 3 slot.

The Democratic line-up for May:

For Mayor—Lewis S. Bower, 215 Maplewood-av; Robert F. Garnon, 4250 Mayflower-blvd.

For Solicitor—Paul J. Haytcher, 645 Ross-rd.

Park Survey Slated For Southeast Area

By JOHN AUBLE, JR.

Nick Barack, Columbus recreation director, and Ray Dietz parks and forestry superintendent, both agreed last Tuesday that the south-southeast recreation situation is a sad one.

"As far as recreation services are concerned," Barack said they're very inadequate. Dietz agreed to the inadequacy and added, "something has got to be done."

The question is "what?"

Coumbus City Council recently appropriated some $2,500 to make a survey of recreational facilities in the area south of Broad-st. and east of the Scioto River, within the city limits.

The survey is being conducted by Dr. W. C. Batchelor.

"We had a general survey made in 1947 which included the entire city," Barack commented. "What we are attempting to do this time is bring up to date the southeast area because of its tremendous growth."

Barack contributed the population explosion in the southeast as the main factor that made the park systems available outdated.

Besides the tremendous growth," Barack added, "we started out with many inadequacies in this area and we're trying to improve them."

"The survey will cover all existing facilities. The main object is to see what needs exist in the various sections of the southeast area.

"We're planning to construct

A SOUTHENER ONCE TEAMED WITH THE NORTH TO DEFEAT THE REBELS

By John Poeppelmeyer

A Southern Yankee once helped to turn the tide of force in favor of the Union Army in what may have been a climatic, but unheralded event, in the annals of Civil War History.

The man who turned the trick was the grandfather of L. J. Hunt, of 2853 Shamrock ln. And as Hunt points out, "Grandma was no slouch either." Both teamed up, according to Hunt, to write "finis" to an important chapter in the battle between the North and South.

At the time the story takes place, nearly one hundred years ago, in March of 1861, the Union had just completed an important phase of its planning. Iron clad vessels had just been put into action and it was the purpose of these dreadnaughts to control the "seas," in this case, the Mississippi River.

Overall the ships proved to be a most useful combatant group in the opening of the central port of the Southern states for the later invasion of Federal troops.

This story concerns the opening of one of the channels of the Mississippi that culminated battles at Memphis and Vicksburg.

Hunt's grandfather and grandmother were southerners by birth. They were born in Tennessee but sympathized with the Union, according to their grandson. The situation at the time his grandfather enters into the picture was this:

Union "battleships" were on the way south down the Mississippi to ferret out Southern forces. Two large impasses faced the vessels on their journey. The Union forces, Hunt related, had taken over New Madrid Missouri, (see map) located across the Mississippi River from the Kentucky-Tennessee border line.

The two obstructions consisted of a redoubt along the Tennessee side of the Mississippi and Island Number 10 a fortification in the middle of the river. Both were controlled by Confederate forces.

After Union General John Polk took charge of New Madrid, the Confederate troops were transferred to Island 10, so it was heavily fortified with men as well as with heavy artillery pieces.

Hunt's grandfather, Samuel Bentley Hunt, never believed secession was "the right thing

WHO KNOWS THE 'BEST CITIZEN' IN THIS AREA?

Clubs, Groups, Individuals Can Nominate Best Citizen

What accomplishments did the "Best Citizen" of this area achieve during 1960?

Someone knows. He's the person who will enter the name of his choice for consideration of this newspaper's "Best Citizen" award.

The accomplishment that will win him the title could lie in many fields.

The purpose of the "Best Citizen" contest being sponsored in each of the seven community publications printed by Hartley Newspapers is to promote increased effort in the direction of civic betterment.

Some person who has contributed his time and efforts toward making his community a better place in which to live will receive special recognition by being named his area's "Best Citizen."

Not only persons who have made their major contribution through extra projects are eligible for consideration in the "Best Citizen" of this area.

Anyone who has made a special effort in any direction is eligible. This includes persons who have done on outstanding job in their profession, elected officials who have performed above the general level expected and "just plain folks" who went out of the way to be helpful.

Judging for the honor will be done by local citizens who know the needs and attitudes of the community. Their recommendations will be forwarded to an impartial committee, which will review each nominee and make the final selection.

It's easy to enter someone whom you think is deserving in the "Best Citizen" contest. Just write a letter telling why you think the person should be considered in care of this newspaper.

Winners in last year's contest were Hilliard Mayor Gaymon Wright, West Rural-Urban News; Judge Robert Draper, Hilltop Record; Ruth Storch, South Side Leader; Bexley Mayor William Schneider, Eastern Review; and Mrs. Mae Alexander, South-East Rural-Urban News.

Presentation of the awards will be made at a public gathering sometime in March.

Deadline for making entries is Feb. 24. Don't take a chance on your choice being forgotten. Make him your nomination for "Best Citizen."

First Phase Of Rt. 33 Project Set For July

First phase of the proposed four-lane improvement of U.S. Route 33 south of Livingston-av to Canal Winchester is on the State Department of Highway schedule to get underway sometime in July.

The improvement, which will expand Rt. 33 into a divided four-lane stretch of road will cost the city, state and federal governments some $7,500,000 according to engineer estimates

In all, it should take approximately two construction seasons to finish the project, according to Rodney Roberts, design and planning engineer at the Delaware office

Roberts said that two proposals were currently under consideration by Rackoff Associates, engineers.

The first plan, he stated, calls for following essentially the existing alignment, from Refugee-rd north to College-av

The second proposal concerns locating the highway roughly in alignment with the proposed James-rd intersection with the East Freeway.

When completed, the route will extend from seven-tenths of a mile south of E. Livingston-av, through Twin Lakes to Canal Winchester, Roberts said.

Exactly where and when the first phase of construction is likely to take place has not as yet been determined, Roberts said.

He added that the July starting date is based upon proper procedure and planning and mentioned that it could be such a thing that the program may not get under way until way past the summer date

SAM HUNT'S GRAVE
On To Vicksburg

Southern—

to do." He felt, his grandson said, that "there is no strength unless the Union is preserved." The Union intelligence somehow found out about Sam's sympathies and contacted him at Point Pleasant, farther down river.

The problem, they explained, was to get the Union vessels past the redoubt and past the island. Sam Hunt put them on the trail of a river man who knew the chanels and tides well.

In April of 1861, a Col. Taylor, who was in command of the 42nd Illinois, sent a detachment out to work their way to the redoubt along the Tennessee shore. The small group carefully made its way in the dead of night, creeping up on the Confederate guarded fortification and "spiked" the Rebel guns. The vessels churned by successfully.

Still, the Island 10 artillery loomed ahead. The Union had a choice of paths to take; either wait for high tide and head down a sand bar directly into the guns (see map) or continue on down the Mississippi.

The man chosen to guide the water crafts suggested that the vessels pull in as close as possible to the island, which had an embankment of some 30 feet high. The recommendation was followed and not a single shot hit the ships, according to Hunt. None of the island's guns could be depressed to fire at a lower angle and the Union flowed on down to Memphis and Vicksburg.

As was to be expected, when Sam Hunt's involvement in the action leaked out, Hunt's neighbors and the Confederates became "bitter," in their grandson's words.

It wasn't too long before Union forces took over Island 10 and Grandad joined them on the fortification. He later joined the Union Army. His wife, meanwhile remained at their home, but she was allowed to visit her husband once a week on the island, and usually brought back food.

Into this picture stepped a Captain Connelly, a Confederate guerilla, who with his band, had been picked to harass the Union troops on their many forages to bring food to the island.

He, too, knew of Mrs. Hunt's excursions to the island and appealed to her to try to get some food for his men. Mrs. Hunt blithely told him to go to the island and ask for them, and he said he would contact her on another day.

The next time Capt.Connelly appeared, Mrs. Hunt suggested a plan. "We'll disguise you in old civilian clothes and you can ride out to the island on the boat they send for me. I'll go along with you."

Connelly was leary of the idea, but did not have a better one. He apparently thought it would be a good ruse to have the Union give him food to be used by Confederate troops.

So off they went,' with Mrs. Hunt signaling the island by waving her bonnet that she was ready for another trip over.

Immediately upon disembarking, she went to the commandant's office and sail: "Col Roberts. I want to introduce you to Capt. Connelly, of the Confederate Army."

Col. Roberts told her later, and grandson Hunt recalled that her eyes sparkled when she related the statement, "Mrs. Hunt, you'll hear from the President for the work you have done."

But she never did, and explained to her grandson, that "Mr. Lincoln was always so busy."

Samuel Bentley Hunt, the Southern Yankee, died in the siege of Vicksburg. He is buried there today.

Of course, the war didn't end with that one incident. In fact, in 1861 the break was just commencing, but for all intents and purposes, the future path that the war took could very well have been stemmed from the loyalty of two Southerners who did more than talk about preserving the Union.

two recreation centers in the area," Barack said, "and the survey will tell us which areas are in most need of them."

Barack pointed out that there is a definite need for additional recreational facilities in the area.

He also stated that the latest attempt to take away more land from Livingston-av Park has been opposed by both the Park and the Recreation Commissions.

Livingston-av Park has partially "whittled" away to make more parking area for a nearby hospital.

"They're not going to take anymore land away from that park," said Dietz. "I'll promise you that!"

Dietz stated that his office is currently in the act of purchasing three or four school sites in the South end for possible parks.

These areas include land at Obetz and Parsons-av, Stoick bridge School and Lindberg School. There's talk that a park will be constructed in the Beckst School neighborhood.

"We're making considerable headway in improving our Parks and Recreational facilities in this area," Dietz said. "But, we hope to make more headway next year."

Dietz revealed that enough money be made available next year do purchase a major park area in the Alum Creek-dr Berwick section of Columbus.

This would involve 100 or so acres.

"There may be other sites pop up," Dietz concluded, but these are the only ones we know of at the present time that are in great need of additional facilities."

If your hair is lank or dry or even oily, have faith in the old tried-and-true implement that can do so much for your hair. Your hair may have beauty potential that you never realized possible. Use that hair brush.

In addition to daily brushing, give your hair the advantage of professional help. We will see that the propers shampoo is used, followed by an attractive styled set. Put your hair in our capable hands. Iva's Beauty Salon, 3978 E. Broad Street, Columbus, Belmont 5-5474.

Paul and Vic Hairdressers say

Speaking of Beauty

VIC PAUL
OLD AS HUMANITY
Every time someone refers to "that new fad, hair color" . . . I can't help snorting! New, indeed? History has it that Cleopatra henna'ed her hair, and she probably got the idea from an ancestor! Ancient Grecian beauty-seekers used combinations of roots that often had to be secured overseas. Down through the ages (especially the Middle Ages) women used all manner of hair coloring techniques—some of them pretty harmful. Today you have an advantage these ladies never had. You have us, and modern methods!
"DOES SHE?"
If you're trying hard to decide whether or not your neighbor has colored hair, I'll bet she's a beauty salon customer! The woman who attempts to master "do-it-herself" hair coloring usually shows it. First, there's the matter of keeping color even. (You can't see roots at the back of your head with the world's best mirror!) Then there's the urgently important business of keeping colored hair in good condition. Hair regularly subjected to chemicals should be kept healthy by a skilled hair-doctor. (Like one of us.)
DON'T YOU DARE!
If you've attempted to color your own hair, DON'T decide to permanent wave it too! Some of the sorriest heads I ever saw happened just that way. Hair that has been colored has changed its texture. It'll take permanent wave chemicals faster than a sponge takes water—and that's apt to lead you to the frizziest mess you ever saw. You can have a good permanent, if you trust our judgment . . . and put your head in our well-trained hands.
FROM UNDER THE DRYER:
Just about the time a boy realizes what he owes his parents, he's signing a mortgage for a honeymoon cottage.
OUR STAFF:
PAUL AND VIC, BOB, HELEN, CONNIE and LIBBY are all on hand to serve you with your beauty needs.

Hawk Forces Facing 'Must' Win In St. Charles CCL Fray Saturday

SPORTS Eastern Review

With most Eastern Sector teams fairly settled in their niche of fortune for the 1960-61 cage season, only one game is on tap this week that could have an important bearing on the way the final results will read and that fray is in the Central Catholic League.

After climbing to within hailing distance of front-running St. Charles, the Hawks of Hartley slipped off the pace with a resounding defeat at the hands of Newark Catholic in last week's action, 78 to 47.

This Saturday night will be show-down time for the Hawks as they meet powerful St. Charles, losers of only one encounter in loop play, who rebounded from their lone defeat to whip Watterson 55 to 47.

A loss would drop the Hawks entirely out of the CCL picture. A victory would once again place Hartley one game away from the lead.

The last time the two titans met, the Hawks went down by eight points, 51 to 43. Since then, the forces of Earl Vermillion have won four and lost two while the Cardinals have been clipping along at a championship gait, in spite of an upset at the hands of Springfield Catholic.

Also in contention, in the event the Cards come out on the short end of Saturday night's encounter, will be the winner of the Watterson-Springfield tilt. Both teams are now tied with Bishop Hartley for second spot in the sun.

In the city loop, Eastmoor gave top shot Linden a run for its money before bowing 57 to 55, and now the Panthers are virtual shoo-ins for the championship roost. Only North and Central have a chance to catch up and each has experienced a pair of defeats in the league.

Eastmoor's record stands at three-four in the league and 6-5 overall. After the Linden loss, the Warriors took on London and scalded the nets for an 85 to 51 verdict. But unfortunately, that win doesn't count in the league.

Friday night, the Warriors take on Central at he Eastmoor court. Last time out, in the first game of the season, the Pirates ransacked Eastmoor for a two point edge, 67 to 65, a not too inspiring margin for the Warriors to overcome this week.

While Whitehall whittled away at two victories the past week, Bexley took the scraps in its two encounters, one with the Rams.

Whitehall hustled and bustled it way to a 49 to 46 win over the Lions Friday night, then upended Mt. Vernon, 70 to 60 Saturday. The wins gave the Rams an even all 5-5 record in the Central Buckeye.

Bexley's two losses, the other was to Worthington 64 to 52, gave them a not too outstanding 3-6 mark in loop play and a 4-8 record overall.

This week the going may be a little easier on the Lions, as they meet the two weakest teams in the CBL, who have notched but a single victory between them. Friday night, Mt. Vernon arrives at the Lions den in the two squads' inaugural match of the year, and Saturday, the Lions trudge to Delaware Willis.

Mt. Vernon has capped one CBL verdict and Willis has yet to garner its first win.

Whitehall's ever ambitious Rams get a chance to greet Delaware first, however, on Friday night. In their last encounter, the Rams downed Willis 67 to 38.

Only one other game is on tap, and that involves St. Charles. Before meeting up with Bishop Hartley, the Cards take on an outside engagement Friday evening with North's Polar Bears.

Last week's results:

Hitting on four of its five cyclinders, St. Charles took the measure of Watterson to move their league mark to 6-1. The final score, of 55 to 47, doesn't indicate the ease with which the Cards mustered the win, as most of the game, they led by a dozen points.

Tom Blackburn, with 13 points, John Bauman, with 10, Paul Baumann, with 16, and Larry Roehrenbeck, with 14, proved to be the deciding difference.

Bishop Hartley forces, meanwhile, hopeful of gaining ground on the Cardinals, took the wrong trail somewhere and ended up taking it on the chin from Newark Catholic, 78 to 47. It was the worst defeat suffered by the Hawks this year. Their previous high scoring loss was to New Albany, 62 to 48.

The Hawks could do nothing right, and Newark could do no wrong. Bill Macklin with 13, Steve Warren with 11 and Bob Burman with 12 paced what little there was of the Hawks attack.

Against Linden, Eastmoor should not have lost. The Warriors had the Panthers on the run for three-quarters, but still ended up on the losing end to 55.

The Warriors jumped off to a 12 to 8 first period margin and increased the spread to nine points by the half. At the end of the third stanza, Eastmoor held but a one point advantage.

The Panther's Rudy Fadis flipped in a lay-up with but seconds to go and the game was gone to Linden, who are still undefeated.

Frank Dwyer with 12, Frank Stavroff with 10 and Dean Lampros led the Warriors scoring attack.

The Warriors half-way made up for its narrow loss against London the following night, overwhelming the Mid-Eight aggregate 85 to 51. Half-way, because the win means nothing except in terms of overall records.

Everybody almost got into the scoring act. Lampros was again the Warrior stalwart with 15 tallies; Dwyer, stavroff and Ken Hollister connected for 14.

Whitehall rang up a couple of neat tunes in the CBL hit parade. The Rams, for once, got started and couldn't be stopped. Against Bexley, the Rams opened up a 10 point first half spread and held on for a three point edge. The final: 49 for Whitehall; 46 for Bexley.

Ron Neutzling meshed 15 p ints; and Ken Merriman and Bruce Aang each added 13 for Whitehall.

For the Lions, it was Steve Tuckerman and Larry Ritter each with 13.

Against Mt. Vernon, the Rams started rolling and kept on rolling. At the end of the first quarter Whitehall led by 15 points. By the time the fourth quarter rolled around, the Rams had established a 24 point margin thanks to Bill Gornall, with 20 and Bang with 16 tallies.

Bexley again managed to stay fairly even with Worthington, the same as they did against Whitehall, but by the end the uneveness had worn off and the Lions succumbed 64 to 52.

Ritter with 18 and Tuckerman with 15 were high lion scorers.

Bryant Wins Tournament

The East Columbus Recreation Center began its regular season basketball league last Wednesday night with two very close games. In the first contest of the evening the Jets downed the Hawks 27-25 in a tight defensive contest.

The second game saw State top the Eagles behind the fine offensive effort of Ted Dickey who chalked up 23 points for the winners.

Jerry Bryant, representing East Columbus Recreation Center, captured the city championship in the annual foul shooting tourney at Glenwood [illegible].

Jerry won the junior boy's class of this City Recreation Department sponsored event. At the end of the first round he was tied for first place with three other boys when he netted nine out of 15 shots. In the ten shot play-off young Bryant put in six shots to clinch the event.

Bexley Fisherman Takes Canadian Competition

Walter R. Souder, of 2667 Sherwood-rd, won top honors in the Manitoba-Canada Master Angler Award Competition in 1960.

Fishing n northern Mantoba's famous Gods River, Souder successfully landed the largest brook trout caught in Manitoba during the past year. It weighed six pounds and eight ounces.

A total of 325 anglers in 22 states and 3 Canadian provinces qualified for the award. Of the 187 U.S. winners, nine were from Ohio.

Tavern owner Leonard Underwood, of Chingford, England, disclosed that he keeps two six-foot pythons in his cellar to ward off thieves. "They are friendly, really," Underwood added. "They wrap themselves all around strangers."

'Best of Post,' To Premiere on 4 Palm Springs Golf in View on 10

By Stan Robinson

An all star lineup will be seen Friday night when the Telephone Hour presents, "Almanac For February," Channel 4 at 9 p.m. Polly Bergen, as hostess, will present the music of Victor Herbert, a medley of love songs and an old time vaudeville routine. Without a doubt, the highlight of the show will be the recreation of the premiere of "Rhapsody In Blue," with Paul "Pops" Whiteman conducting the orchestra. Guests on this special include, Robert Peters, Carol Lawrence and Russell Arms. It should be a bright entertainment lead in to the month of hearts, flowers and in particular St. Valentine day.

Channel six reminds sports fans of two big hardcourt clashes before the cameras on Saturday. The New York University of Syracuse pro basketball game and the 4:30 scheduling of the Ohio State at Michigan game from Ann Arbor, Mich.

"The Best Of The Post" has its premiere Saturday night at 10:30 on Channel 4 with guest star Everett Sloane. This new series will dramatize the stories that editors of the Post have selected as their best articles of the past. Saturday's first episode tells of a small band of heroic army men who fought to restore order in the Indian infested post-Civil War West, with the story title of "Command."

A reminder to the ladies: Nita Hutch commences her new radio series of daily broadcasts on WVKO Monday, Feb. 6 and not only will have a morning program at 9:45 from the studios but will originate her familiar luncheon - interview visits from the attractive surroundings of the Olentangy Inn. This particular broadcast will be on WVKO at 1:05 p.m.

A golf tournament spotlighting top pros with many names from the field of entertainment along with other famed personalities, will compete at 4:30 Saturday in the Palm Springs golf classic. Channel 10 and CBS will follow such show business names as Jerry Lewis, Desi Arnaz, Phil Harris, James Garner and several more.

LATE NOTES: CBS-TV hopes to move the Rifleman, starring Chuck Connors, from ABC-TV to its own Tuesday night schedule starting in the fall. This is considered an ideal follow-up to re-runs of "Gunsmoke," which is planned for 7:30 p.m. next season.

"Concentration," popular daytime game show on Channel 4 is now expected to replace "Dante" on the Monday evening NBC schedule around Apr. 17, with Hal "64,000 Dollar" March mentioned as emcee.

International Telemeter Co., now testing pay-TV near Toronto, Canada, is preparing to introduce its closed circuit pay-TV programming in Little Rock, Ark.

Singer Abbe Lane, wife of orchestra leader Xavier Cugat, makes her TV dramatic debut as a guest star with Keenan Wynn in "The Day It Rained Mink" on ABC-TV's "Naked City." This show of course on Channel six locally, Wednesday at 10 p.m.

Fim fare for the first Saturday in February around the dial:

11:00 p.m. Movie of the Week—A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court. Bing Crosby in a musical comedy based on the Mark Twain novel Channel 10.

11:30 p.m. Gold Cup Theater—Waterloo Bridge, with Vivian Leigh and Robert Taylor. This is the story of a ballet dancer who falls in love with a soldier—Channel 4.

11:15 p.m. World's Best Movies—Erroll Flynn and Ann Sheridan in Edge of Darkness—Channel 6.

Ginger Rogers, Lucille Ball and Julie London will be among the twelve top TV and movie personalities who will serve as presenters for the special "Bob Hope Buick Sports Award Show" Wednesday night, Feb. 15 on Channel 4. Hope as MC will honor topflight American athletes, both pro and amateur from every major sporting field. This ceremony marks the comedian's sixth TV presentation of the season. These winners to be seen next Wednesday at 10, buy the nation's sports writers and will receive their gold statuette. The entertainment world personality in each case will be from the athlete's home state.

While on the subject of sports, Channel 4's Jimmy Crum has a new show each Sunday which has been designed to cover fully the entire sports program of Ohio State University. This Sunday at 1:30, the Ohio State "Behind The Scenes" sports story will continue. Judo, boxing, wrestling, fencing and lacrosse are just some of the college activities in sports to be covered in future Sunday shows.

Watch for Jimmy Crum on Monday night at 8:30 when Channel 4 televises the Indiana University at Ohio State basketball game. Jimmy will be joined by Clark Smith at St. John arena on WLW-C.

"High" Cost Getting Well

Is Low Now To Cost of 20 Years Ago

Twenty years ago a patient with lobar pneumonia ordinarily spent three to four weeks in a hospital with expensive serum treatment, special nurses, use of an oxygen tent, in addition to routine drugs.

If and when he recovered—the mortality rate at that time was about 40 per cent — a long convalescence was ahead of the patient.

His expenses for the illness, not including loss of time, usually amounted to at least $400.

Things are different today!

Thanks to scientific advances, hospitalization is not always necessary in such cases nowadays. Penicillin and other modern therapy usually has the patient back on the job in eight days, frequently in less time than that. The total cost of his illness rarely exceeds $50 not counting loss of work.

This is but one example in which today's drugs save the patient discomfort, loss of time and money.

CIRCLES, NOT STOP SIGNS

Method To Slow Traffic Advanced By Bexley Man

By John Poeppelmeyer

A Bexley man has come up with an idea of slowing traffic movement in the city, that at the same time would eliminate some of the stop signs and traffic lights in the grid pattern.

D. M. Burkam, of 195 S. Roosevelt-av, Town Planner serving the State of Ohio through the Department of Finance, has indicated, via a series of designs submitted to Bexley council, that devices known as circles, ovals, barriers and diverters, could be employed in the traffic pattern.

Burkham states that the idea did not originate with him, that he came across the proposal perusing a traffic and engineer publication.

The use of circles, ovals and the like to divert and control traffic has been tried and found "excellent" in a neighborhood in Richmond, Calif., according to the article.

The purpose behind the Richmond effort was to avoid extensive installation of "stop" signs on minor streets in residential neighborhoods, Martin A. Wallen, traffic engineer for Richmond, explained.

The citizens looked for alternate methods to solve problems of accidents at four way stop intersections.

According to Burkham, circles or ovals may be used where north and south streets intersect boulevards such as Fair-av and Bryden-rd, which have wide green medians with trees.

Along experimental lines, Burkham suggests, the circles, or ovals, could be painted in the middle of the intersections.

Then, if proved to do the job required, a more permanent concrete type of the same design could be installed with the center of the circle planted with trees and shrubs.

The circles, Burkham explained, should be large enough to slow down traffic, but small enough to allow for emergency vehicles.

Burkham admits that it is questionable as to which car would have the right of way when one car is "on" the circle. "Only time would tell," he commented.

"Casual traffic would flow around the circles in the residential areas without automobile noises that at times disturb the peace at many corners," Burkham outlined.

The traffic diverters, now in use in Richmond, are green barriers, that block intersections diagonally to interrupt straightway traffic. The green barriers, Burkham says, may be used to convert streets into cul-de-sacs, and thereby remove traffic entirely.

The people in Richmond came up with the solution of considering traffic in conjunction with all other aspects of the neighborhood and designed a traffic pattern that would by-pass schools and parks.

Among other items that were innovated in the Richmond program, were "off beat" stop and slow signs. For instance, one recorded "Slow To 16" which, as the report states, is "definitely non-standard and has created a considerable amount of interest."

As Burkham points out, Bexley fire department officials should be consulted in planning such a program, to assure free passage of vehicles on emergency missions. "Landscape architects would be able to suggest proper planting materials.

"Some," he commented, "might like a golfing green for the circle nearest them."

Election Year Street Projects Get Launched In Whitehall

Democrats and Republicans worked harmoniously in Whitehall council chambers this week to insure Mayor Walter Moling's pledge of "keeping street busy this year."

Altogether, solons approved six different street programs, took first readings on two others and still have one to go after a lengthy drawn-out session over a crowded legislative agenda Tuesday.

Council also threw out the controversial sidewalk shoveling ordinance, granted a public hearing to Key 33 Motel and authorized a continuance of a contract between the Whitehall and Hamilton Township Fire Departments.

An ordinance to control solicitations in the city was given a first reading then turned over to the safety committee for further consideration. Also okayed was a measure to amend the city criminal code, stressing laws against false registration at hotels, motels and other public boarding houses and placing a curfew on juvenile activity during the night hours.

In all, legislators left a half a dozen bills to be taken up at a special session Monday night. The lone street bill not encountered this week concerned the improvement of Westphal-av, from E. Main-st to Pinecrest Subdivision.

Street improvements okayed: Proposed location of Andrus-av, from Yaeger Manor to Pinecrest Subdivision; Ross-rd, from E. Main-st to McAllister; McAllister, from Ross-rd to Bernhard-rd; preparation of plans for Hamilton-rd, from south corporation line to its intersection with E. Broad-st; preparations of plans for Etna-st, from Robinwood-av to west corporation limits, including the construction of sidewalks and necessary storm or sanitary sewers.

In addition, council okayed a resubmitted request for a public hearing to vacate Beechwood-rd from Mayflower-blvd to English Village.

The two street improvements that came in for a first reading concerned locating Broadhurst-st, from Hamilton-rd, east to Powell and negotiating with Columbus and the New York Central Railroad for the purpose of continuing Etna-st west to intersect with Napolen-av in Columbus.

First Ward solon Richard Hyatt, the one who sponsored the snow shoveling ordinance that called for residents to have sidewalks cleared each day before 10 a.m., was also the one who suggested that the measure be tabled indefinitely, thereby killing it. Hyatt's reason: "It has caused quite a bit of rhubarb and would place quite a lot of people at an inconvenience."

The solicitation ordinance called for tradesmen to submit a $5-a-month fee to conduct their door-to-door business in the city. The law is to prohibit "undesirable persons" from engaging in such sales and "frightening housewives and from using high pressure, obnoxious methods."

Hyatt said that he was against a $5 per month fee, that it would be "more reasonable to assess salesmen $5 a year," but he agreed that the city should have some control over the situation.

Mayor Moling reported that Whitehall's dues to the Franklin County Civil Defense effort amounts to $1628 He cited numerous pieces of equipment that have thus far been acquired through the CD program.

TWO-DAY WORKSHOP SET

Whitehall Teachers Plan To Explore Curriculum Change

While the kids are away, the teachers won't be playing in the Whitehall School District.

Coming up Feb. 23 and 24 is that time known as "Teacher's Workshop." And although final plans for the two day event have yet to be formulated, according to Gilbert Johnson, assistant superintendent in charge of instruction, the basic idea behind this year's workshop is a re-evaluation of the curriculum.

A steering committee, composed of nine teachers from the Whitehall system, is at present drafting a workable outline.

The nine: Jean Bauter, Etna kindergarten; Janice Taylor, E. Main, first grade; Mary Hayes, Etna, second grade; Sharon Stricker, E. Broad, third grade; Marilyn Knight, Beechwood, fourth grade; Joan Peterson, Etna, fifth grade; Betty Sharrock, Rosemore, sixth grade; Doris Coy, Rosemore, seventh grade; James Dow, Whitehall-Yearling, eighth grade.

Phases of curriculum to be discussed include reading, science, language, arts and social studies, according to John-

The high school staff, under the direction of Austin Peel, principal, is also working on an evaluation program, in ninth through twelfth grades.

It won't be too long before teachers from another elementary will be taking part in the workshop, probably by 1962. For the local board is busy checking out qualifications of architects for a new 16 to 18 room school, Superintendent Robert Crabbs has reported.

A NEGATIVE APPROACH TO WINTER

BEEN TOUCHED by a bit of snow-blindness lately? Been wishing for something a little different in the way of scenery? We thought so, and so we journeyed out to Franklin Park to give you our interpretation of a winter wonderland in black on white. As you can plainly see, snow is all around the waterfalls, but what a relief to see it some other color for a change. Almost makes you wish that Spring would stay away a while longer, doesn't it?

Lazarus, Sears Joining New 'Lincoln Center'

Two big names in merchandising — Lazarus and Sears — will open stores in West Franklin county as part of an extensive new regional shopping center to be built this summer by Nationwide Development Co.

Edward F. Wagner, vice-president of NDC, said the new mall-type center, will be located in the southwest corner of W Broad-st and Georgesville-rd, just west of the General Motors Ternstedt plant.

The first of its type in Central Ohio, it will be named "Lincoln Center." Construction of the first phase will start about Sept. 1, 1961 and the first stores will open about a year later.

Murray D. Lincoln, Nationwide president, disclosed Wednesday that Lincoln Center will be the first shopping facility in Central Ohio to contain Lazarus and Sears retail stores.

In joint statements, Lazarus Board Chairman Robert Lazarus and President Charles Y. Lazarus said the suburban branch would sell apparel, mainly. Lazarus also plans to open stores in north and east Columbus in 1963 and 1965, respectively.

Nationwide Development is also the builder of Lincoln Village, which has grown to a community of about 4500 persons since 1954.

Capital Concert Band To Take Weekend Tours

Soloist for the band's weekend tours is Professor David A. Hite, instructor in clarinet and saxaphone at Capital.

Holy Spirit Society To Hear Fr. Murphy

Holy Spirit Altar and Rosary Society will meet Thursday, Feb. 16, 8 p.m., in the assembly hall of the new church.

Guest speaker will be Fr. Hugh Murphy of St. Charles College. He will review the Broadway play, "The Miracle Worker."

You Benefit From These

THREE FREEDOMS

Medical research doesn't "just happen." The newspaper and magazine stories which report new scientific discoveries can't possibly give all the "behind-the-scenes" details that contribute so much to successful research.

A man with an idea is essential. Then, three freedoms: (1) Freedom to test his idea in a laboratory, properly equipped and staffed. (2) Freedom to wait, for months or years, if necessary, until results can be checked. (3) Freedom to tell the world what he has learned, so that the world may benefit thereby.

Think of some recent medical discoveries that have already benefited your family, and rejoice that in our country we have facilities for providing laboratories for researchers, and ways to make available to everyone the advantages of helpful new knowledge.

CROPPED LOOK

Small, round and cropped looking; straighter than curly, with airy shape but not the exaggerated bouffant of the past few seasons. This is the essence of today's chic coiffure. It sounds quite easy when summed up in such simplified terms. Nevertheless it does call for some professional meddling. Part of the new, thick, smooth but sleek look is in the cutting. It does take know-how.

Why not take advantage of our know-how. Let us arrange a lovely, new coif just for you. It will make all the difference in your looks. Iva's Beauty Salon, 3978 E. Broad Street, Columbus. Belmont 5-5474.

Election—

rector J. Craig Wright related that arrests in Whitehall so far this year are 15 per cent ahead of a comparable period last year.

Fourth Ward Councilman Orton Davis requested that "clean up the town" bill be submitted to the Planning and Zoning Commission. Davis is asking that future construction of undersirable businesses be restricted.

Yet to come at Monday's session are ordinances to purchase more police cruisers, to allow auxiliary policemen to live outside of Whitehall, to permit sick leave pay for firemen and policemen, to fix salaries for elected officials and for members of the civil service commission.

No one who needs a bit of garden information at three in the morning or someone to pay his taxes for him or a quick ride on a Shetland pony can afford to miss our news column, Getting Around, this month. The answers are all here.

Finally, our cartoonists get after "The Optimists," with some funny, pessimistic results.

Next year's 1961-62 school calendar has been approved. Altogether, students will attend school 181 days and teachers 187. Crabbs said that outside of the Columbus system, youngsters in Whitehall have the longest school year. School commences Sept. 5 and is out June 7, 1962.

Vacations next year (1961-62 school session):

Thanksgiving, Nov. 23 and 24; Christmas, Dec. 22 through Jan. 1; Washington's Birthday; Easter, Apr. 20 through 28; Memorial Day. Baccalaureate is June 3 and commencement is une 6.

And, to wrap things up, the teachers workshop in 1962, which also means a vacation, will be Mar. 1 and 2, 1962.

Spy Next Door Now Scheduled; Sea Hunt, Moves To Channel 4

A television program based on Soviet espionage which CBS withdrew from its Feb. 1 schedule, will be broadcast after all Feb. 15 on Channel 10. "The Spy Next Door", was to be on Armstrong Circle Theatre and then without much warning, an earlier show was repeated for the evening.

There was speculation that the government might have asked the network to withdraw the program to avoid antagonizing the Soviets but CBS denies any such idea. It has been previewed by net officials and supposedly is ready for the 15th at 10 p.m. on Channel 10.

Stan Robinson

"Sea Hunt," with popular star Lloyd Bridges, has moved to Channel 4 and will be presenting all new episodes on Monday evenings at 7 p.m. Actually, this will be the fourth successful year for the show. The story is of a man who fights danger with modern science and technical skills, rather than sheer brawn.

Fred "Spook" Beckman, an "on the air" salesman who presents his new WVKO show in Beckman style and technique, is heard from 8 to 12, Monday thru Friday, and will have a Saturday program as well . . . Ken Mack, familiar name in WTVN radio news circles, most likely will begin an editorial position in the writing field with a major Columbus firm in the near future . . . WMNI's Eddie Lane is preparing to follow the Jets thru spring training and into the schedule as 920 radio will handle the Jets schedule on radio. Bob Sherman is mentioned as possible color man "at the mike" . . . Welcome to WDLR radio in neighboring Delaware, about 1550 kilocycles to the north.

Channel 6 reminds Basketball fans of the Saturday schedule including Notre Dame vs. Detroit, 2 p.m. and Wisconsin at Northwestern, 4:30 . . . Monday the day before St. Valentine's Tuesday, Jimmy Crum and Clark Smith will be at St. John Arena for the televising of the Northwestern-Ohio State clash on home hardwood for the Buckeyes. This Channel 4 telecast starts at 8:30, Monday night.

Art Linkletter, popular radio and television performer, will champion the cause of crippled children as national chairman of the 1961 Easter Seal campaign. Linkletter will head the month-long appeal for funds, slated for March 2 thru April 2 in all 50 states. The Franklin County Society for Crippled Children benefits locally. This campaign marks the national organization's 40th year of care and treatment for the handicapped. Linkletter, father of five himself, said, n taking the top Easter seal post, "I like kids — little ones and big ones".

"Walt Disney Presents", begins a two part series on ABC-TV Sunday the 19th on Channel 6 dealing with a wagon train journey to the Pacific northwest. Fess Parker will portray the scout, George Reeves the train captain . . . Comedian George Burns and singer-dancer Kay Thompson visit the Garry Moore Show Channel 10 and CBS Tuesday, Feb. 26 at 10 p.m. . . . "CBS Reports", for Thursday the 16th, is titled "The Case Of The Boston Electra", a report dealing with the prop-jet passenger plane that crashed on takeoff at Boston last fall.

NBC News correspondents Chet Huntley and David Brinkley are described in a Coronet Magazine article as the most popular network news commentators in the free world . . . and also the most quoted. Huntley-Brinkley Texaco report is seen nightly at 6:45 on NBC and Channel 4 in Columbus.

WBNS-TV will honor viewer requests when repeating the award-winning telementary "Birth By Appointment," Thursday at 10:30 p.m. Originally telecast Sept. 12, the special program generated the greatest spontaneous viewer response in the 11-year history of the station. This documentary is the story of the Caesarean birth of Brian Keith Cossin at Mt. Carmel Hospital.

WMNI radio announces a new Sunday evening college series which should prove most interesting. The activities of Otterbein College in Westerville will be featured during the "Otterbein Notebook", 7 p.m. on "Mighty 92" radio. Otterbein's Speech Department under the direction of Dr. James Grissinger are producng this informative and entertaining Sunday evening broadcast, Dr. Lynn W. CAGE LINE-UP FOR THIS WEEK

Tournament time looms just around the corner, and with the issues practically decided in the City, Central Buckeye and Catholic loops, Eastern Sector teams can very well use the next three to four weeks sharpening up offensive and defensive tactics.

But it doesn't always pay to look too far ahead or to count your buckets before they are hooped. So before the tournament trail is hit, squads can look forward to an almost full agenda this weekend.

Eastmoor will be looking at two foes. South on Friday night and Jackson on Saturday.

Whitehall has a pair of games on the docket, Upper Arlington on Friday and Worthington on Saturday.

Bexley, fresh from two straight wins, vies with Urbana, Friday.

In the CCL, St. Charles takes on Holy Family for its lone engagement of the week Saturday.

Bishop Hartley, whose fortunes of late keep drooping, will ply their brand of basketball Friday against Watterson.

Senior Y-Teen Members Vote For Spring Dance Royal Pair

Senior Y-Teen members voted last Thursday for 10 candidates for king and queen to reign over the spring dance to be held Mar. 4.

The five candidates for queen are Marcia Davis, Bev Finke, Mary Forster, Dottie McDonald and Karen Wilkins.

The five boys chosen are Dean Lampros, Tim McCool, Jim Siders, Bob Uhl and Terry Yoakum.

Byron Autrey, coronet soloist and professor of music at Michigan State University, will appear with Eastmoor's Concert Band on Friday, Feb. 24, as the band presents its annual winter concert.

The concert will begin at 8:15 p.m. in the auditorium. Tickets are available from any band member or by calling BE. 1-0605.

An additional feature of the concert will be a coronet trio composed of Autrey, Jerry Kaye, Eastmoor band director, and Peter Grasselli, Eastmoor assistant band director, with Kenneth Keller, director of music for the Columbus Public Schools, directing the accompanying band.

Miss Marmet, 12th grade English teacher, who has been ill for nearly four months, will return Monday, Feb. 13.

The 14th Annual Ohio Wesleyan University High School Music Festival was held Saturday, Feb. 4, at Delaware. Participants from Eastmoor included Darlene Barr, Betty Becker, Frank Bruner, Dixie Ewing, Barry Hilton, Bob Moreen and Dave Morris.

Analytic geometry is now the topic of discussion in math honors III. The class, taught by Mr. Tata, consists of juniors and seniors who have completed the prescribed high school mathematics courses, and are now beginning "college" mathematics.

The class began as an eighth grade algebra class with those who are now juniors. Seniors were added later.

Steve Belhorn, Eastmoor senior, was elected president of the Chess Club at the January meeting.

Senior members of the Warriorettes will be recognized during their performance at the basketball game with Jackson here Feb. 11. A banquet is being planned for Warriorette members Feb. 20. Pins will be awarded at that time.

A sock-hop, sponsored by the Student Council, will be held in the cafeteria after the game with Jackson. Tim McCool is the chairman in charge of planning the sock-hop.

The Eastmoor Instrumental Music Parents Association will have a meeting in the school cafeteria next Tuesday at 8 p.m. Students who play musical instruments at Johnson Park Junior High and at Broadleigh Elementary and their parents have been invited to attend.

"The trouble with politicians is that they have more solutions than we have problems."—Rep. Archer Nelson.

Reunion Set By Center's Tweenagers

It will be reunion time for Tween Campers of the Columbus Jewis Center on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 12, at 2 o'clock.

Registration information, films and refreshments will highlight this annual program giving parents and tweens an opportunity to discuss Tween Camp.

The outdoor skill program, geared for tweenagers between 11-15 will again offer the horseback riding, tennis, sailing and canoeing, as well as boats and motors, archery, drama, outdoor camping and cooking skills this year.

Counselors, new and old, including the coordinators and head counselors Mark and Carole Shapiro will be on hand to meet and greet parents as well as answer questions. A limited enrollment, because of demand, will give old campers first opportunity.

Interested participants were encouraged to come to the reunion or call BE. 1-2731, Paul Rosenfeld, for additional information.

Sports Activities Set For Jewish Center

Sports activities at the Columbus Jewish Center will be highlighted by a golf clinic and other outdoor activities.

The center's Sportsmen's Club at its first 1961 meeting set as its first program for the season, an ice-fishing trip and cook-out at Hoover Dam, scheduled for Sunday morning, Feb. 19, leaving the center at 10 a.m.

A demonstration of bait casting will highlight the next business meeting, Thursday, Feb. 23. Election of officers will also be held at that time.

A golf clinic with instruction offered by Mike Manley will begin at the Jewish Center gym, Wednesday, Feb. 15, at 8:30 p.m. The clinic will be free and is open to everyone.

On Monday, Feb. 20, 1961, the Jewish Center 1961 golf lesson program will start under the competent instruction of Mike Manley.

Three adult beginner instruction courses will be offered, starting on Monday, Feb. 20, 10 to 11 a.m. and 12:45 to 1:45 p.m., and Wednesday, Feb. 22, 8 to 9 p.m.

Three adult advanced courses are scheduled to start on Monday, Feb. 20, 11 to 12 a.m. and 1:45 to 2:45 p.m., and Wednesday, Feb. 22, 9 to 10 p.m.

Courses will consist of 10 lessons, the last two to be on a driving range. The fee for adult courses is $9.50 for Center members.

A new Teen-Tween course in beginning golf will be introduced this year on Sunday, Feb. 19, at 6 p.m. The course will consist of six lessons, one of which will be on a driving range. The fee for Jewish Center members is $4.

Clubs will be provided for participants not having golf equipment. Classes will be limited, therefore early registration is urged. All classes are coed.

A golf league schedule for women, teens and tweens is being planned by the Center golf committee, consisting of Mrs. Irving Smith, chairman, Mrs. Earl Sonnenstein, Mrs. Morrey Tarcov, Mrs. Harvey Levine, Mrs. Ted Schmidt and Mrs. Sanford Timen. Leagues will be established for beginning and advanced golfers.

Further information on golf classes can be obtained by calling the Jewish Center physical education department, BE. 1-2731.

We Like Our Four Seasons In Ohio

Often the question is posed, "Why do you want to live in this forsaken country?" The question comes from our southern or western friends.

But really, this isn't a forsaken country. While we have experienced some real winter, who would deny that we will enjoy our spring far more than people anywhere?

The winter has been beautiful — it has caused us to slow down. We have all become more conscious of our driving. A lot of people have stayed home. And while there has been some complaining there has been much friendliness. There have been more occasions to cooperate.

Beauty is for those with eyes to see it and hearts to appreciate it.

We would not trade our four seasons for any other climate

Now we welcome the spring sunshine!

Funeral Home Zoning Also Gets Solon Study

Sometime between now and March, Bexley council will give its decision on whether or not to rezone two tracts of land—one for a Senior Citizens apartment building, the other for a funeral home.

The battle lines were drawn this week at a public hearing on the pair of rezoning issues. A host of opponents showed up in Bexley council chambers to both of the pending measures.

Proponents spoke up too, but they were in the minority: William Malone, attorney representing O. R. Woodyard, Jr., who wants a funeral home in Bexley, and Paul Griffith, attorney representing Starling Hanford, contractor for the Citizens home.

The list of complaints heard were the usual ones: devaluation of property, traffic congestion, against change.

On the funeral home, which is to be located at the northwest corner of Francis and Livingston-avs:

"The traffic situation should be looked into. It is almost impossible to get onto Livingston, any way."

"Only one would benefit . . . the rest of us would not . . . just the one who owns the land."

"It would devaluate the property in the adjoining areas. I admit it's a selfish motive. But aren't we all selfish, when it comes to something like this?"

"Bexley was not established for people to make money. The businesses that are here are desirable and convenient for the people who live here . . .

Moling Submits Plan For 24-Acre Park Site

By John Poeppelmeyer

A proposal for a 24-acre park area in the city of Whitehall has been submitted to the Planning and Zoning Commission by Mayor Walter B. Moling. The action took place at the commission's Tuesday night meeting.

The proposed park would be located south of Fairway-av, east of Hamilton-rd, and facing on Country Club-rd, Moling outlined.

He said he hopes that eventually the park would be used as a recreation center, complete with picnic areas, ball diamonds and horseshoe courts.

The proposal that the mayor launched goes along with the city's master plan which points out a need for more recreation areas.

A trampoline court, requested for Fairport Shopping Center, was turned down, Moling reported. He said the owner of the property, Ed McVey, stated that he could not afford to lease the ground because of insurance rates.

This was the second attempt to install a trampoline court in the city.

The previous one, by another party last summer, was ejected because of zoning regulations after the operator had set the business up on a former trailer court near Shady-ln and E. Main-st.

Another matter, that of councilman Orton Davis' "clean up the city" ordinance, was referred to committee for tudy. Davis has asked that zoning be established in order to in-

NAA OFFICIAL REFUTES GARNON'S 'GIANT' PROPHECY

An announcement by Whitehall Democratic mayor-aspirant Robert Garnon that North American Aviation is "about to become a giant," has been refuted by an NAA official.

Near the close of this week's solon session, Second Ward Councilman Garnon said he learned the information from "valid sources," whom he refused to reveal.

Garnon brought up the point and described the situation as meaning "real work ahead street-wise." In answer to colleague inquiries Garnon stated that his information "is way past the point of being rumors."

The NAA official, who declined use of his name, commented that "we don't know what he is talking about . . . neither do we know where he got his information."

The official continued that NAA has no plans for "physical expansion, but we naturally are always after new business—some, of course, is over a long range proposition."

The official admitted that the company is hiring, but added that "we are always hiring, sometimes not as much as other times."

He stated that NAA is building a terminal dynamics laboratory for the study of heat problems, but said that the construction is on a relatively small basis.

The Monday meeting was the second part of a recessed session from last week. This week, solons once again concerned themselves with street improvements.

Approved was the improvement of Westphal-av, from E. Main-st to McAllister-av.

The ordinance submitted read "from E. Main to Pinecrest Subdivision," but council deemed that residents living south of

Candidate Harcourt— 'Turn Out The Lights'

Ward Three Whitehall Council candidate Charles Harcourt so far has been the only aspirant to speak out on issues that he thinks needs "fixing" in the city.

A fortnight ago, Harcourt pledged, as part of his platform, to put sidewalks on every street and to install more traffic lights. He also vowed to represent all residents equally, "whether Republicans or Democrats."

More recently, he charged that "the present administration isn't doing anything" to corral stray dogs.

Now, 78-year-old Charlie thinks that the lights in the city are being left on too long from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. "running up the taxpayers money."

Bexley Man To Head Operations Of OARC

After operating 10½ years through the services of volunteer workers, The Ohio Association for Retarded Children will have a full-time executive director.

The new position will be filled by Ross G. Glick, 916 S. Remington-rd, Columbus. Glick's appointment was announced this week by Mrs. Thelma Hoffman of Dayton, OARC president.

Glick will begin his duties Wednesday in newly-established offices in the Outlook Building, 44 East Broad-st.

"The rapid growth of the association and demands for service have multiplied to such an extent that it is impossible for volunteers to carry on the work," Mrs. Hoffman declared Tuesday. "A central office managed by a capable, full-time executive director is the only answer if we are going to provide for the still-unmet needs of the retarded children of Ohio."

Ross G. Glick

The new executive director's duties will include working with the 69 member units of the association in developing uniform programs for the retarded throughout the state. He will also be concerned with legislative programs for the retard-

Gentlemen:

"Enclosed is my check for $1.80 in payment of my "lost" ad which appeared in two of your papers on Jan. 26.

"Since the boot I lost was the mate to one I had, and since the cost of advertising was less than the price of a new pair of [illegible] (by several dollars), and since I have two [illegible] boot was of no value to me. I invested in an ad, never really believing I'd recover my lost footwear."

"Much to my surprise, Friday evening I received a phone call. The gentleman on the other end of the line informed me my boot was on top of the mail box in front of Gray's Drug Store at the Great Western Shopping Center. I rushed over . . . . and happily took possession of my boot."

Religion Week Being Observed

At the request of Comrade-Whitehall Post 490 of the American Legion, Whitehall Mayor Walter B. Moling, has proclaimed this week "Religious Emphasis Week."

The proclamation calls upon all individuals of the community, not only to observe the week, but also in the weeks to follow.

NEW SCHOOLS TO GET NAMES

Lunch Costs Down, Adult Education Up

A couple of "pleasing reports" emanated from the Whitehall School Board meeting this week — one dealing with economics, the other with education.

Superintendent Robert Crabbs has revealed that for the second straight year the lunch program costs will be reduced a nickel, and that enrollment in the night time adult program is "at a new high."

In the elementary schools, grades one through seven, lunch costs were reduced from 30 to 25 cents. In the high school, lunches will cost 30 cents instead of 35. The new prices are effective as of Mar. 1, Crabbs said.

The reason for the move, Crabbs said, is that the school lunch program is operated on a non-profit basis and a balance now exists to make the lunch cost lower.

According to Crabbs, he is "quite pleased," with the more than 350 adult students that are taking advantage of the night sessions. The program, he explained, is also "self-supporting."

The board is also looking into the possibility of changing the time of baccalaureate service.

In the past, the religious program has taken place during the heat of the day in the afternoon. "Also," Crabbs said, "it may be too much of a rush for those going to church to run home, finish dinner, then be at the school by 2 p.m."

No new time has yet been set, but the board is going to discuss the possibility of changing the start of the service until the evening They will solicit opinions from the Whitehall Ministerial Association, Crabbs said

It also will not be too long

AT WHITEHALL HIGH—A COOK OR TWO

INGREDIENTS for an educational success: Take a hearty broth of Whitehall High lads, add French chef aprons and caps, put in a dash of spice via instruction by Mrs. Norma Osborne, and eureka! Some day you will have a certified outdoor bar-be-quer. Sample comments by the boys: "A man should know how to cook." "I'm going to be a chef." "I want to learn because I'm always hungry." So far, the boys have delved into pastries. Later they will learn how to prepare a full course dinner. They also learn the basic principles of nutrition. Above, the boys can be seen making hash out of the old proverb about "Too many cooks." At right, is the answer to the photo on the front page—"The Egg and Us" starring Bob Sherman, Chipps Moling and Gary Rudolph.

Asher Moser

The Boston Store in the Town and Country Shopping Center is in the process of an extensive remodeling program

Asher Moser, manager of the store, announced that the purpose of the program is to enlarge, relocate and redecorate various departments throughout the store. One of the major changes in this program will be a complete family shoe department which will be located on the first floor.

The plans also include a larger lamp department, a larger drapery department, as well as many improvements in layout, display and shopping conveniences in all fashion departments.

Janice Green Crowned Sweetheart Of Whitehall

Glowing with excitement as the sparkling crown was being placed on her head, Janice Green was crowned the first Sweetheart of Whitehall High on Feb. 10, after the Whitehall-Arlington basketball game.

Honored as attendants were Becky Roberts, senior; Linda Blair, junior; Sylvia Orr, sophomore, and Joan Denick freshman.

Their escorts were Gary Wyant, Tom Foster, Bob Densham, Pete Klein and Mike Schmidt, respectively.

The dance, a sock hop, was sponsored by the Student Council. Dean Lewis was the master of ceremonies. The council promises to make the coronation an annual event.

Jerry Fedderson, state chairman of the Amateur Athletic Union, was the guest speaker for the Girls' Athletic Association meeting Feb. 8.

He showed a film taken in August of the Girls' Junior Olympics. Linda Blair was the only girl participating from Whitehall. Fedderson also discussed the possibility of getting a recreation center nearer to the Whitehall area.

The junior class met Monday, Feb. 6, to discuss money-making projects and plans for the prom which will be held on Friday, June 2.

The theme was decided upon by the juniors during homeroom period Thursday, Feb. 9, but it will not be announced until a later date.

The senior class ordered its announcements on Feb. 3. The officers and the class advisor met to appoint committees for later activities. Chairmen of the committees are Lynda Nelson, Lynda Jordan and Barbara Bojanowski.

Wesley Orr, the only contestant from Whitehall in the Young Musicians Symphony Competition held at Capital University Feb. 4, received a "first" rating for his cornet solo before the district's newest schools, Beechwood, Rosemore, Ulma Road and Whitehall-Yearling, get name signs.

Crabbs stated that at the time the schools were erected, finances were at "rock bottom," and the signs could not be provided.

The board also dedicated a 10-foot right-of-way to the city to provide for a walk between Beechwood Elementary and English Village. Crabbs said that a property owner, Todd Tibbals, also will donate a tract to the city in conjunction with the move.

Along other economic lines, Crabbs reported that the high school activity fund contains a balance of $7266.67. Also $256 will be spent to purchase drapes for the East Main Street School cafeteria in order to use the room for the audio-visual program.

McAllister did not want the improvements, and thus amended the ordinance. The city, according to Service Committee Chairman Loren Mason, would also take care of the costs of intersections.

A non-conforming use permit was given to the Key 53 Motel for the use of the rear lot along 4444 E. Main-st. The Planning and Zoning Commission previously refused the application.

A bill authorizing one and one-fourth days per month sick leave for firefighters and police were turned over to the safety committee. The reason: a phrase in the "injury leave" portion of the measure stipulated that the law applied to those in "uniformed ranks." Council determined, under further study to find out what the two words "implied or excluded."

Another financial item, that of setting salaries for elected city officials was approved. The schedule: mayor, $8,000; treasurer, $1,800; auditor, $2,000; solicitor, $7,500; councilmen and president, $1,200.

World Prayer Program Set For East Side

Women's organizations from six East Side Churches will hold a joint observance of the 75th annual World Day of Prayer at Eastminster Presbyterian Church on Friday, Feb. 17.

Participating will be Bexley Methodist, Christ Lutheran, St. Albans Episcopal, Brookwood Presbyterian, Fairmoor United Presbyterian and Eastminster Presbyterian churches with the program starting at 1:30 p.m.

A dramatic presentation, "With Tomorrow Yet To Come" by James Milton Buell, will be a feature of the anniversary observance with a cast composed of ladies from the Brookwood church.

Baby sitters will be present to care for pre-school youngsters during the service.

Millions of women in 145 nations throughout the world will participate in this World Day of Prayer anniversary program.

Cookie Sale Is Slated By Area Girl Scouts

Girl Scout cookie time is here again. Mark Friday, Feb. 17 through Monday, Feb. 27, on your calendar, for a scout will be calling at your home in the Eastern area, taking advance orders.

Delivery of the cookies will be made about Apr. 7, and payment will be collected then.

District Chairman for the drive will be Mrs. Thomas Seckel, 2614 Berwick-blvd. Assisting her will be Mrs. Earl T. Sheets, 2783 Dover-rd, Mrs. Larry Hubbell, 605 Napoleon, Mrs. J. Caldwell, 876 S. Chesterfield, and Mrs. Lawrence Poteet, 3708 Doney.

Profits from the cookie sale support the Girl Scout Camping Program.

At present the Ohio Trefoil Council maintains five camping sites providing camping opportunities to over 13,000 Girl Scouts and Brownies in Delaware, Fayette, Franklin, Madison, Pickaway and Union Counties.

Although the United Fund Drive supports the general expense of the Girl Scout program, the funds allotted only partially fill the needs and profits from the annual cookie sale make the camping program possible.

Cookies are 50 cents per box and come in four varieties—regular four-flavored sandwich cremes, chocolate mints, scot teas and Savannahs, peanut butter sandwich cookies.

BROADMOOR MARKET HOLDS GRAND OPENING CELEBRATION

100 Baskets Of Groceries To Be Awarded During Opening

The Grand Opening Celebration which started yesterday will continue through Saturday, Feb. 18, according to Joe Lombardo, owner of the Broadmoor Cardinal E-Z Chek Market, 3521 E. Broad-st. The store, now in its 15th year, recently occupied the new 70'x60' building with over 3000 sq. ft. of sales and display area.

Said Lombardo, "We are happy to invite the residents of this community to come in and see our new store, built with the customer's shopping convenience in mind." From the time the customer parks in the lot west of the store until she checks out and leaves through the automatic opening doors, the new store includes all the newest features of super-market engineering to make shopping quick, easy and pleasant. Wide aisles between rows of clearly displayed, easy-to-reach merchandise, for example, eliminates "traffic jam" shopping. The new refrigerated meat, dairy, produce and frozen food cases keep foods fresh and tasty. The lighting and color scheme combine for easy selection of the shopper.

"Low prices of the highest quality foods is possible by our affiliation with the Cardinal E-Z Chek system," said Lombardo. "With combined power and careful planning, shoppers can buy everything on the grocery list as economically as market prices permit."

A feature of the celebration will be the awarding of 100 baskets of groceries. Special grand opening prices in the Advertisement will be in effect through Saturday, Feb. 18.

This view of the frozen food and meat section at the Broadmoor Market shows the increased sales and display space in the new, enlarged store. Joe Lombardo today announced an added attraction to the opening celebration. All adults who stop in before 8 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 18, can register for the Philco TV set to be awarded at that time.

Many Plans, Many Hands Helped To Complete New, Larger Building

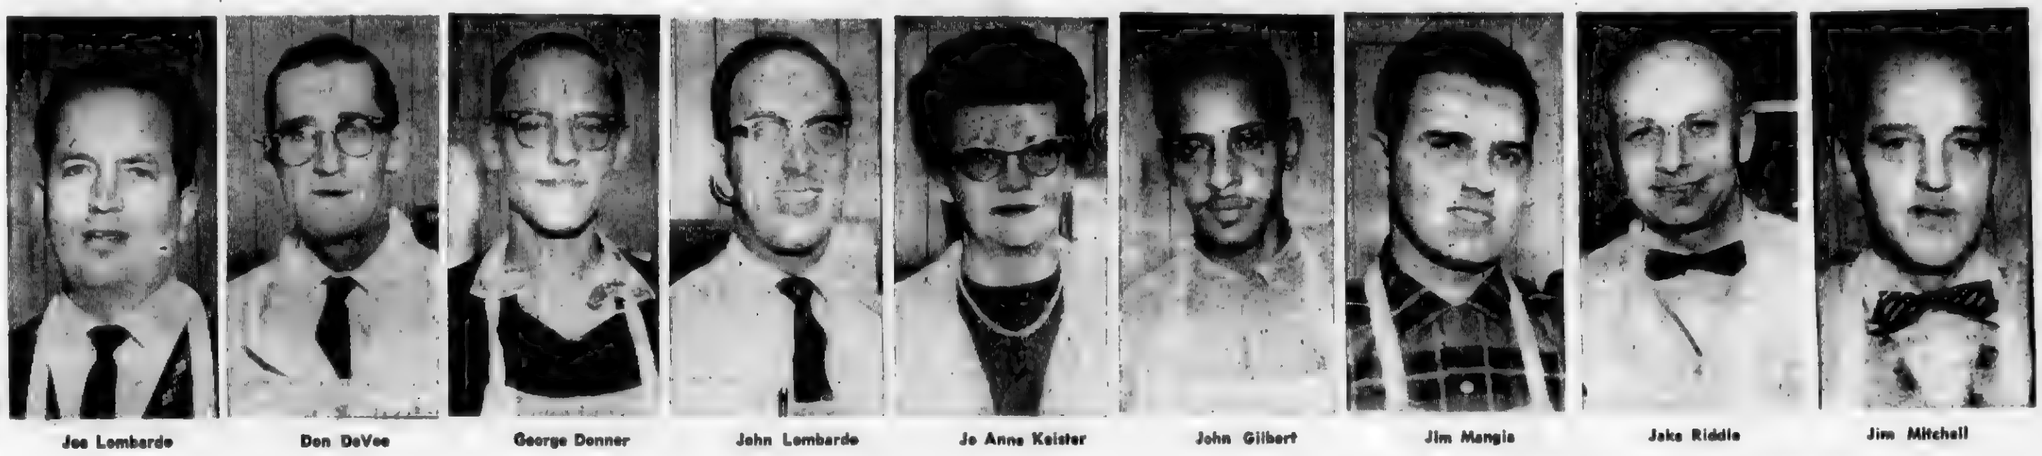
Building contractor JOHN J. MASCARI, 2736 Brownlee-rd planned and erected the new concrete-block building, designed to give adequate warehouse, display and sales area, and planned to make the best possible use of the existing space for the store and parking lot.

The completed building reflects his more than 15 years experience as a builder and contractor. The firm builds new homes, commercial buildings and is active in home remodeling.

WILLIAM REISER, 533 S. Weyant-av installed the electrical work and fixtures. As a grocery store uses electricity not only for lighting but for power in refrigeration and to run equipment, the installation was designed to be adequate and as trouble-free as possible. This is the two-fold purpose on every job, large or small, done by the Reiser Co.

Heating is important not only for the comfort and health of customers and employees, but to maintain the proper temperature for food and other merchandise.

The heating plant installed by COMFORT AIR INC., 865 E. Livingston-av, was selected to meet these needs. Comfort Air can assist the builder and home owner to choose heating equipment to meet any need.



The strength and durability of cement floors and sidewalks is incorporated in the Broadmoor building. ROSSETTI CEMENT CONTRACTORS, active in Central Ohio for the past 10 years, made the installation. The company does cement work for commercial and residential builders, and includes footers, porches, sidewalks, patios and floors in its services.

Plumbing and plumbing fixtures while not visible, are important in planning a new building, as a constant supply of hot and cold water is necessary to the operation of a business. Copper water lines and Eljer fixtures were installed by the ACE PLUMBING CO. 1564 Parsons-av, to meet these requirements.

The B and A. PAINT CO. 33 E. Long-st, supplied the interior paints. The colors were selected to compliment the beauty of the interior and enchance the over-all pleasant atmosphere. B and A paint was chosen also with durability in mind. The B and A Paint Co. is always glad to assist painting contractors and home owners with any painting problem and to assist in the selection of color schemes.

Koldflo refrigerated display was installed by McCRAY REFRIGERATION, 642 N. High-st. Engineered for the display of produce, meats, dairy products and the increasingly popular frozen foods, Koldflo cases maintain the proper temperature to keep foods fresh and flavorful, while giving the maximum display space, and eye-appeal. The McCray Co., also helped plan the size and location of the cases, for easy shopping.

Pride in materials and workmanship is reflected in the lumber and millwork furnished by the EAST SIDE LUMBER CO., a Doddington Yard, 1927 E. Main-st. During its 55 years on the east side. The company has continually tried to live up to a reputation for service, integrity and quality of products. In addition to lumber, millwork, building materials, hardware and related supplies, a service to aid in remodeling a room or the entire house is available.

Bexley High School LION'S ROAR

By Ellen Drum

Heavy snows prevented the Bexley Debate Team from traveling to Heidelberg College for the Annual Invitational Debate Tournament Feb. 3.

Instead, schools from the Columbus area came to Bexley for an impromptu debate Saturday.

Bexley's team, consisting of Betsy Brust, Mary Jane Chittenden, Andy Tsitouris, and Mike Friedman won debates against Mifflin, Columbus School for Girls, and Worthington.

The debaters were judged by parents, teachers, and advanced students from Mifflin.

Bexley also claims some winners in the American Legion Essay Contest. They are Hannah Halley, Theodore Hubbard, Marcia Levisson, Irv Godofsky, Judy Seff, Bill Thomas, and Mike Friedman.

TB Press Project winners are Joyce Friedman, second; and Ellen Drum, fifth.

Senior candidates Barbara Volosin and Bob Hill were elected King and Queen of Hearts at the Annual Valentine Dance.

Each class selected two candidates for this honor.

They were Sue Lieberman and Bob Hepps, juniors; Marcia Levisson and Jim Hoyer, sopho- Mrs. Niekirk is a graduate o Taylor, freshmen.

A new teacher has taken her place on Bexley's teaching staff. She is Mrs. Sara Niekirk and replaces Miss Sara Carty, freshman English teacher, who resigned because of ill health. Mrs. Niekirk is a graduate of Gettysburg College where she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

'Probe' Presents 'Skyrocket'; ABC Replacing 'Islanders'

By Stan Robinson

Columbus' fast growing population, which has jumped over 25 per cent since 1950, is the subject this Saturday night at 10 on Channel 4's "Probe," an outstanding public affairs program. The telecast narrated by Hugh De Moss will touch upon housing problems of the many new residents arriving daily in Columbus. The problems of the low income families and current slum clearance projects are reviewed. Virginia Seaman wrote this particular program for the "Probe" series which is presented every third Saturday on Channel 4 by Nationwide Insurance Co.

"Asphalt Jungle," ABC-TV's new full-hour action series starring Jack Warden as Matthew Gower, deputy police commissioner in charge of field operations in a "large American City," makes its debut on Sunday, Apr. 2, in the time slot now occupied by "The Islanders." Channel 6 currently is the Columbus channel presenting "The Islanders" on Sunday nights. Famed musician, Duke Ellington, has written the theme for the new show.
